

Miriam Prichard, LMHC-(TL) earned an M.S. Ed in Clinical Mental Health Counseling from Western Illinois University. She has worked with clients ages four and older. She has experience working with clients who experience addiction, depression, anxiety, grief, stress, self-harming behavior and family conflict. She also has extensive experience in facilitating groups for both children and adults.

Miriam looks at clients individually and holistically. She recognizes each person has a unique story that shapes the way they see themselves and the world. She does this through talk therapy, creative arts, play therapy and sand tray therapy depending on the clients' age and needs.

Miriam is also an adjunct faculty member of the Psychology Department at St. Ambrose University.

RICCA, The Rock Island County Council on Addictions, has provided services to the greater Quad City area, state of Illinois, and surrounding states for over 50 years.

Our services are geared to assist people with alcohol and drug problems, and those with anger management problems. We also have a prevention department that goes into schools in a five county area and provides prevention services to students in those locations.
