Street, Script and Synthetic: Addictive and Deadly

This class will focus on today's most abused substances; where they come from, what they look like and how their potent effects are killing individuals and devastating families. Yet, the biggest impact is usually felt on the rest of society... as drug use is not a victimless crime. An in depth discussion on loopholes in the law, lack of knowledge, limited resources and how low public expectations are impacting communities on a larger scale will be addressed.

Drugs are not just illegal substances abused on the streets. Today designer research chemicals from labs in Southeast Asia exist and here in the US people are attempting to duplicate them in their own backyards. Synthetics are constantly evolving and we are behind in detection and treatment. Even the marijuana of today is chemically altered with butane or disguised in edibles; both new and powerful. We still have our illegal and popular drugs of heroin, methamphetamine, cocaine and ecstasy but now they are more potent and widespread than ever. Then we have the most dangerous drugs... the legal ones. Prescription drugs, alcohol and the act of smoking and vaping are driving our drug death rates up every year. The US is seeing more people dead from drugs than firearms, falls and car crashes.

Attend this class for the updates, outcomes and resources. Most importantly, attend to challenge your thinking and take action to change these trends.
