President's Letter

Hoping this message finds you all well. I stepped in as acting President after Barb resigned in early October. I want to take a moment to thank you, Barb, for your time on the board and in the President's seat. We appreciate all you have done for the club.

We had some really fun gatherings this year with our membership! Our 6th Annual Regional Specialty was another success and we were fortunate to have had better weather than we did last year. It was followed by a luncheon with a delicious spread and our raffle and silent auction brought in over $1,300!

Our "Summer BBQ" was postponed due to extreme heat and became more of a "Fall BBQ", but despite the chill in the air, we had a wonderful turnout with some new faces and lots of happy Ridgebacks. After having a minor equipment malfunction, we were even able to hold an introduction to lure coursing. Almost every Ridgeback who participated had never seen the lure before, but nearly all of them knew exactly what to do! We're hoping to see those excited pups at future coursing events.

In terms of other NERRC events this year, it was kind of quiet. We are having a difficult time drawing our membership out to our smaller events like Trick Training, Canine Good Citizens, Intro to Barn Hunt, etc. We would love to see more of our membership participate in things we offer throughout the year, but we are scratching our heads trying to figure out how to get people more involved. I would be interested to know what is preventing you from attending these smaller events: Is it conflict of day/time? Not interested in the event/topic? Not sure if you are able to attend the event without prior experience? Too far away? If you have any thoughts on the matter, the board would love your feedback. Feel free to email me, or anyone else on the board, with your input.

Wishing you a wonderful holiday season and we hope to see all of you at our Holiday Party on January 8th (details listed later in this newsletter)! Looking forward to another great year of fun with you and our beloved Ridgebacks!

Meghan Terwilliger,
Acting President
(and of course Fox too!)

Let 'Em Sniff, Part 2

By Michele Ruest

In the previous Ridgeline we provided an overview of Nose Work (Scent Work). In this issue we thought it would be fun to provide a quick overview of each of the venues available for competition. While there are similarities, each venue offers something a little unique. This gives you the opportunity to select the type of environment and level of competition that best suits the interests of you and your dog.

National Association of Canine Scent Work

The National Association of Canine Scent Work (NACSW) was founded in 2009 by professional detection handlers. The NACSW strives to create a real-world search environment. Four search elements are used: Interior, Exterior, Container, and Vehicle. The combination of search areas will vary with the level and type of trial. To compete in a NACSW trial the dog and handler must be members. There is a one-time fee for each dog and an annual membership fee for the handler. Also, each dog must pass an Odor Recognition Test (ORT) for each of the target odors (Birch, Anise, Clove) before entering a trial. A handler can only run one dog at a given trial. Any breed of dog can compete including mixed breeds, dogs with disabilities, and reactive dogs. Possible titles include ORT, NW1, NW2, NW3, NW3-Elite, Elite-1, Elite-2, Elite-3, Elite-Champion, and Summit. Additionally, there are element specialty titles at 3 levels for each element.

For more detailed information please visit the NACSW web site at <https://www.nacsw.net/>

Working a container search.

United States Canine Scent Sports

Indicating he found the scent

The United States Canine Scent Sports (USCSS) was founded in 2016 by performance dog trainers. The USCSS strives to create a fun search environment with more flexibility for trial hosts. Competitors are allowed to spectate after they have run and can run additional dogs For Exhibition Only (FEO). Dogs must be at least 6 months and handlers must be at least 10 years old. Any breed of dog may compete, reactive dogs, dogs with disabilities are allowed to compete. There is no odor test required. There is a free lifetime membership for the handler and a one-time registration fee for each dog. The odors used are Birch, Anise, and Clove. The classes offered are the classic elements: Interior, Exterior, Vehicle, Containers, and game classes: Detection Dog Extreme, Copy Cat, Double Dog Dare, Go the Distance, Heap O'Hides, LudicrousSpeed, Scenting Sweepstakes, Team Spirit. Possible titles include Novice A, Novice B, Intermediate, Advanced, Senior, Master.

