In Like a Lion and Out Like a Lamb?

What will it be this year?

March is the month where almost anything can happen. Will it snow 6+ inches? Will it be warm and sunny like an early summer day? Will it do nothing but rain for days and even produce thunder and lightning? It's unpredictable. The age old question of the lion and the lamb fits March perfectly! It's also the month that gives us the first day of spring and even though we lose an hour of sleep, we gain a longer day starting March 9 at 2 a.m. It's a month filled with hope, renewal, and the first signs of the emerging green of the daffodil and also the green of St. Patrick's day!

Pittsburgh is the place to be this time of year! We have a beautiful spring and we hold one of the largest parades in the country to celebrate St. Patty's day. This year the parade is on Sat., March 11 at 10 a.m. and is perfect for the entire family! Following the parade are many activities celebrating the holiday including fun events held in Market Square and downtown. Entertainment includes street performers, live music, and many different dining opportunities at the various restaurants.

This year P3R is excited to unveil their inaugural Pittsburgh Parade Day Dash presented by GNC, a vibrant and family-friendly celebration happening just before the 10 a.m. start of the parade. This event will feature a 5K and a 1 Mile Family Fun Run/Walk that will start near the parade route and follow a scenic route through downtown Pittsburgh. More info at P3R.org.

There are Irish pubs all around the Pittsburgh area. Visit West Main Pub in Carnegie, Mullaney's Harp & Fiddle in the Strip, and Monterey Pub on the North Side. They are all offering something special to celebrate the holiday but call each one for specific details. Unfortunately, a local favorite, Riley's Pour House, won't be able to participate this year due to the devastating fire last fall but hopefully they will be back in 2026!

St. Patrick's Day fun!

You can also celebrate the green of St. Patrick's Day on Fri., March 14, during Shamrock Night, at Phipps Conservatory. Everything will be illuminated green and there will be music throughout. Get a sneak peek at the in-progress Spring Flower Show and tour the new Tropical Forest Panama: Bridge to Biodiversity. This cultural forest system exhibit opens on March 1 and will feature a park ranger station, a display of the complex layers of the tropical forest. View a live poisonous dart frog terrarium and so much more.

For an extra dose of color, visit the Spring Flower Show: A Bloom for Every Room starting March 22. Enjoy the signature bloom dedicated to each room. Walk among the variety of tulips, the colorful pansies, the pink and blue delphiniums and more. Info at phipps.conservatory.org.

Now is the perfect time to start planning your garden and home projects. The 43rd Annual Pittsburgh Home & Garden Show will be held Mar. 7-16 at the David L. Lawrence Convention Center. This event features over 1,500 exhibitors. Enjoy health and wellness speakers, cooking demonstrations, gardening/farming education, and kids activities. More info at pghhome.com.

A truly delicious treat from nature, maple syrup, is being celebrated this month. The Audubon Society of Western PA is celebrating Maple Madness with three events: March 6 & 13 at Buffalo Creek Nature Park for Adults Only Happy Hour - Maple Drink Tasting, March 15 & 22 at Beechwood Farms Nature Reserve for a Hike through Maple History and March 23 & 30 at Succop Nature Park for the Sweetest Season Pancake Breakfast. Info at aswp.org.

The Somerset County Maple Weekends on Mar. 1-2 and 8-9, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. will feature tasting, tree tapping, sugar making, horse drawn carriage rides, pancakes and sausage, and maple products to purchase. More info at golaurelhighlands.com

Attend a full day Maple Sugaring Workshop at Raccoon Creek State Park on Mar. 8 at 10 a.m. Learn how to collect maple sap, the boiling process and the processing of syrup into candies and sugar. Conclude the day with a pancake dinner. Purchase tickets online. On Mar. 9 at 10 a.m., learn the Basics of Maple Sugaring. View evaporators, taps and finished syrups and candies. This event is free.

The Northwest PA Maple Syrup Producers Association invites you to attend the Maple Taste and Tour Weekend on Mar. 15-16. There are a variety of participating sugarhouses. Go to the website and pick a county and place and then go enjoy the fun! Info at pamaple.org.

Maple sugar activities are all around the area.

To end with a limerick, seems to be fitting so,
We've had so much fun in the snow.
But it's time for the cold to go.
When you look to the ground,
Pick the clovers you've found,
From the grass that sprouts from below.

Look for those first blooms and enjoy the season!

Beauty poking through the snow!

MUSINGS...BE HEALTHY

a coach, like me. I loved them then and I love them now. How many of these warning signs do you experience?

