Call to Double-Down on Safety Measures as Local Covid Rates Double

By Kitty Mayo

The Covid-19 cases in Lake County have increased at a more rapid rate than at any time thus far during the pandemic, doubling in just one week, with about 40 new cases in the last seven days.

Greg Ruberg at Lake View Hospital in Two Harbors says the increase, along with an all-time one day high of 13 new cases on one day in the last week, has been an eye-opener for some.

"It's got people's attention, there's a lot of anxiety and questions. That's good, because this is now a crisis and we have to turn this around quick," said Ruberg.

The primary issue is lack of hospital beds, with ICU beds full across the state. In an emergency for any medical need beyond Covid-19, a hospital bed or ICU care may not be available.

Reports of large indoor gatherings without masks continues to be a problem in our community, and could result in catastrophic spreading of the virus.

If the trend in Minnesota continues along its trajectory without a change in intervention, there is every reason to believe cases and deaths will accelerate in our region.
