Lent - A Journey into the Kingdom of God

It's 5:20AM Wednesday morning and I've been up for an hour. Read today's Lenten devotions and a couple chapters from John's gospel. Did some push-ups and had a cup of tea, my body is awake but the Spirit within me is silent and my mind is frustrated. Which will win the battle of control this day, the "I got this" voice of the strong willed child or the broken spirit which calls out to God, "I do believe; help me overcome my unbelief!" (Mark 9:24). Just another day in our Journey into the Kingdom of God.

This Lenten season is helping me slow down and refocus on the beginning message of Jesus' ministry: "Repent of your sins for the Kingdom of God is near" (Matthew 4:17) and "Blessed are the poor in spirit ..." and blessed are those who mourn ..." (Matthew 5:3-4). It's a challenge for me to take a close critical look deep down into the hidden places of my soul. To look at those places most people don't see because I'm a good old Christian boy, loved by my family and the community. I do a lot of "good works" and have a lot of friends. To my face they tell me I'm wonderful and A OK. I'm not a liar, a thief, a cheat, a murderer, or an adulterer. Soooooooo why do I need to repent or be poor in spirit? Why should I mourn over my sins ... well I guess I might still have a few little ones but hey when I look at the world around me I'm "A OK". So why should I mourn?

Good morning Holy Spirit! I just got back from walking the neighbor's dog, Jan and I are dog sitting and my job is doing the morning walk. I take Luci to the walking trail just below our home. Now there is only one garbage can on the trail and it's right where we enter. Luci on que poops about a quarter mile from the garbage can, so on Monday I carried the bag of poop two miles until I got back to the can. On day two I noticed two dumpsters at a business a quarter mile from the poop zone so I deposited the bag in one of the dumpsters and notice an employee watching me out the window...

So on my two-mile round trip walk back past the dumpsters I rehearsed my response in case I was confronted. The lady at the window was outside working when Luci and walked by but she didn't notice us. Today when I deposited the poop bag, the lady had just arrived at work and was getting out of her car. "Sir you just threw that bag ..." I cut her off, I had rehearsed, I'm justified in throwing poop in a dumpster, Lady, (I didn't say that but I did think it), "it's a dumpster, I threw in garbage!" "You threw it into the recycle dumpster, the other one is for garbage. I was walking in the spirit of self-righteousness not in the Spirit of the Kingdom of God. Jesus said, "Blessed are the meek ..." (Matthew 5:5). I repented before my gracious God, apologized to the lady and took the poop bag out of the recycle bin and put it into the garbage one. Good morning Holy Spirit.

Last night when I got home from work I informed Jan that I had arranged for our son to come help me get our new 400 lb. vanity up to the second floor bathroom on Saturday. When this monster of a vanity was delivered last week Derek and I were barely able to muscle the thing just inside the front door. Jan, in her usual helpful way, offered me solutions on how to get this thing up the stairs. The old self would have made some unkind remark and hurt her feelings, but the Spirit lead new man takes Paul's instructions to heart, "husband love your wife" (Ephesians 5:33), and listened to her advice. Peace was in our home that night. Last night after I told her

Above all, love each other deeply, because love covers over a multitude of sins. $$-1\ \mbox{Peter}$ 4:8\ \mbox{NIV}$$

Derek was coming her reply was, "well you know best". Without notice or warning, I stepped out of the Kingdom and into the world of John and gave some smart mouthed comment questioning her respect for me in knowing what to do. She was hurt and asked why I said that, I had no good answer. I repented before my gracious God and apologized.

I understand Paul's cry, "What a wretched man I am! Although I want to do good, evil is right there with me. For in my inner being I delight in God's law; but I see another law at work in me, waging war against the law of my mind and making me a prisoner of the law of sin at work within me." The more I surrender and seek the righteousness of God, the more I'm led by the Holy Spirit and released from the chains of sin, the more I recognize the sins hiding deep within my soul and the more I hate it. Paul goes on, "Who will rescue me from this body that is subject to death?" Thanks be to God, who delivers me through Jesus Christ our Lord!" Romans 7:21-25. Jesus

You were taught, with regard to your former way of life, to put off your old self, which is being corrupted by its deceitful desires; to be made new in the attitude of your minds; and to put on the new self, created to be like God in true righteousness and holiness. - EPHESIANS 4:22-24 NIV said, "Blessed, happy, are those who repent and morn over their sins for they will be comforted and theirs is the Kingdom of God." (Matthew 5:3-4)

Each moment of each day we have a choice; to live, react, think, and do according to our little world of self or surrender and trust the power of the Holy Spirit. Let go - Let God. Come let's live together in the Kingdom of God today.

Youth Rally was a joyful event March 18, 2017

The City Mission— http://www.citymission.org/

City Mission was born of faith. In the midst of World War II, The Reverend Burt McCausland held City Mission's first chapel service in a modest storeroom on South Main Street in Washington, Pennsylvania. He acted in faith, with no way of knowing that in the year 2016, the mission he founded would be celebrating seventy-five years of providing hope for the homeless of Southwestern Pennsylvania.

Chestnut Mountain Ranch— https://www.chestnutmountainranch.org/home

Chestnut Mountain Ranch provides a Christ-centered school and home for boys in crisis and in need of hope and healing. Partnering with their families, we pursue family restoration and reunification. The educational program is geared to help children develop spiritually, intellectually, physically, emotionally, and socially.

Dale Taggarts Mission to the Navajo's—Flagstaff-Mission-to-The-Navajos on Facebook

Dale Taggart grew up right here in Lone Pine and was called to be a missionary to the Navajo's in Arizona. Her son and his wife are also following in her footsteps, starting and working with churches on the reservation and teaching people about Jesus!
