JANUARY

BRUA

2021

Ξ

Due to the COVID-19 health emergency and following the guidance of state, and county officials, we are only open to essential services. We are still providing medical transportation and wellness checks. We also have someone available for light home maintenance work. The Delay the Disease classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays, are essential because a lapse in classes can really cause a setback in this vulnerable group. If you need a mask or help with food call us. We are available Monday through Friday, 8:00 am to 3:00 pm.

We will continue to assess our operating status as we receive updates from local and state authorities, regarding the spread of the coronavirus disease (COVID-19). As a business that serves the age group most affected by the coronavirus, we can't in good conscience, continue business as usual and risk the health or even worse, the life of any of our members.

So, what now? How can we all stay together and stay connected during this uncertain time?

Home Drive By

We would be happy to do a home drive by. At an agreed upon time, you come outside or sit by your window and we will drive by so you can see us and we can see you. It's our way of showing we're all in this together. We are scheduling the drive bys on Mondays, from 1:00 to 3:00 pm. Just call us at 740-385-6581 to schedule.

Facebook Live and Giveaway

Join us on Facebook Live for a sing along! Sandy Grove and Larry Beal will lead us in singing some oldies but goodies. The sing along will be on January 19th at 11:00 am. Call by January 12th and we will mail you the lyrics to the songs. Go to our Facebook page at the scheduled time to join in.

We will also draw names to giveaway 4-$25.00 Kroger gift cards. Entry for the drawing will be from those who request the song lyrics.

We are looking forward to serving you again soon!

Footcare Clinic

Everyday Divinity Footcare Clinic will be at the Educational & Wellness Center on Monday, January 25th, and Monday March 22nd from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm. Call Jamie to make an appointment,

Medicare Sign Ups

When you're first eligible for Medicare, you have a 7-month Initial Enrollment Period to sign up for Part A and/or Part B.

If you're eligible for Medicare when you turn 65, you can sign up during the 7-month period that:

- Begins 3 months before the month you turn 65 •
- Includes the month you turn 65 • Ends 3 months after the month you turn 65

If you didn't get automatically enrolled in premiumfree Part A (for example, because you're still working and not yet getting Social Security or Railroad Retirement Board (RRB) benefits), you can sign up for premium-free Part A (if you're eligible) any time during or after your Initial Enrollment Period begins. If you're eligible for premium-free Part A, you can enroll in Part A anytime after you're first eligible for Medicare. Your Part A coverage will go back (retroactively) 6 months from when you sign up, but no earlier than the first month you're eligible for Medicare. You can only sign up for Part B during the periods listed below. Your coverage start date will depend on when you sign up. If you have to buy Part A and/or Part B, you can only sign up during a valid enrollment period. If you wait until the month you turn 65 (or the 3 months after you turn 65) to enroll, your Part B coverage will be delayed. This could cause a gap in your coverage.

In most cases, if you don't sign up for Medicare Part B when you're first eligible, you'll have to pay a late enrollment penalty. You'll have to pay this penalty for as long as you have Part B and could

Between January I–March 31 each year

You can sign up for Part A and/or Part B during the General Enrollment Period between January 1-March 31 each year if both of these apply:

- You didn't sign up when you were first eligible ۲
- You aren't eligible for a Special Enrollment Period ٠ Continued

Medicare Continued

To sign up for Part B, complete an Application for Enrollment in Part B (CMS-40B). If you don't have Medicare or you want to sign up for Part A (some people have to pay a premium for Part A), contact Social Security.

Special circumstances (Special Enrollment Periods)

Once your Initial Enrollment Period ends, you may have the chance to sign up for Medicare during a Special Enrollment Period (SEP). If you're covered under a group health plan based on current employment, you have a SEP to sign up for Part A and/or Part B anytime as long as:

• You or your spouse (or family member if you're disabled) is working.

• You're covered by a group health plan through the employer or union based on that work.

You also have an 8-month SEP to sign up for Part A and/or Part B that starts at one of these times (whichever happens first):

- The month after the employment ends
- The month after group health plan insurance based on current employment ends Usually, you don't pay a late enrollment penalty if you sign up during a SEP.

You may also qualify for a Special Enrollment Period for Part A and Part B if you're a volunteer, serving in a foreign country.

COBRA and retiree health plans aren't considered coverage based on current employment. You're not eligible for a Special Enrollment Period when that coverage ends. This Special Enrollment Period also doesn't apply to people who are eligible

OLD FRIENDS ARE BEST

By Patty Sammons

The worn red jacket makes it way down our driveway – cautious steps, stooped shoulders, wooden cane in hand. I smile and open the door to him as he heads straight to my hickory rocker and plops down with a big sigh. Tired legs from decades of farming and illness made this walk a challenge.

"I told Mom I was gonna come see my lil' buddies for a while." That meant three hours. Glad to have him – we'd chat a while and then get to work.

I wasn't always this pleased to see him. I was a mid-30's momma to two young children, extra kids to babysit, a house to keep, a part-time job in Columbus - and now a neighbor to entertain. I simply could not spare idle hours chatting in my living room four or five days a week, accomplishing absolutely nothing on my to-do list, while struggling to keep an eye on lively children.

I could feel my anxiety climbing with each visit until I began to dread the glimpse of that red jacket through my front window. I have always loved older people since I was a small child. I enjoy stories of their histories and life experiences, so I felt ashamed when I didn't want the red jacket in my house anymore. But he kept coming day after day.

He loved all the kids. They piled on his lap, fed him snacks, and sent his mind back decades to tales of his own babies. How one swaddled infant son tumbled off a parked hay wagon as he juggled fatherhood with farming, while his wife worked long hours at a local factory. How he lost a precious teen in a car wreck. How his children did not realize the depth of his pain when they made terrible choices as adults.

Then one day, it finally occurred to me how to make it all work and how I would soon enjoy those daily visits like I so desired. He was known for his homemade bread and handcut noodles with "smashed taters". The next time my buddy arrived, his chair was waiting for him in a different place.

When I spotted that flash of red the following day, I quickly moved the hickory rocker to the entrance of my kitchen. "Teach me to make your noodles, please." His face lit up! I stood at my counter, followed his instructions, and when he said he really ought to go home, I was astonished to find that more than three hours had flown by. My washer and dryer were humming next to my tiny kitchen, the kids were napping, and now I had homemade chicken and noodles for supper! All while savoring the story of how he and his wife of over 60 years had met and courted ...

Every April, we drove to his favorite diner in the next county to celebrate our spring birthdays with huge fried shrimp. We always made a stop at the rural cemetery to visit the graves of his parents and many siblings on the way home. He was the only one left.

As the years passed, I moved the rocking chair each visit to the location of my task at hand. As his health waned, the visits came farther apart until one day the red jacket hung in his closet and he could no longer make the trek. He spent the days in his recliner looking out the bay window. It was my turn to take that walk down our country road. My last walk to him was to a hospital room. He passed away, and then we moved away. I treasure my memories of time spent with him. I still wish I had asked his wife for that old red jacket.
