

East University Mall

JB Fieldworks staff was responsible for project management, design and construction documentation for the final phase of the East University Pedestrian Mall.

This important student connection was designed with significant input from the University's Planning, Architecture and Grounds Departments. The design focused on the efficient movement of students while at the same time creating small pockets for quiet study. A significant portion of the project was within the site boundary of a LEED certified building. Native plantings were used to satisfy the LEED accreditation requirements and provide a low-maintenance planting that would benefit the Grounds Department.
