"Music is the universal language no matter where we come from; even when there are no common words, the expression of music touches the heart."

WHAT AM I READING

Good morning all. Today my heart goes out to all of you who suffer from seasonal allergies. My past two weeks have been a trial, to say the least. Hang in there, folks.

Let's get to the books that we have been reading. White Fang by Jack London was the topic of book club this past month. It was originally presented as a companion piece to his Call of the Wild. One the story of a wolf/dog eventually tamed through the love of one who will become his last owner; the other a tame dog who answers his own "call of the wild." I vaguely remember reading them together in high school. Some of our readers chose not to get into the dog story; I admit, the books are a "bit" rough at times – after all they are set in the days of gold in the Klondike. A different kind of addition to our list.

Demon Copperhead by Barbara Kingsolver was the choice of the HBG book club (stands for the Hurley Burley Girls...a reference to the war in Macbeth...oh, never mind! :-)). This group is made up of one from Defiance, another from Toledo, an Oregonian on ZOOM, and me. Anyway, Kingsolver decides to take the social problems that Charles Dickens rails against in David Copperfield, rewrite them into the 1990's eastern Virginia Appalachia and address the ills of "modern" society. The foster care program and rescription opioids seem to be the two big topics. Each character is a rewrite of a main character in the original novel by Dickens. Much could be said about the "why" here – it seems like much work to do an updated version of a book, to imitate the original. My jury is still out on this read. I do know it won the 2023 Pulitzer Prize for 2023, sharing the award with Trust, a book I have not yet read.

HBG is reading The Four Winds for this month by Kristin Hannah. It is not a typical writing from this author. I may have already mentioned in the past newsletter that this novel addresses the great Dust Bowl of the thirties. It is a tough story.

Just finished last night, Louise Penny's latest, A World of Curiosities. I thoroughly enjoy her mysteries. After 20 books, we know the residents of Three Pines so well. One should always be suspicious of any new person who moves in!!!!!!!

Our daughter Rachael recommended She Who Became the Sun by Shirley Parker-Chan. The only problem I have when she recommends a book to me? I spend much of my reading time wondering what exactly did she like about this book that she wants me to read it as well. It is labeled fantasy, is set in the 1300's of Mongolian China. A young lady sees her brother, whose fortune had recently claimed he would find greatness in his life, murdered by marauders. SHE takes up his name and his fortune and follows his fate. She becomes a great leader of armies. Have not talked with Rachael yet about it; I will keep you posted.

Until next month, God bless and keep reading. As ever, Kathy

Altar Flowers

Ministry Opportunity

The 2023 Flower Chart is up in the hallway, across from the church office. There are many Sundays that still need flowers to brighten not only the altar, but also, either your home or the home of a shut-in. Please consider this ministry as a way to share God's love for His people.

LOVE MUSIC? LOVE TO SING? LOVE TO PLAY?

Soloists, Quartets, Ensembles! Are all invited to share their talents at worship. If you are interested in providing special music for our 9:30 summer services, please contact Jane Eakin at JaneAEakin@me.com. There are a lot of Sundays available between June 18th and September 3rd.

STEWARDSHIP

Heart

Work!

Denise and I have been members at FLC for over 20 years. When we moved to Findlay we visited other churches but really felt welcome here. Something that really hit home was a visit the afternoon after our first Sunday by members. We have loved being a part of this family, and singing in the choir, and community dinners are very important to us. We have loved our pastors and families, who guided us in our quest to move one step closer to God. We are very excited about the arrival of our new shepherd. We continue to praise the Lord for all His many gifts.

—Phil Burson

While I was away from my home church family and friends I would get monthly calls from Jane Eakin to see how I was doing. She kept me updated on what was happening here at First Lutheran. I was gone for ten months and really missed my church and singing in the choir. Her monthly calls lifted my spirits and made me feel like I was missed being there.

Heartwarming stories of ministry through your generous stewardship!

Recently I had the pleasure of attending the worship service at First Lutheran. As I entered the sanctuary I was welcomed by a greeter and found the worship area to be very warm and inviting. People all around me were smiling and offering kind words of welcome. I instantly had a sense of acceptance and peace. During the worship service I observed people share great involvement in prayer and praise to the Lord. I also was honored to be a part of the congregational meeting to witness the voting of a new Pastor. Congratulations and blessings to all at First Lutheran for the beginning of a new chapter in your church history with Pastor Timothy Tucker O'Leary. Thank you for making me feel so welcome.

Imagining Renewal Microgrants

Making Disciples: Jacinda Jones

Jacinda Jones of Trinity, Arcadia, was a student in Pastor Will Stenke's Diakonia class on Proclamation when she began to dream of a way to engage her community in a new way. For her final project, Jacinda was tasked with identifying the unique gifts and needs of her neighborhood and how she might use those elements to engage her neighbors. She imagined what it would look like to nurture a new community beyond the walls of her church, an exercise that Jacinda said, "helped me see my vision" for ministry "in a different way".

Jacinda and her family are regulars at a local seasonal campground in Van Buren, OH, participating in the close-knit community that springs up every summer as folks set up their campers and return to relax together on the weekends. She realized that on Saturday mornings, there is a window of time before the pool opens that the kids of the campground typically get restless. Jacinda developed intentional programming to fill the 30 minutes; a bible story time, followed by a related craft and snack. After presenting the plan for her final project, Jacinda applied and was awarded a 2021 Imagining Renewal Microgrant to begin the weekly activities, which she dreamed could be a "stepping-stone for building community at the campground". She developed 12 weeks of programming around bible stories from the Old Testament through the resurrection, and sometimes up to twelve kids, from preschool age up to pre-teen, would join her, eager for something fun to do before the pool opened. It was a unique time for the kids to "cut loose and have fun before they ran off for the day". After the 12 weeks of programming, when students had gone back to school, Jacinda got a call letting her know that several kids in the campground had still shown up on Saturday morning, looking forward to a bible story and activities.

Jacinda has hopes to further nurture and expand this outreach into "a vacation bible school... or weekly bible study for the parents" next year. Jacinda is excited to continue imagining what the Holy Spirit might be up to in her community! She is a member of the second cohort of the Innovator Learning Academy, and was recently admitted to Wartburg Seminary as a candidate for Word and Sacrament.

What are Microgrants? Microgrants funding are made possible through generous donors just like you. So far these gifts have made $60,000 available for supporting innovative projects. We pray that this generosity will seed further generosity from those who value this ministry and have experienced its impact on their community. Each awardee organization will be asked to prayerfully consider how in the future they may aspire to join in this generosity and give back to the Imagining Renewal Fund. Microgrant recipients are asked to aspire to give back at least 10% of the grant monies awarded in the year following the completion of their proposed project.

Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly; teach and admonish one another in all wisdom; and with gratitude in your hearts sing psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs to God .
- Colossians 3:16
