HAGUE COMMUNITY CELEBRATES CHRISTMAS AT COMMUNITY CENTER

In case you have been living in a cave for the past month and haven't heard the good news - YES we are having another Christmas party. The tradition was started last year as an open house for our Community Center and it was decided that it was so much fun (in spite of the bad weather in the morning) that we would continue with tradition and hold one every year. Supervisor Bolton saw a good thing and asked Georgina Lindquist to again chair the committee. She and her committee have been working very hard to make it even bigger and better than last year's. Being the good director that she is, Georgina has appointed the following committee chairpersons: Refreshments, Fran Clifton; Program, Kathy Santaniello; Decoration, Trudy Karmazin; Publicity, Bernie Clifton and Marian Shoemaker and Master of Ceremonies, Bob Cole.

This committee has worked very hard to provide the children (of all ages, and at Christmas we are really all children) of the community with a first class party, including a visit from Santa Claus. SO COME ONE, COME ALL AND ENJOY. DECEMBER 15 - 4:00PM - 7:00PM. Program on page 2.

TICONDEROGA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Ticonderoga Historical Society will host its annual open-house at Hancock House on Sunday afternoon December 16, from 1PM to 3:30PM. A special performance by R.P. Hale, of Concord, NH, will be presented, featuring music of Scotland, Ireland, France, and George II, played on dulcimer and harpsichord. Mr. Hale's program will also include historical notes and comments. All are cordially invited. Ther is no charge.

The Historical Society is sponsoring an art exhibit in its gallery by area artists. All paintings are winter scenes. Two of our Hague residents are exhibiting in this show, Bea Frasier and Shirley Smith. Twenty-six paintings in all are on exhibit until after New Year's. The Hancock House is all decked out for Christmas. A Festival of Trees, featuring trees from local business and individuals is featured.

Ed: I have been to the Hancock House and I found it to be most enjoyable. Do put this on your Christmas list to go. It is open Wednesdays - Saturdays, 10AM-4PM. You won't regret it!

Did you know that when your feet get cold, if you put on a hat, it really helps. Try it! The more layers you wear the warmer you will be. Several thin layers are much better than one heavy one.

My best advice, however, is - be sure to let someone know when you are out and about in the woods, on a lonesome road, or whatever, or even walking down to the lake to check on pumps etc. Give a friend a call before you start out and another when you get back. Only takes a few seconds, but if you were to fall, it might be a matter of your life. If you are on the road late at night, particularly if you are alone, let someone know when you leave and call them when you arrive home. It is a SMART thing to do. . . djh

MOHICAN COUNCIL HOME BUREAU

CUB SCOUT PACK 21 NEWS

The First Aid fundraiser was a success! Thanks to all who supported our boys by purchasing kits or gift items. The Cubs did a great job as salesmen. The profits will be used for registrations and activities.

Den #1 had a good time visiting with Mr. West in the Hague Historical Room last month. They especially liked the ice skates (you mean they didn't have roller blades?) and the high school pictures of their moms and dads (And they make fun of our hair?)

Be sure to join us at the Community Center for the Christmas Party on the 15th. You'll be surprised at the talent! We're on at 5:30PM.

Den #2 will be collecting the bottles and cans at landfill through Jan. 19. Any problems or questions, please call Shelley Gautreau at 585-9859. Thanks again for all your support! . . KC

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

A public hearing for Michael's (22-1-8) requesting an area variance for dock set back was held on November 15, 1990.

At the regular meeting the Board decided they could not rule on his variance. The Michaels must be given the opportunity to present further evidence at a future meeting. . . gl

HAGUE PLANNING BOARD - 12/6/90

At 7PM a public hearing was held on the Gosselink/Sharp minor subdivision. Noone from the public spoke for or against the minor subdivision.

At the regular meeting the Gosselink/Sharp minor subdivision was passed unanimously since the lot line change would not increase the overall density of houses in the area, would not create a non conforming lot and would make a non-conforming lot less non-conforming.

Mr. Lindquist reported on the site visit to the Soliday proposed minor subdivision. The primary concerns found were the discharge of water from two NYS highway culverts that drain onto Mr. Soliday's property, wet areas of ground located near the shoreline and the fact that two residences are presently located on the 2.85 acre parcel. (The zoning district permits one residence on each 1.1 acre). Mr. Breitenbach Jr. will contact U.S. Soil and Water Conservation for an evaluation of the existing soil conditions. The Board tabled Mr. Soliday's proposed sub-division until additional information is obtained.

