What Gaming Type are You?

by Henry Tamburin

In addition to budget, and educating yourself on how to play correctly, your personality has a lot to do with choosing the right game. Following are some personality types and the games that do, and do not, suit them. Have you found your type yet?

Innovative, imaginative, original

If you always like to try something new and different, you've got several choices in the casino. For starters there are the poker-based table games, Let It Ride, Caribbean Stud Poker and Three-Card Poker. There are also the multi-line video poker machines. If slots are your thing, you've got a slew of choices as new slot machines keep hitting the casino floor almost weekly.

Tightwad, frugal, hate to part with a nickel

Hey, you might think that being frugal and gambling in a casino is an oxymoron, but it isn't. In fact, Jean Scott has written several best-selling books about this (The Frugal Gambler and More Frugal Gambling). Her tips include learning how to play video poker smartly (25-cent and dollar machines) and then take advantage of the comp and slot club promotions.

Emotional, quiet, readily gets upset, hates controversy

Forget craps or blackjack. Your best bet is to play the slot or video poker machines where you can play in solitude and not have to worry about anyone or anything. Frank Scoblete's Slot Conquest: How to Beat the Slot Machines is the book to read.

Always looking for an angle or way to beat the system

Your cup of tea might be playing the comp game in a casino. That's where you try to get as many freebies from the casino as you can to offset the mathematical advantage they have when you play. If you play the comp game correctly, you can actually enjoy a monetary edge over the casino. If you are analytical besides, you've got another option. Learn blackjack card counting. It's another way to beat the casinos at their own game. Frank Scoblete's Beat Blackjack Now! has the easiest card counting system ever developed, Speed Count. You can learn it in 15 minutes!

Extravagant, flamboyant, ostentatious, flashy

If you have a lot of money and want everyone else to know it, then baccarat, blackjack, or craps could be your game. Nothing turns heads more in a casino than the well-dressed man or woman sitting at the baccarat table and betting hundreds of dollars on each round. Except maybe reserving a blackjack table in the middle of the casino floor and playing all the spots with black or purple chips. Bet big enough and the casino may even post a few guards near the table to shush away the tourists as they gawk at your extravagant playing style. Of course, you and your money are always welcome at the craps table, where anything goes.

Gaming News

Casinos Set Big New Record in 2021

According to recent figures released by the American Gaming Association, commercial (non-tribal) casinos nationwide recorded $53 billion in earnings last year, breaking the previous record of $43.6 billion, set in 2019, by 21%. Sports betting generated a $57.2 billion handle, 165% more than 2020, and a $4.29 billion win, a 177% increase year over year and a 7.5 hold percentage. Igaming, bolstered by launches in Michigan (January 2020) and Connecticut (October) also set a record for revenue at $3.7 billion. Revenue records were set in 23 of the 34 casino jurisdictions, with Nevada at $13.4 billion, Pennsylvania $4.8 billion, and New Jersey $4.7 billion leading the way. Tribal revenues had not been released at press time, but the AGA stated that it too should have a strong showing for 2021.

Sports Betting in LA

In the first four days of online sports betting in Louisiana, state residents bet $40.5 million on their devices. The number of unique players making remote wagers was the equivalent of 3.6% of the state's adult population. By comparison, New York's equivalent during its opening few days per capita was 3.4%, according to GeoComply, the geolocation security company. Louisiana betting was artificially inflated by aggressive promoting, including hundreds of dollars of free and matching bets at the six mobile apps, along with former Louisiana State University football stars Joe Burrow and Ja'Marr Chase going to the Super Bowl. NOLA.com reported that up to 90% of the promotional sides and totals were on the Bengals and props involving Joe Burrow. Minus the promotional losses, the books would have posted a $2.7 million win. Still, it shows that the Bayou State will do well with sports betting.

Bingo To Keep Dogs Warm

Those hoping that the Purse Bingo to raise money for Protector of Animal Welfare's new building in Fort Madison, Iowa would do as well as the one they held last year were pleasantly surprised. This year's event attracted a standing-room-only crowd of 160, nearly double the prior fundraiser's attendance. Players vied for top-of-the-line handbags, wallets and purses by Coach, Kate Spade, Michael Kors and others, displayed on a table by the bar. The winner of each game could select the one they wanted. If there were two winners, bingo operator John Shaw held a tiebreaker: the first one to have a number he called on their card would be the ultimate winner. That is exactly what happened on the first game, when Jamee Hudson won and selected a blue Kate Spade bag. Her selection must have been a popular choice because as soon as Hudson grabbed the bag there was a collective groan to be heard from the crowd. P.A.W. has operated a shelter on 48th Street since 1990 and recently kicked off a capital campaign to raise about $5 million to build a new, more efficient facility. Not only will the new shelter provide meet and greet rooms, office space, an intake area, and staff rooms, it will also provide warmer all-indoor housing for the dogs in the winter.

