

JUST MY OPINION

The absolute nerve of those “Trumps” up there in Washington, DC is beyond reproach. Can you really believe that Melania Trump had the nerve to wear a pair of stilettos while boarding Air Force One to travel to hurricane ravaged Texas? Also can you believe the nerve of President Donald Trump for giving the Texas relief fund one million dollars of his own money? Then he had the nerve to address a huge crowd of Texans at a rally to pledge his support and uplift the victims of Hurricane Harvey!

That is some of the petty news reporting from the main stream media last week. Did they not think that Melania might have a change of clothes aboard the plane? Well, she sure shut their mouths when she exited the plane in Texas wearing a completely different outfit and one that perhaps they could accept. What morons! Then of course they condemned the President for only pledging 1 million dollars of his own money, saying he is so rich he should have given more. Yep, what morons again!

Then there was the rally in Texas, how can he live with himself for holding a rally to praise the comradery and selfless acts of people from all over in the rescue efforts and to promise the federal government’s help in rebuilding what was lost in the storm. According to the lefties, he did it just to beat his own drum. You guessed it, what morons once again. How low can they go? On the humorous side of all this is if that’s all they can come up with, then President Trump must be doing a lot of good!

One (of many) things that President Trump has done recently that I personally love is the pardon of Sheriff Joe Arpaio of Arizona. Sheriff Joe has been one of my heroes for a long time; he was first elected in 1992 and served six terms in Maricopa County. He self-proclaimed to be America’s toughest sheriff and lived up to that claim. He was a relentless crusader against illegal immigrants. He was also known for his unorthodox practices of making inmates wear pink underwear, pink prison coveralls, work on chain gangs and live in tents. Many said this was cruel due to the Arizona heat. I say as long as our military personnel live in tents then it is completely fine for an inmate. Sheriff Joe was targeted by President Obama for his pursuit of illegals in Arizona and was demanded by a liberal judge to cease his persistent arrests of illegals. Sheriff Joe did not give in to the liberal agenda; he kept doing his job as usual. He was arrested and convicted of criminal contempt of court. President Trump’s pardon of Sheriff Joe was the right thing to do!

As always...that’s just my opinion!
