Veterans Who Moved to Rocky Hill after the War .....	335

Forward

April 6, 2017 marks the 100th anniversary of the United States' entry into World War I. This publication provides services records of veterans from Rocky Hill who served in that war. This project was a joint effort of The Rocky Hill Historical Society and the Cora J. Belden Library.

Thanks to Mary Hogan and Lindsey Riordan of the Cora J. Belden Library for their contributions and to Wendell Coogan who worked with Mary to get this project started. Thanks also to the people at the Rocky Hill Historical Society who contributed to this effort: Ed Chiucarello, John and Midge Sword, John Serra, Maureen Mullen, and Mike Martino.

The project started with the names on "The Rock", the monument to World War I on the Green at the intersection of Dividend Road and Main Street. It progressed to the stories of some very interesting people; people not unlike the people living in Rocky Hill today. Studying the record they left behind brought many of them back to life for me and meeting some of their descendants turned them into something akin to friends. Special thanks to George & Carol Aliprandi, Peg DesRoberts, Ralph Hick, Christine Smith Moore, Scott Smith, and Joan Tennyson, descendants of World War I veterans, for their contributions.

Who Is a Rocky Hill Veteran?

We've used the following criteria to define who is a Rocky Hill veteran:

- The veteran's name is on the Dividend Green Memorial,
- The veteran's name is included in the Service Records: Connecticut Men and Women in the Armed Forces of the United States during World War, 1917-1920. and identified with Rocky Hill,
- The veteran was born in Rocky Hill,
- The veteran lived in Rocky Hill when registered for draft,
- The veteran lived in Rocky Hill when inducted or enlisted,
- The veteran worked in Rocky Hill during the war.

Veterans who moved to Rocky Hill after the War pose a special problem. There are few sources available to identify all of these people. We have created a separate section in this document based primarily on honorable discharge papers submitted to the Town Clerk and American Legion records, to recognize these people. As we discover new people, we add them.

Veterans who died in the State Veteran's Home but who have no other connection to Rocky Hill are not included as this would be misleading and make the list prohibitively long.

We offer apologies to descendants and admirers of veterans who were not included because we didn't discover them in the course of this project.

Documents Which Describe Veterans

Service records for each veteran are included below. In addition, there is a supporting documents describing each veteran:

Connecticut Military Census, April 16, 1917

The U.S. entered the war on April 6, 1917. The Connecticut "Military Census" was taken in 1917 at the direction of the General Assembly with an eye to assessing manpower available for war and other resources in the state. The census included an eclectic set of questions ranging from citizenship status to whether the respondent could handle a power boat. The questionnaires were filled out by men ages 16 and over. A secondary purpose of this census was to identify threats to national security.

WWI Draft Registration Cards

At several draft events, the Selective Service required all men born between 1872 and September 1900 who were not in active military service by June 1917 to register for the draft. They filled out cards which provided personal information including: name, age, residence, citizenship status, occupation, dependents, marital status, prior military experience, exemption requests, and physical appearance, and disabilities. These cards were used by the draft board to select candidates for induction. The Board's decisions were appealable but the inductee had to make a compelling case to be exempted.

Honorable Discharge from the United States Army Forms

This is a document that chronicles a veteran's military service and is the official document that must be presented to prove military service and make a veteran eligible for benefits.

"The Old Man's Draft"

After the United States entered World War II, a new Selective Service Act required that all men between the ages of 18 and 64 register for the draft. The Old Man's Registration, was held on April 27, 1942. The purpose of this registration was to collect information on the industrial capacity and skills of men who were born between April 27, 1877 and February 16, 1897 (ages 45 to 64). It was not intended that these men be drafted into military service but to determine if their labor skills could be used in the war effort. The registration would provide a complete inventory of manpower resources in the United States. The men had to fill out an extensive questionnaire, but unfortunately, the questionnaires have not survived.

These document provides information on the post-war experience of World War I veterans.

Military Service Records

These are timelines which capture a chronology of the important events in each veteran's military experience.

Oral Histories and other Documents Unique to the Veteran.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

What was your attitude toward military service in general and toward your call in particular?

very favorable, considering the enormous task of developing such a vast army

What were the effects of camp experiences in the United States upon yourself — mental and physical?

excellent and very valuable

What were the effects upon yourself of your overseas experience, either in the army or navy or in camp in France, England or elsewhere?

If you took part in the fighting, what impressions were made upon you by this experience?

What has been the effect of all these experiences as contrasted with your state of mind before the war?

none other than knowledge gained

Photographs — If possible enclose one taken before entering the service and one taken afterwards in uniform, both signed and dated.

Order of Induction into Military Service of the United States.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

To Dennis J. Hayes,
(Christian name.) (Surname.)

Order Number 3838 Serial Number 85

Greeting: Having submitted yourself to a local board composed of your neighbors for the purpose of determining the place and time in which you can best serve the United States in the present emergency, you are hereby notified that you have now been selected for immediate military service.