Karen Laundree, Planning Board Chairperson, reported that at the workshop held on 11/29/90, Board members discussed the need to provide persons applying for Project approval with a simplified form indicating the information that the applicant may need to provide to the Board before a decision on a proposed project can be reached. The check-list in Section 5.042 of the Hague Zooning Ordinance was reviewed to provide a guideline for the creation of such a form. No additional workshop meetings have been scheduled for the current year. . . . 6c

FISH AND GAME CLUB

The Fish and Game Club will hold its annual Christmas party on December 18 at 6PM. Please bring a covered dish to share and a small children's present (under $2.00) to exchange. Santa Claus plans to be in attendance to distribute the gifts.

NEW LAW TO BE ENFORCED

Beginning January 1, 1991, anytime it is necessary to use windshield wipers while driving, one must also use headlights.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS

LAKE GEORGE ICE

"The ice on Lake George is not as safe as it used to be for walking, skating, skiing, sailing, sledding, and riding. Nor is it as kind to shoreline property." This is according to the latest edition of the LGA News.

Great expanses of open water stretch for miles along the shoreline. This is not believed to be a result of the greenhouse effect. Instead it is believed to be a result of the "ice eaters" which have replaced bubbler and pump systems around docks. Ice eaters move warm bottom water up to the surface with a submersed propeller pump. The quantity of water moved by an ice eater is much greater than that lifted by a bubbler.

As more ice eaters are being used, the currents they create keep more water along shore from freezing and prevent large mid-lake masses of ice from stabilizing. The more firmly an ice mass is attached to the land, the less it can be moved about by the wind. Premature ice movement increases potential damage to docks and shore structures and also to the shoreline itself. The management of the lake levels also affects the situation.

Premature ice movement can cause excessive damage if high water levels are maintained. A constant low lake level would help stabilize the ice mass, while fluctuating levels would reduce anchoring and increase damage potential.

The following precautions are recommended:

* Keep the axis of rotation vertical so water will not be directed out into the lake or along the shore.

* Turn the pump off when the air temp. is above freezing. This may be done manually or with a thermostat switch exposed to the air. This will save power and money. It costs about $30/mo. to run a pump full time.

* Cycle the operation with a timer to allow water currents to decay while the pump is off. Since most ice eaters pump much more water than needed, the required area can be kept open with as little as 2-4 hours of operation per day, even in cold weather. This too will save power and money.

* Use two or more smaller units rather than the more common large ones.

Examples of switches that may be used for thermal or time cycling are:

Thermal switch - adjustable from 0-50 degrees F, Kasco T-10, $44 - Askco Elect Supply, Glens Falls

Timer Switch - Adjustable down to 15 min. intervals, Model T-1905, $60, Warren Elec., 26 Dix Ave., G.F.

Timer Switch - adjustable for one cycle per day, needs weather protection, $4.48, Radio Shack.

LAKE GEORGE PARK COMMISSION & JETSKIS

After a number of public informational hearings, the LGPC is now drafting rules on recreation uses of the lake. They cover such activities such as parasailing, scuba diving, personal water craft (PWC's), waterskiing and operation of tour boats. The commission will vote on the rules on December 27 and they could be in place as early as January. Public hearings will be held in March.

There is a lot of controversy as to whether the jetskis (PWC's) should be banned entirely or put more controls on them. And as though we don't have problems enough, the latest recreational vehicles will probably be submarines. Hammacher Schlemmer has 2-man subs for sale for $34,500.

Progress Made On Improving Tl Schools

By Lohr McKinstry

Greater parent and community involvement was the chief theme of a special Ticonderoga Central School leadership teams meeting on Dec. 5.

All four of the district's building leadership teams — elementary, middle, and high school and high school students — were formed as part of the Effective Schools Movement Excellence and Accountability Program being used in Ticonderoga schools. The committees made public presentations of their goals and plans at a special Board of Education meeting in the elementary-middle school cafetorium. "What you'll see tonight is a team effort," Superintendent Dr. Robert Collins Jr. said before the session started.

Middle School Building Leadership Team member Brad Peria, a health and reading teacher, said the Effective Schools Movement got its start after a controversial report that said "student achievement is due more to family background than the efforts of the school."

