

Thieves' Guild Scene Introduction

The following information provides context to the thieves' guild scene:

Sabrina is one of the seven Scholomancy masters. She is the master of the School of Divination, but her loyalty does not lie with the school. It lies with Ramirez, First Master of the Newhaven Thieves' Guild.

Earlier in the story a thief broke into the Tower of Time within the Scholomancy complex. The thief was killed and dissolved by a creature called a time wraith before Temperius, the master of the tower, could identify him. However, the thief had an accomplice whom Temperius chased. The accomplice got away. Temperius believes the accomplice is a member of the Newhaven Thieves' Guild. The accomplice is actually Sabrina.

In the scene prior to this one Temperius rallies the Masters for an invasion of the Thieves' Guild. He uses Sabrina to spy on the guild through her crystal ball to find a location for them to teleport to. While doing so she triggers an alarm within the thieves' guild to warn Ramirez that the mages are coming.

Sabrina teleports into the thieves' guild with the other masters and must accordingly appear to be working for them. However, from the moment of the break-in she has been subtly misleading Temperius about the true identity of the thieves behind the break-in.

Up to this point she has not filled Ramirez in on any details about the break-in because she knows he is innocent, and his ignorance will allow him to convincingly maintain his innocence.