*You will, therefore, report to the local board named below at Wells Hall, East Hartford, Conn., at 2 P. m., (Place of reporting.) (Hour of reporting.)
on the 26th day of August, 1918, for military duty.*

From and after the day and hour just named you will be a soldier in the military service of the United States.

Emil L. Hoehenthal

Chairman Division 1, Hartford County,
Member of Local Board for Wells Hall, East Hartford, Conn.

Report to Local Board for _____

Division 1, Hartford County,
Wells Hall, East Hartford, Conn.

Date Aug. 23, 1918.

Form 1028. P. M. G. O. (See Sec. 157, S. S. R.)

1-6113

To be inclosed with each order into military service (Form 1028) sent to a selected man.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO ALL MEN SELECTED FOR MILITARY SERVICE AND ORDERED TO REPORT TO A LOCAL BOARD FOR MILITARY DUTY.

The day and hour specified on the Classification List of this Local Board, and on the order and notice of induction into military service which accompanies this notice for you to report to this Local Board for military duty is the time that marks your actual obligation as a soldier of the United States.

Failure to report promptly at the hour and on the day named is a grave military offense for which you may be court-martialed. Willful failure to report with an intent to evade military service constitutes desertion from the Army of the United States, which, in time of war, is a capital offense.

Upon reporting to your Local Board, you will not need, and you should not bring with you, anything except hand baggage. You will not be permitted to take trunks or boxes with you on the train. You should take only the following articles: A pair of strong comfortable shoes to relieve your feet from your new regulation marching shoes; not to exceed four extra suits of underclothing; not to exceed six extra pairs of socks; four face and two bath towels; a comb, a brush, a toothbrush, soap, tooth powder, razor, and shaving soap. It will add to your comfort to bring one woolen blanket, preferably of dark or neutral color. This blanket should be tightly rolled, the ends of the roll should be securely bound together and the loop of the blanket thus formed slung from your left shoulder to your right hip.

You should wear rough strong clothing and a flannel shirt, preferably an olive-drab shirt of the kind issued to soldiers.

NOTE.—Local Boards may have prepared, in the form of a rubber stamp, and stamp in below or on the back hereof any special instructions such as a direction to request permission to eat and spend the last night at home, as it may desire to give.

Division 1, Hartford County,
Wells Hall, East Hartford, Conn.

(Stamp in designation of Local Board.)

Appeal for Early Discharge

STATE OF CONNECTICUT, ) COUNTY OF HARTFORD, )

I, David Robbins Woodhouse, of the town of Wethersfield, County of Hartford, State of Connecticut, being duly sworn do depose and say as follows:

That I am a practicing attorney in the State of Connecticut, that my home is in Wethersfield; that I am familiar with all the conditions surrounding the home of Dennis Hayes of Wethersfield; that I know it to be absolutely necessary to forestall the loss of their home by foreclosure; that Dennis Hayes, Jr. should be allowed to return home and help his father toward the support of the family or else the house and farm will be lost. I further know from my own knowledge that the family is partially dependent upon Dennis Hayes, Jr. for their support; that it is necessary for their proper support that he should return this winter and help, not only in the care of the stock of the farm and other operations of the farm, but he should also return home to help cut wood, the sale of which will enable the family to meet certain payments due on a mortgage. I further know from my own personal knowledge that the mother is at the present time suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia; that there are three children, all under the ages of ten years and there is one boy who is an imbecile; there are two girls who are unable to do practically nothing towards the support of the family. I further believe that an immediate discharge of this boy from the services of the Government will work great benefit to the family and will save them untold hardship.

Veendijk (Id. No. 2515), a steamer constructed in 1914 by the Sunderland Shipbuilding Co. at Sunderland, England, for the Holland-America Steamship Line, was seized by United States customs officials at New York in March of 1918; turned over to the Navy on 28 March 1918; and commissioned at New York on 5 April 1918, Lt. Comdr. William S. P. Keyes, USNRF, in command.

Assigned to the Naval Overseas Transportation Service, she was refitted for naval service at New York before embarking upon her first mission late in April. On the 17th, she departed New York with an Army cargo, bound for France. She arrived in Brest on 13 May but moved to La Pallice the following day. After unloading her cargo, the freighter departed La Pallice on 17 June in convoy for New York. She reached her destination on 2 July and began a repair period. She loaded more cargo and stood out of New York on 13 July, bound for St. Nazaire, France, where she arrived on 30 July. The cargo ship departed France on 21 August and arrived back in New York on 4 September. During the remaining two months of the war, Veendijk made one more round-trip voyage to France and back. Following the armistice in November, she continued to serve the Navy. Between late November 1918 and late June 1919, the ship made another voyage to France and back as well as a round-trip voyage to Montevideo, Uruguay. Upon her return to New York on 25 June 1919, Veendijk began preparations for going out of service. On 2 August 1919, she was placed out of commission at New York. On 21 August, her name was struck from the Navy list, and she was returned to the Holland-America Steamship Line. She resumed mercantile service with the Holland-America line until sometime in 1933, at which point her name disappeared from merchant ship registers.

