Darton Fine Archery Equipment

DARTON Armguards and Gloves

THIS IS DARTON

As you who sell and use DARTON Archery Equipment know best of all, Archery is not only a hobby and a sport—but a science and an art as well. Great traditions of Archery reach back into time farther than man's recorded history, yet those rich and colorful traditions are living, growing, developing every day—as the pleasure, the excitement, and the accomplishment of Archery stir the imaginations of more and more people.

DARTON Archery Equipment is created with full respect for the great traditions of Archery—and with equal respect for the American concept that progress is the continuous search for the better way. Enthusiastic and increasing acceptance of DARTON Archery Equipment is the most convincing evidence of the degree of our success in finding that better way.

We take deep satisfaction and pride in every item of Archery Equipment we make. Our customers know that the DARTON name stands for the ultimate of integrity and quality—in materials, in workmanship, and in styling. To make certain that DARTON will continue to mean the absolute best in Archery Equipment in the future, as in the past and present, we conduct constant research for ever better materials, better design, and better manufacturing techniques. Our advisors in this continuing endeavor include: buyers for archery, sporting goods, and department stores; amateur and professional archers; leather guildsmen and craftsmen; recreation and crafts instructors; directors and members of archery and bow-hunting associations.

The DARTON Archery Equipment pictured here reflects the experience, knowledge, and opinions of such experts—added to our own constant research. DARTON Archery Equipment is designed to be—and IS—the choice of those who most respect and enjoy Archery in its fullest perfection as a hobby, a sport, a science, and an art. Every DARTON item is made to give pride and satisfaction to the wearer, the seller, and the manufacturer. The wide approval given DARTON Archery Equipment by the most accomplished archers gives substance to the DARTON motto:
