To Whom It May Concern:

Tavaro Hanna is currently enrolled at the Memphis School of Preaching in Memphis, Tennessee and is scheduled to complete his ministry training in January. He and his family are eager to return to the Bahamas so they can share the good news of life in Christ in their home country. In fact, their goal is to spread the gospel throughout the Eight Mile Rock community on Grand Bahama Island as domestic missionaries. He and his wife, Shameika, are fearless soul-winners and they have a proven track record of teaching the lost and baptizing them into Christ. If your congregation is looking to invest in a family that is eager to serve God's kingdom in their home country, then I want to recommend the Hanna's as deserving and qualified candidates. Thank you, in advance, for any assistance you can offer to help make their mission dream become a reality.

Yours in Christ,
