A Note from Rick: Markets continue to be very steady. There has been very little change in any of the markets at TLA in nearly a month. The markets will be tested a little harder as the number of cattle coming to market will increase as we get into fall. Generally the biggest increases come in the slaughter cow market, as well as the feeders or cattle coming off pasture. With the growing season we've had this year feed should be adequate for most of us in this area, which should help the feeder market. It's hard for me to believe we're already talking about Fall and that the silage harvest season is winding down. The warm, dry weather in August definitely helped speed things up and it looks like that's going to continue into corn and bean harvest. Hope you all have a great week. See you at TLA!!
