Penance

The Lord entrusted to the Apostles the mission of proclaiming the Kingdom of God, the Gospel of conversion, repentance and of forgiveness. On the evening of the day of his Resurrection, as the mission of the Apostles was about to begin, Jesus gave them, through the Holy Spirit, the power and authority to reconcile repentant sinners with God and the Church: “Receive the Holy Spirit. If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained” (Jn 20: 22-23). Faith sees in these words of the Lord “the most profound dynamic contained in this Sacrament.”

As the successors to the Apostles, the bishops are the moderators of the penitential discipline for their flocks, and priests are their collaborators in this ministry. By virtue of the Sacrament of Holy Orders, bishops and priests have been given the power to forgive all sins “in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.”

In the Sacrament of Penance the faithful who confess their sins to an authorized priest, who are sorry for them, and who resolve to reform themselves, receive by means of the absolution imparted by the priest God’s forgiveness for those sins they have committed after Baptism.

The martyr bishop St. Cyprian of Carthage (died 258 AD) wrote about the faithful confessing “their sins to the priests of God in a straightforward manner and in sorrow, making an open declaration of conscience... I beseech you, brethren, let everyone who has sinned confess his sin while he is still in this world, while his confession is still admissible, while the satisfaction and remission made through the priests are still pleasing before the Lord.”
