

Motivation

Creating a Productive Environment

Managers constantly strive to do more with less. In order to be successful, managers must learn to create a productive environment. This environment must encourage employees to be their best. Participants will learn to distinguish between poor performance that is caused by lack of motivation and poor performance that is caused by other factors. Strategies for addressing poor performance will be explored.