

Our Response to domestic and international disasters...

Disaster and Humanitarian Services is a faith-based nonprofit organization founded on biblical beliefs and operated on Christian values to service those in need. DHS is a non-governmental organization (“NGO”) that provides response and recovery services following a disaster and/or a humanitarian crisis’ both in U.S. and internationally. We are a team of healthcare providers, social workers, case managers, housing experts, and project managers experienced in long-term recovery efforts. We provide Good Samaritan compassionate care wherever and whenever needed.

Our disaster and humanitarian response services include:

- Rapid mobilization of staff and volunteers
- Disaster site assistance to provide administrative help
- Logistical plan to distribute food, water, and other immediate tangle items
- Project management services to organize recovery efforts
- Faith-based referral services for counseling and other immediate needs

We are there to assist and comfort people in need...

Henderson, Jurisdictional Prelate.

Laurie A. Robinson

Laurie A. Robinson, MBA, is the majority shareholder and managing principal for the Project and Vendor Management Advisors, LLC (PVMA) located in Houston, Texas.

Ms. Robinson has over twenty-two years of large-scale program and project management, regulatory compliance, internal audit, government affairs and policy experience in the healthcare, housing, and disaster management and recovery industries. Her experience comes from holding positions at the Office of Inspector General for the Department of Health and Human Services, Ernst & Young's National Health Science Advisory Services Practice, Prudential Insurance Company of America, and two other accounting and consulting firms.

Since 2005, Ms. Robinson has managed over $1.5 billion dollars in federal funds as the project director and then project principal for several healthcare, housing, social service, and disaster management projects sponsored by federal, state and local government agencies. Such agencies included, but not limited to the Federal Emergency Management Administration ("FEMA"), Housing and Urban Development ("HUD"), the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services ("CMS"), the City of Houston, Harris County Housing Authority, and the largest academic integrated healthcare delivery system in Texas.

From 2005 to 2011, Ms. Robinson led the project management, internal audit and external audit preparation for the City of Houston during its Hurricane Katrina and Rita emergency housing program developed for and resulting from one of the nation's largest national disaster in recent history. She and her team assisted over 24,000 families displaced by the Hurricanes with housing, rental payments, and social service case management.