Biography

Albert Sprague's Hundred Year View of Rocky Hill

My father, Albert William Sprague, was born May 26, 1897 in Portland, Maine, of northern European stock, with some Maine Native American blood thrown in for good measure. I say good measure because by rights, his European ancestry should have produced a fair-skinned, blue eyed, blond haired person, but his hair was dark, his eyes were brown, and he never got sun-burned or had any need for sunglasses. In addition, his temperament was serene, and I can honestly say I never saw him lose his temper nor utter a profanity.

Shortly after he was born, the family moved to Hartford where he and his younger brother, Raymond, attended the Washington Street school. Moving to Rocky Hill soon thereafter, the family bought a house at the present location of the town hall, where his father earned a living as a nurseryman, and also raised pigs. The location became known as Sprague's pig farm. Many of the large trees on Main Street and surrounding streets were planted by Albert's father, and some still stand, despite the ravages of the 1938 hurricane and similar storms. (The late Mrs. Kate Honiss on Pratt Street many years ago pointed out numerous trees on that street purportedly planted by Albert's father, Frank Sprague.)

Children of the early 1900's had to enjoy simple pleasures - my father remembered that rolling a hoop was a favorite pastime of many children. The hoop was the inner steel ring from a discarded wagon wheel. Bicycles were unaffordable for most of Rocky Hill's children. However, baseball and ice hockey were favorite sports for Albert and his friends, just as they remain popular today.

One sport that certainly sounds as if it was more fun then than now was sledding. While today there are few hills left for such activities, in early Rocky Hill, before the Silas Deane Highway was built, my father and mother, as teenagers, would join others in sledding down Elm Street, from the very top of the hill by Gilbert's farm, all the way down to Glastonbury Avenue and ending at, or out on, the frozen river.

The trip back up the hill was often accomplished by hitching a tow from a horse and wagon. Their sleds were "pigstickers", wood sleds with wood runners turned up at the front but without a front crossbar, hence the term "pigsticker". The rider would lie on the sled and steering was accomplished by shifting bodyweight. Some larger families owned a "ripper", a long wood platform sitting a foot or so above the runners, on which half a dozen riders would sit and be steered by the driver who steered two short front runners via a steering wheel or handlebar.

Needless to say, this sport generated numerous stories which were told and retold. One of my mother's favorites was the time she and others were racing down Elm Street.

and as they approached what is now the Silas Deane, two horses pulling a wagon were crossing their paths. Unable to stop, several pigstickers, including my mother's, simply steered between the horses' legs and continued on down to the river.

After grammar school, students fortunate enough to go on to high school attended Middletown High, and most traveled by train from the station at the bottom of Glastonbury Avenue. Albert graduated in 1916 at the top of his class, and soon thereafter entered the army. After the war ended he began his first and only job, at the Aetna Fire Insurance Company, a career that spanned forty five years. He was a charter member of the Rocky Hill volunteer fire department, and having joined the Congregational Church in 1918, he was the oldest member, in length of service, when he died, having been a member for seventy nine years.

In the early 1900's, the Rocky Hill train station was a popular meeting place, as most everyone who worked in Hartford got to work and back by train, and walked from their house to the station. Later on, the trolley also served the town, and the tracks went right past his house. (Incidentally, as a teenager, I worked for Ernie Holmes one summer digging away the earth bank to create the Eastview Terrace entrance from Main Street, and dug into the "trolley graveyard" where junked trolley cars were dismantled and burned.) The trolley became a popular mode of transportation, and both my parents marveled at the speed of these vehicles when they got into the open fields away from Hartford, especially in "the cut" in Griswoldville, where the speed and rocking back and forth was sometimes terrifying.

During this period and continuing into the forties, entertainment revolved around family and friends, bridge clubs and setback clubs were popular and would meet at different member's houses each week.

In this period Albert and his wife Lorelda and I moved into Lorelda's family home at 14 Washington Street to look after Lorelda's father who had become a widower. This house, which still survives, had been a sea captain's house located near the river, and had been moved by oxen to it's present location. Supposedly, the house was placed sideways on the lot since that was simpler than turning it to face the street.

In later years my father and mother traveled extensively until he gave up driving at age eighty eight. He shoveled snow and mowed the lawn like a forty year old into his nineties, and if he hadn't contracted pneumonia three months short of his 100th birthday, he probably would have reached that century mark, and, who knows, he might even have witnessed his third century. Quite an experience!

He believes Mr. Perkins was a World War 1 Navy veteran. He does not know whether Perkins lived in Rocky Hill when he was in World War 1. The interesting thing about Mr. Perkins is that in the years before World War 2 started, Mr. Perkins was recalled by the Navy to go down
