SUMMARY: ENV 11-0107 bans possession of protected fish, game, shellfish, harbor seals, and protected wildlife, crustaceans and insects. This includes imported captive ones and wild-caught. New York has four types of game species: regular game species that may not be taken (listed above as Protected Game), regular game species with an open season (Game), rare sighting game species that may not be taken (Rare Protected Game) and rare sighting game species with an open season (Rare Game); all of these are protected and BANNED as pets. All other native vertebrates except fish are divided into protected and unprotected.

DISCLAIMERS:

* The laws listed above lists whether a species is legal to possess and import according to state laws and then any federally protected species with stricter regulations than the state. Be sure to review all federal laws as some ban certain species as pets or make it legal to possess a species but bans their interstate import in commerce or purchasing across state lines (you can still move with your animals across state lines).

*For states that do allow keeping wild-caught native species as pets, it is usually limited to game birds, game animals, furbearers, reptiles, amphibians and invertebrates. Such taking usually requires some type of hunting or fishing license in addition to any required captive wildlife permits. All laws must be followed, including daily bag and possession limits, seasons, size limits and location specific regulations.

* These guides are usually based on state fish & game laws, state agriculture and health import laws, and marine resource laws except when otherwise noted. Check laws for all requirements. Additional state laws may apply, including general animal control and care, livestock, and other health laws.

* Species lists vary on each state page depending on each state's law. While we try to include as many native vertebrate species as possible, we cannot guarantee that all species are covered above.
