

NATASHA RASCON

Born and raised in Albuquerque. My children's father is from the Acoma Reservation. He was a pottery artist and I was his helper. I started by filling in (putting color) then filling in the black. After I got the hang of it I was relining the colors. When we separated in 2010, I started making my own pottery and started to paint.