For more detailed information please visit the USCSS web site at <http://www.uscaninescentsports.com/>

Performance Scent Dogs

Performance Scent Dogs (PSD) is like USCSS in that it offers more flexibility to the trial host. Not all elements must be present in all trails. There is a one-time registration fee for each dog. Each dog must pass a Target Odor Test (TOT) before entering a trial. However, odor tests from other venues can be used to qualify (such as the NACSW ORT). The odors are birch, anise, and clove. Any breed including mixed breeds can compete in PSD trials. Reactive dogs and dogs with disabilities are also allowed to compete but, refer to the PSD rule book for specific considerations. PSD offers five search classes: Buildings, Exteriors, Containers, Distance and Speed. There are three levels of competition: Novice, Advanced and Excellent. Each class is a unique title and is titled at each level.

For more detailed information please visit the PSD web site at <https://www.performancescentdogs.com/>

American Kennel Club Scent Work

The American Kennel Club (AKC) Scent Work has two divisions, the Odor Search Division and the Handler Discrimination Division. The Odor Search Division is like the other venues where the dog is searching for a target odor in different search elements. The AKC search elements are Interior, Exterior, Container, and Buried. The target odors are Birch, Anise, Clove, and Cypress. In the Handler Discrimination Division the dog is searching for the scent of the handler on articles provided by the handler. Please refer to the ACK Scent Work rule book for details on valid articles and proper application of scent. Both divisions have four levels, Novice, Advanced, Excellent, and Master.

Any breed, including mixed breeds can compete. Dogs must have an AKC number from one of the following: AKC Registration Number, Purebred Alternative Listing (PAL), AKC Canine Partners Number, or Foundation Stock Service®(FSS) Number.

AKC Scent Work also offers a "Detective Class" for dogs who have achieved at least one Master title in the Odor Search Division. The Detective Class offers the opportunity to search in an integrated search environment including one or more search elements and an unknown number of hides. Ten qualifying scores are required to earn the Scent Work Detective title.

For more detailed information please visit the AKC Scent Work web site at <https://www.akc.org/sports/akc-scent-work/>

Michele and Ripley

About the Author

I have been a Ridgeback owner since 1999. I started nose work in 2011 and we earned our first title in 2013. Currently, I have four Ridgebacks and a terrier mix who are all trained in nose work. My oldest Ridgeback Symetri Here We Go Again CGC ELT -CH (Ripley) is the first Ridgeback to achieve NW3-Elite, ELT1, ELT2, ELT3, and ELT-CH with the National Association of Canine Scent Work (NACSW). She is retired from competing but still loves to practice. My oldest male CH Symetri's Echo In My Heart CGC LIV (Echo) didn't care for the trial setting and retired from competition early on. But he still loves to practice around the house. Two of my younger Ridgebacks are preparing for their first Odor Recognition Test (ORT) and I hope to be competing with them in the fall. My terrier mix just earned his NW2.

- Some of the electronic copies of documents are corrupted. Cathy working on providing new files.
- Update on digitizing and professional scanning services:
 - Digitizing is used when the goal is to have usable data for other applications. I suspect this is not needed for NERRC.
 - Professional scanning can create searchable PDF files. I suspect this is more useful for NERRC.
 - One estimate I have assumes 10 full banker's boxes, 50% pages, 50% books.
 - Maverick Group: 9 cents per image, ranging $135 per box to $180 per box (assume full 10 boxes $1350 - $1800)
 - Scans bound items without taking them apart
 - Creates searchable PDF files
 - Delivers files on encrypted USB drive
 - Optional portal access for downloading
 - Turn around time is 7 days
 - Includes shredding if we do not want documents back
 - I am awaiting additional estimates
 - I have not yet done an inventory and I expect that we may not choose to have everything scanned.
 - I am able to do scanning myself, but it will take more time to complete and the results will not be searchable.
 - Update on storing the electronic files:
 - We can use a cloud-based storage provider such as Dropbox or AWS. These services tend to charge monthly and by number of users. For example, Dropbox costs 16.99 per month for 6 users. Personal cloud storage can be cheaper but creates a challenge when the responsibility for the storage needs to move from one person to another. Alternately, we can do local storage using DVD or USB drives (this should be used as a backup for cloud storage regardless of approach).
- Next steps:
 - Perform full inventory of hard copy documents.
 - I expect to have this completed by the end of November 2022
 - Once complete we can determine what should be scanned and stored electronically. This will enable a more accurate estimate for professional scanning (if desired).
 - Establish secure and consistent storage methods for hard copy documents.
 - I expect to have this completed by the end of November 2022
 - Build club history for web site
 - I expect to start providing content in December 2022
