

FAQ: Why did AVHCWD Water implement increasing block rates?

The AVHCWD supports increasing block rates, also called tiered or conservation rates, because they provide an incentive for customers to conserve water. They do not change the overall amount collected by AVHCWD, but high-water-using customers will pay more, and low-water-using customers will pay less.