

COMMERCIAL USE FEES
Houdini Collections

The History Museum at the Castle is a private non-profit organization serving the general public. Private individuals and other non-profit users are assessed only basic reproduction charges, while commercial and other non-public users are charged additional use fees to cover staff and other operating costs. All fees are firm and apply equally to subsequent editions. All reproduction and commercial uses of images from the Museum or Sidney H. Radner Collection must be appropriately credited and copies of the product deposited with the Museum.

1. Private individuals, museums, historical agencies, and other non-profit organizations are charged only basic reproduction fees. See "Photographic Reproduction Fees" for details.

2. Books, magazine articles, and works of reference (including subsequent editions) are charged the following commercial use fees in addition to the reproduction fees:

- a. ½ page or less $125.00
- b. Full page $200.00
- c. Cover or jacket $275.00

3. Other commercial media (videos, billboards, films, websites, apps, television, and other digital sources), including use in offices or businesses, are charged the following commercial use fees in addition to the reproduction fees: $500 / image

All other uses of the Museum's images must be negotiated.

Additionally, processing an image (finding, scanning and preparation) includes a Digital Reproduction Fee of $35.00 if the image is not already digitized.
