Summer: Growing Heat Tolerant Plants

Norene Gideon moved to Florida from Ohio in 2000 and became a Master Gardener in 2001. She has an interest in anything that grows but mostly flowers, vegetables, herbs, perennials and native plants. She finds speaking to groups and giving University of Florida research based information very rewarding. Again, this is a very timely subject which will help members start on their summer gardens. Be sure to attend this informative presentation.
