Andra Constantin is the enamored owner of a quirky 20 year old Holsteiner gelding that has opened her eyes to the differences between animal welfare and the extremist ideology of animal rights. Since 2014 she has been involved in a grass roots effort to support the NYC carriage horse industry in an effort to maintain the horses in a situation that serves as a gold seal standard of urban horse-keeping, despite threats to them stemming from a growing disconnect of activists out of touch with animal husbandry. Andra enjoys time spent bonding with her horse and has recently taken up writing.
