Deep Thoughts

By Jerry Silvestro

Hi Friends and Neighbors,

I recently sauntered into what I would term “A younger person’s bar” and I surprisingly heard the dulcet tones of ol’ Dino Crocetti crooning in the background, also known by a more familiar handle, Dean Martin. He was quickly followed by a very underrated but always one of my faves, Walden Robert Cassotto, otherwise known as Bobby Darin. It was a pleasant surprise to see these twenty somethings listening to this music.

Anyway, as usual, I started to think about some of the music of the era that I grew up in. Not necessarily the super groups like The Beatles, Stones, Beach Boys and the like, but more those little one hit wonders that seem to stand the test of time and bring a smile (and memories) to ones face.

Often, I hear people criticize the artists of today (sometimes rightfully so) for the lyrics or lack thereof, of their songs, so let’s do a little review here, shall we?

Back in prehistoric times, we had these little things called “Sock Hops” or teen dances, if you will. Usually, a group of fellas all from the same school would play at these affairs. Their playlist usually was pretty limited, say three, maybe four songs played over and over in an unending loop. Darin’s “Mack the Knife” was often one of these songs and who can ever forget the immortal “Sukey Tawdry?” Or the hep cat version of “My Darlin’ Clementine?” “You know she would rouse up, wake all them cons up.” Now that’s writing.

Another melody that was a staple of those bands was a little ditty that is now the official state song of Ohio, sung by the McCoys. “Well, Sloopy I don’t care what your daddy do, ‘cause you know Sloopy girl I’m in love with you.” Yeah Baby!

The next one was an absolute must for any aspiring rock legend of the ‘60’s. Ladies and Gentlemen, I give you the Night Crawlers, “Little Black Egg.” “I won’t let them stretch their necks, to see my little black egg with the little white specks.” Pure Genius.

And then there is this one. Maybe the anthem for high school pop bands of that era. “And now it’s cold outside and the rain is pouring down and the leaves are turning brown, can’t you see?” Yup, Cleveland’s own, The Choir.

But the undisputed king of any self-respecting, thrown together garage band is this song that encapsulates everything that was good, bad and funny about our generation. I would give you the lyrics but I’m not sure I really know them. In fact, I’m not sure The Kingsmen knew them, but I do know this – every time this song comes on the radio, I crank up the volume and wail unintelligibly “Louie, Louie, Oh No…….”

God Bless & Happy Thanksgiving

In ordinary life we hardly realize that we receive a great deal more than we give, and that it is only with gratitude that life becomes rich.

Take the Trivia Challenge

Each month we'll give you a new trivia question. Bring or mail in your entry. The first 10 people to answer correctly will be in the drawing to win a dinner certificate worth $15.00. October's winner: Donna Novak, knew that the actor who co-wrote and starred in Ghostbusters was Dan Aykroyd. Donna has received a dinner certificate worth $15.00.

Approximately how many turkeys are eaten each year on Thanksgiving in the United States?

- 1) 100 million
- 2) 150 million
- 3) 280 million
- 4) 500 million

My Answer: _____

Name: _____

Address: _____

City, State, and Zip: _____

A THANKSGIVING POEM

May your stuffing be tasty.
May your turkey plump.
May your potatoes and gravy
Have nary a lump.
May your yams be delicious
And your pies take the prize,
And may your
Thanksgiving dinner
Stay off your thighs!

You Know you're on technology overload when.....

- You enter a password in the microwave.
- It's been 10 years since you've used a real deck of cards to play solitaire.
- You have an entire page of phone numbers to reach your immediate family members.
- You have a daughter peddling Girl Scout cookies on the Web.
- A week after you buy your new computer, it's been declared obsolete and is being sold at half the price.
- Your excuse for not staying in touch with others is because you don't have their email addresses.
