Blue Lake Walk To Emmaus #45, Table of Mark.

The two questions on the podium at closing are:

1. What have these 3 days meant to me?
2. What do I plan to do with it?

One of my many jobs in college was selling shoes at a woman's shoe store. There was one particularly good week that I had. I made a lot of money and made the store a lot of money. The next week I was in the back relaxing and the manager came up to me and chewed me out for piddling around. I remind him of how much money I had made for the store the previous week. His reply was "Yeah, but what have you done for me lately?"

When I first got back from my Walk, I was spreading the joy and love that I had received to all my family, friends and relatives. I was just busting out with all this love that I had. (The funny thing about love is the more you give away the more you get back). I was doing the work of the Lord with no complaints. But as the Fourth Days have added up, I have slipped back into some of my old habits and ways. I still do some of the Men stuff but sometimes for the wrong reasons. At times I complain and ~~gripe~~ gripe, gripe and groan about life I have been dealt. I will think back on all the good stuff I have done and wonder where my reward is... Then the Spirit nudges me and says, "Yeah, but what have you done for me lately?"

Do you remember what you said when you were standing at that podium at closing? The promises you made, the things you were going to do. Have you 'back slid' any? Ask yourself, "What have I done for Him lately?"

New Year, New Look

This second edition of the 2005 The Fourth Day newsletter has a whole new look. This change in format will save our volunteers time and resources, but we have had to cut back on some of the information presented to fit the smaller paper size.

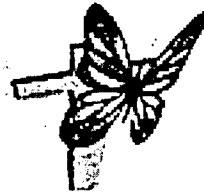

As always, you can find more information about the upcoming Walks and the Central Alabama Emmaus Community by going to www.caew.org.

Please let us know your comments about these changes by sending an email to info@caew.org or by calling Dorann Frazer. Thanks for being a part of the Central Alabama Emmaus community and we'll see you at upcoming walks this year. De Colores!