Ten Warning Signs of Good Health

1. Persistent presence of support network.
2. Chronic positive expectations; tendency to frame events in a constructive manner.
3. Episodic outbreaks of joyful, happy experiences.
4. Sense of spiritual connection.
5. Tendency to adapt constructively to change.
6. Rapid response and recovery of stress response systems to repeated challenges.
7. Increased appetite for physical activity.
8. Tendency to identify and communicate feelings (in a way that honors the dignity and worth of all involved).
9. Repeated episodes of gratefulness and generosity.
10. Persistent sense of humor.

Go through these one by one and see where you stand on each of them.

1. Who are the people you could call if you needed physical or emotional support?
2. Are you a worrier who expects the worst? How could you flip that to expect the best?
3. When was the last time you hooted and hollered with joy? Or even grinned at a bird out your window?
4. Do you believe in a power greater than yourself? Feeling connected to God or the Universe adds meaning and depth to life.
5. Change is constant. Can you embrace it instead of resisting it?
6. Stress response systems are the fight-flight-or-fawn responses. Learning to manage stress in new ways can add years to your life. Some techniques include exercise, relaxation, mindfulness, and connecting with others.
7. Physical activity makes you healthier and happier. It also reduces the chance of serious illness.
8. Talking openly and respectfully about feelings improves relationships.
9. The happiest and healthiest people I know are grateful and generous. They take care of themselves, but they spend more time serving others and feeling grateful.

10. An intact sense of humor is a blessing. My older brother now lives in a care home. I call him often and share some jokes with him. He has a deep belly laugh, and after a few one-liners he is refreshed from the inside.

These signs are written as “Warning Signs” because Jeanne has a persistent sense of humor!

COACHING TIP

I guarantee that if you practice making each of these 10 Warning signs a reality in your life, you will feel healthier and happier. Other people will also seek out your company!

Note from the Publisher: If you enjoy reading Musings, Sharon has gathered them together in a book, titled “Fresh Views on Resilient Living.” It would make a great holiday gift! It’s available on Amazon or you can scan the QR code to go to the link.

Editor’s Note: Sharon Eakes is a personal and executive coach, who is a regular columnist for our paper as well as for the Huffington Post. She is the author of Fresh Views on Resilient Living.

Especially as we age, it seems important to be healthy. To stay healthy!

Many years ago I came across these Ten Warning Signs of Good Health written by Jeanne McLennan,

The Fishin' Hole

by Sam Hall

efits I am just not seeing to not going fishing for ten straight weeks. Some benefit I am not seeing to feeling like I have to brace myself for a punch in the gut every time I am about to open a door to the outside world. So I looked some up, and there are a few good ones.

Cold weather reduces inflammation and as an "old guy," I know that helps me a lot. Cold weather actually increases metabolism and again, as an "old guy," I know that helps me a lot. Cold weather leads to deeper, more restful sleep and as a person who certainly doesn't get enough sleep, I know that helps me a lot. Cold weather also greatly reduces the population of pests like mosquitoes and ticks and invasive species like the spotted lanternfly, and as a person who loves to spend a lot of time outdoors, I know that is helping me a lot.

March is here and with it will come spring. Despite all the new found positives of cold weather that I have recently discovered, I know that will help me the most. Spring time fishing is right around the corner! Check your gear, test your boots and get new fishing line on your poles. We are about to be able to go outside without scraping anything off the windows of our cars! We are about to be able to come inside without knocking a whole lot of stuff from our shoes before doing so. I don't know about you, but I for one cannot wait to get bitten by a mosquito!

The winter has made me cranky and irritable. When I am driving and there is someone in front of me, I get mad at them for going too slow or not signaling. If there is someone behind me, I get mad at them for driving too fast or having headlights that are just too bright. My office at work is too cold most of the time. When I am in the helicopter, first I am freezing to death and then, after about a half of an hour, it is suddenly just unbelievably hot and I get annoyed with the pilot for having it on too high. I get mad at the garbage man because when they take away the trash they don't put the lid back on the empty can properly. Yes, winter has officially gotten all the way to me. I am irritated when the wind blows the leaves from the park across the street into my front yard. Full disclosure; one of the trees in my backyard has had some leaves that have been holding on throughout this winter. Every once in a while, when a storm comes through, some of those leaves will drop down into my backyard and that really sends me over the edge! I won't even get started on the shoveling and salting of the front walk and the mood that puts me in right now. Or, the wind screaming into my face as I walk through any parking lot. Especially the one at work!

So, today I thought to myself, there must be something good about winter that I can grab onto to help change my point of view. Some ben-

Send your pictures and stories to samdhall@comcast.net and next month we will get ready for the first day of trout season.

Can't blame me for daydreaming about the spring days ahead!
