A Note from Rick: Markets were steady to stronger this week at TLA. This came as a bit of a surprise to me, following stronger markets the prior week due to weather. The next couple of weeks will still be tested, in my opinion, and let's hope we can maintain the better market of late. Slaughter Cattle were the highlight for sure this week. We had a couple sets of good, colored steers and they sold very, very well. Holstein steers followed suit, with prices as strong as they have been for quite some time. Butcher cows held strong with previous weeks. The Dairy cattle market was tested as well. We had close to 60 dairy cows and they sold pretty good considering. We are definitely in the busy time of year for the hay auction. There seems to be a pretty good sized amount of hay out there and prices are pretty steady in the $140-$225 range, depending on quality. We are looking forward to the Special Springer Sale next week, followed by the Mid-Winter Stallion Presentation and Horse Pull on Saturday. Hope to see you at TLA!
