Recycling the Past for the Future

J Sanders & Son are a family business established for over 50 years, and we take our environmental responsibilities very seriously. We have implemented an environmental management system to ensure that as far as possible we have identified the environmental risks that may be present in all of our processes, and taken steps to eliminate or minimise these risks.

We will maintain our accreditation to the ISO14001:2004 Standard.

Our management system will ensure that we

- Minimise our risk to the environment
- Comply with all environmental legislation
- Continually strive to improve our environmental performance, by constant monitoring and using a process of regular audits and other management tools.

We will at all times be good neighbours, and good environmental citizens.

We will set ourselves stretching but achievable objectives and targets to monitor progress.

We will ensure that, as far as is possible, we will dispose of all scrap metal wastes in accordance with the principal of the general waste hierarchy; i.e. Reduce, Reuse, Recycle, Dispose with Energy Recovery, Landfill.

We will ensure that all of our staff are trained in basic environmental awareness and that they actively participate in our pollution prevention activities.
