

Jim and Jill Cook are both Colorado natives who have been involved with horses their whole lives.

Jim is an accomplished Veterinarian who had a practice in Lafayette, Colorado for 25 years. He sold the practice in 1999 and started his "new career" training horses.

Jill is an alum of Lamar Community College's horse training program and started her own training business in 1995.

Jim and Jill were part of the founding members of the Colorado Reined Cowhorse Association. They really respect and enjoy the working cow horse event. They consider themselves works in progress and enjoy helping others improve their horsemanship and showmanship. They are looking forward to many more years in the saddle.
