"Carrying the Word to the World"

Testimony

Myrna Gregory - Athens, Greece 2004

God provided some awesome opportunities to share today. The first came on Mars Hill. We actually climbed to the top, not only for the view, but more importantly praying for divine appointments to come our way. As I waited at the top I saw a young lady making her way carefully up the slippery rocks and I offered a hand to her to help her make it to the top. I took her picture with the Acropolis in the background and then we began to talk. As I shared with this college student from Holland, I could feel the spiritual battle. She listened intently and asked many questions, but when it came time to actually pray to receive Christ, she hesitated saying that she needed to think about it some more. As I gave her the pin and the tract explaining the plan of salvation, I asked to please seriously think about our conversation. I have not doubt that she was under conviction. I am asking you to pray for her. God knows her name. Pray that she will pick up the pin and tract again and God will reveal Himself to her.