The Coleman Study was later disproved, he said, but not before it had been studied by the University of Michigan. In the course of the inquiry, it was discovered the successful schools shared many of the same characteristics, such as strong and effective leadership and a clear mission. Other factors, such as good home-school relations, were added later.

Peria said the middle school team reviewed the discipline rules and suggested changes. A system of passes was designed, he said, for everything from restrooms and the library to the office, lockers, and the computer room.

"We had problems with student movement," he said. As an attempt to control the flurry, a "Space Odyssey" game was developed — this year it will be "Monopoly — and points awarded for compliance.

"We wanted to reward the class that did the best, for earning the most points," Peria said. That class was the sixth grade and its reward was a trip to The Great Escape theme-park in Lake George.

Social studies teacher Frank Fontana, who chairs the middle school committee, said another Effective Schools Movement survey was taken in the spring and the results analyzed. The result was that "when we wrote our 1990-91 plan, we determined that parent-community involvement would be number one."

Music teacher Lisa Mazzotte said a workshop for parents has been slated for Wednesday, Jan. 16, on a variety of topics.

Kindergarten teacher Michael Corsi said the Elementary School Building Leadership Team is working on implementing Effective Schools criteria. "We only have eight-tenths of a point to go in most cases before the correlates are in place," he said.

Elementary teacher Karen Murdock said the committee worked on a rewards and incentives program. The team believes "good things that are happening in the school (should) be duly recognized, especially in the media," she said.

Special education teacher Maria Stitt said the committee also realized more in-service training is needed. "We're working on raising staff morale — it's coming," she said. "The last one is teacher and staff effectiveness. Things are improving."

High School Leadership Team member Paul Joubert said his committee found teachers should increase "working with kids that are constantly in trouble, working with them a little more."

Two areas of concern were order and discipline and academic goals and high expectations, special education teacher Pamela Hens said. "We analyzed the questions in the survey" and found that "protection of learning time" was most important, she said.

"We worked on protecting that learning time" Hens said, by devising a master calendar to reduce conflicting scheduling, permanent schedules for delayed school openings, and coordination with the custodial staff so no noise-making work takes place outside classrooms during school hours.

The High School Student Leadership Team has been meeting to go over the results of a student survey, Student Council and team advisor Mary Lou Baker said. "We would be remiss if we didn't get the students' perceptions," she said.

"Ninety percent of the high school students concluded the lines of communication must be open," team member William Ferguson said. He said poor communication was due to "lack of time and in some cases, lack of interest." (Continued on page 5)

Student Esther Leerke said too much emphasis is placed on the negative instead of the positive among students. "We're trying to build self-esteem by concentrating on the positive," she said.

The student group is starting by seeking permission from high school Principal Ralph Corbo to give a presentation to students on the plan and attend a faculty meeting to offer suggestions.

Collins praised the work of all four committees. "We all have so much to contribute," he said. "It doesn't happen unless people want to pull together and make it happen."

"The movers and shakers are here around the table tonight," he concluded "We could have all the money in the world and not have happen what has happened here."

WEATHER NOTES

November temperatures were warmer than normal.

Scientists are talking about the greenhouse effect but no one is certain yet. It is true that 1989 was the warmest year on record. November 27 reached 50° and Wednesday, November 28, 70°. The mild temperature on the 28th was grace time which enabled many residents to do last minute raking and to catch up on home winter weather proofing.

High winds dominated the first part of the second full week of November and occurred sporadically throughout the month. Sunday, November 25 started out sparkling early in the morning with bright sun and mild temperatures but changed dramatically by 2PM. Wind velocities were recorded as high as 53 MPH which created power outages which lasted five hours and up to 2 days in some places. Many trees were blown down causing the trouble with the power lines and difficult road obstructions.

The new moon was November 17 and the full moon December 2 and the last quarter Dec. 9. The full moon was particularly radiant, almost bright enough to read by. It was a true delight to the eye and a real pleasure to feast one's eyes on the night landscape.

December 1 was 50° and Monday afternoon brought us plenty of snow which later turned to rain on Tuesday. In spite of the rain we have at least 4 inches of icy snow remaining. (December 7)

We can welcome the snow for the insulation it provides and any plants it covers. They say snow fixes with nitrogen as it falls through the air - hence the name, poor man's fertilizer.

Can't forget to mention the crystal clear quality of the air on these cooler days and nights. What a pleasure to inhale it! . . . Mary Lou Doulin

HANUKKAH

Celebrated for 8 days beginning on the 25th day of the lunar month of Kislev (November-December) Begins December 12 this year.

