Welcome to my Homeopathic practice!

What is Homeopathic Treatment and What does it consist of Homeopathic medicine is based on the principle of “likes cure likes.” Homeopathic practitioners prescribe minute doses of natural substances that are capable of producing symptoms similar to those suffered by a patient. The remedies stimulate the body to heal itself. For example, if someone is jumpy and irritable and cannot sleep at night, a homeopathic dose of coffee can help to calm the person so he or she can sleep. Or if someone has watery eyes that are itchy and seem to burn, a homeopathic dose of onion can help to relieve these symptoms.

A Homeopath is a professional that understands the symptom pictures of Homeopathic remedies, who is trained on how to interview a client to illicit a symptom picture, and who can analyze a case in order to select the remedy or remedies which most closely matches the client's symptom picture. Homeopaths are not trained to diagnose illness, make recommendations involving pharmaceutical drugs or surgery, or handle medical emergencies.

Homeopathy is a holistic method of healing in which physical, emotional and psychological symptoms are viewed as interrelated and treated as a whole. Homeopathy has effectively treated a wide variety of conditions, including:

- Injuries such as sprains, fractures, tendonitis, burns, and insect stings
- Recovery from dental procedures and surgery
- Acute conditions including allergies, arthritis, asthma, recurrent ear infections and migraine headaches
- Immune system dysfunctions including lupus, thyroid problems, fibromyalgia, and multiple chemical sensitivity
- Emotional and psychological ailments including depression and eating disorders
- Childhood problems including attention deficit disorders, learning disabilities, and vaccine-related problems

Homeopathy can even help with conditions such as autism, developmental delays, cerebral palsy, and various other ailments where orthodox medicine has had limited success.

Homeopathic remedies are safe, have no known side effects, and can be used safely and effectively with conventional medications. However, Homeopathic remedies cannot be used in place of conventional medications. Also, Homeopathic remedies can sometimes cause a retrace of old symptoms, in which symptoms become temporarily heightened as part of the healing process.

During a consultation, I will interview a client in detail in order to get a clear picture of physical and emotional symptoms. I will then do my best to find a Homeopathic medicine that will help to reduce or eliminate the symptoms.