Hanukkah is a happy midwinter festival commemorating the victory of the Maccabees over the Syrians in 165BC in a battle fought to reassert the religious integrity of the Jews during a period of forced assimilation. The word Hanukkah means "dedication" in Hebrew and indeed the festival is also known as the Feast of Dedication as well as the Festival of Lights.

In the home, the kindling of lights on the Hanukkah menorah - an additional one on each of the eight nights of the festival - is an essential feature of the holiday. This practice derives from a legend regarding the war of the Maccabees.

The importance of light in this festival is also probably related to the winter folk customs, observed at the time in the Middle East and elsewhere, in which ceremonial fires were lighted at the winter solstice to urge the sun back to long days and short nights. This the observance of Hanukkah, like so many other festivals, is rooted in seasonal as well as historical occurrences.

Other traditional Hanukkah symbols are the dreycl and gelt. The dreycl is a four-sided top used for game playing. Hanukkah gelt is small amounts of money, commonly coins, given to children. The custom of giving gifts is quite an ancient part of the Hanukkah celebration.

HAGUE EMERGENCY SQUAD

During the month of November the Hague Emergency Squad made 5 calls involving 395 patient hours and 365 miles.

Ed Note: The Emergency Squad of the Hague Volunteer Fire Department does a fantastic job. We are all indebted to them for their services. Won't you remember them in your Christmas giving this year. A new ambulance is in service - we now have two. In the meantime we have incurred a large debt. Please be generous.

BOLTON RE-ELECTED BOARD'S CHAIRMAN

Richard E. Bolton, Hague Supervisor, has been elected for a second one-year term as chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Warren County.

Lloyd Dembosky, head of the county Republican Committee said "He's done a fine job. Obviously, he spends a lot of time here. The chairman has been here almost every day."

Though next year is likely to be difficult for the county, Bolton said he is not afraid of the challenge and he is confident of the team he leads.

"No one person, whether I'm the chairman or not, can do this job alone, he said. It's got to be a cooperative effort of all the supervisors."

RECYCLING

HAGUE'S LANDFILL TO BECOME A TRANSFER STATION

With the year ending, we can report that Hague's recycling program has had a successful beginning. Voluntary participation has resulted in an estimated 10 per cent reduction in the total volume of the solid waste stream. This indicates a widespread acceptance and participation in the program.

In the coming year Hague's recycling program will be expanding. This is the result of Warren County's Recycling Department obtaining a new facility from the Ciba-Geigy Corporation in Glens Falls. This new facility will allow easier handling and storage of recyclable items and enable us to accept more items. Shortly, Hague will take brown and green glass, more plastics and corrugated board.

When the landfill closes in April of 1991, it will become particularly important to practice careful "source separation." Hague's facility will be used as a transfer station to handle solid wastes and prepare them for transfer to appropriate places. Different items will be accepted in designated containers and locations at the facility. It will be required to separate items and place them in the appropriate location.

If cooperation continues, use of the transfer station will be easy and continued reduction in the waste stream will result. If any questions about use of the facility occur, please don't hesitate to ask the facility attendants or contact John Breitenbach, Jr. at the Hague Community Center, 543-6161.

MEMORY TREE

The Memory Tree is now in place at the Hague Community Center in the lobby window. If you would like to have a name added to the list, please send a dollar for each name to Imogene Frasier, West Hague Road, or to the Hague Community Center. If paying by check, please make payable to the Chamber of Commerce, the sponsors of this project. All monies raised will be donated to the Ambulance Squad to be used for a specific item that the squad needs.

REMEMBER - Hague's Memory Tree is not only designated for the deceased, but names may be added for the living. Don't you want to recognize someone in your life that has been particularly nice to you, or has done something that should be recognized. If so, now is your chance! To date the following names have been submitted. Any after December 7 will appear in the January issue of The Hague Chronicle.

WE STAND CORRECTED

In the November issue of The Hague Chronicle we referred to Canadian geese. We have been informed by our "goose" expert that the plural of a Canada goose is Canada geese ---only the latter word changes (Canada does not become Canadian). Now you know. Thanks Bill!

MUSEUM NEEDS ARTIFACTS

Our historian, Clifton West is now requesting old toys, circa 1940 and earlier for use in the Hague Museum. He would particularly like to acquire an old Teddy bear for the collection, but any toys would be more than welcome.