U.S. Supreme Court Talks Bingo

The U.S. Supreme Court justices returned to the bench after their recent mid-winter recess to hear two arguments, both of which involve different aspects of Native American sovereignty. The first case, Ysleta del Sur Pueblo v. Texas questions whether a 1987 federal statute subjects certain Indian tribes in Texas to that state's entire body of gambling law. And the key practical effect is whether the Ysleta del Sur Pueblo and the Alabama-Coushatta tribes may operate bingo games on their reservations. Although the court has ruled before on Indian tribes and bingo, notably in a 1987 case from California that is central to the Texas case, in this case, it is two forms of bingo at the Pueblo tribe's Speaking Rock Entertainment Center near

El Paso, Texas, primarily at issue. The center offers a more traditional type of "live call" bingo as well as electronic bingo machines that one state official said look and sound like "Las Vegas-style slot machines." Rather than run on randomly generated numbers, they use historical bingo draws. Texas sued to block the bingo-themed center, arguing that both live call and the bingo machines violate state law, which authorizes bingo only for certain charitable groups. Justice Samuel Alito asked "how a court is going to decide whether these machines, which I don't have a very clear picture of in my mind, are bingo or not bingo. If they are not bingo, they're something else. Let's say they're 'dingo.'" Breyer suggested consulting a higher authority. "Can we ask my grandmother?" he was quoted as saying. There are a number of more complex aspects to this case, and everyone seems to agree it is not for the Supreme Court to decide in the first instance whether the electronic devices on the Pueblo reservation are bingo machines or slot machines. But, as one Supreme Court expert explained, "by the end of June, only one side will have filled their card with the right five (or more) numbers and be able to say 'Bingo!'"

888 Holdings Sells Bingo Branch

Leading British gambling operator 888 Holdings recently confirmed the sale of its bingo business to Broadway Gaming Group. The decision will allow 888 to focus on other verticals such as sports betting and iGaming, along with growing its footprint in the emerging United States market. The sale is scheduled to be completed during the second quarter 2022 and is subject to the new structure receiving a license to operate under British laws. David Butler, CEO of Broadway Gaming, added: "We are delighted to reach an agreement with 888 to acquire its bingo business and platform. By combining these with our existing business and brands, which include 'Butlers Bingo,' we will be able to achieve an even stronger global footprint in key regulated bingo markets."

Horoscopes for April 2022

ARIES (MAR 21-APR 20): Oddly enough all of the force in your life is coming from behind you right now, so you might be feeling off your mark or a bit wobbly. See if you can arrange for more quiet time and privacy to allow the riches of your unconscious to provide the inspiration you're seeking. This is a perfect time to let the wind carry you.
Lucky Days: 12 - 30
Lucky Numbers: 9 - 37

TAURUS (APR 21-MAY 21): Although spring is associated with new beginnings, the unfolding season is about closure and release for you. You're also ready to put your commitments under the microscope as well. Tried and true ways are on the wane, too. As Aphra Behn noted, "Variety is the soul of pleasure." And no one relishes the simple pleasures of life like you.
Lucky Days: 9 - 21
Lucky Numbers: 4 - 44

GEMINI (MAY 22-JUN 21): With your ruler conjunct Jupiter you're at the top of your game. But only if you include your gut instincts in the strategizing. Sometimes intuition trumps intellect (with fantastic results). If there's one central lesson for you this month that's the one. Patience is required now, too. You'll garner great results if you include friends and colleagues in your Mercurial planning and love of clever techniques.
Lucky Days: 9 - 26
Lucky Numbers: 9 - 54

CANCER (JUN 22-JUL 22): Consider this: You're sitting on a fierce gathering of creative force this month. Aloneness does not equate with loneliness; the advancement you desire right now can only be achieved by private time spent with your muse. The rewards will be quick once you commit and engage.
Lucky Days: 1 - 7
Lucky Numbers: 9 - 50

LEO (JUL 23-AUG 23): Consider yourself officially enrolled in The Academy of Amour. Like any learning experience there will be a wave of highs and lows. Focus on the importance of cooperation and mutual respect. Experiment with offering your light and warmth to compliment and praise those in your inner circle. This sets the heart's wheels spinning and suddenly you're on a new road forward. Perhaps with a new companion too.
Lucky Days: 2 - 8
Lucky Numbers: 35 - 38

VIRGO (AUG 24-SEP 23): With the full moon on the 17th illuminating your sign you're ready to step beyond some of the confusion that's clouded your path. But don't belittle the phase you're leaving behind. When you think about it you've been privy to forms of inspiration—both divine and earthly—that many folks would warmly welcome. Now, it's time to engage with your favorite part of the equation: implementation and making all of the pieces fit together.
Lucky Days: 3 - 4
Lucky Numbers: 5 - 23

LIBRA (SEP 24-OCT 23): A fantastic month to make headway on whatever new plan or enterprise you're wishing to set in motion. You've landed on the exact formula you need to attract all of the elements necessary to succeed. Picasso has created a motto for you too: "What one does is what counts, and not what one had the intention of doing." Anyone can have an intention, fortunately you're ready for action.
Lucky Days: 9 - 11
Lucky Numbers: 5 - 37

SCORPIO (OCT 24th-NOV 22nd): Lots of harmonious vibrations flowing your way this month. Don't squander the blessings. Consider it a grace period from the cosmos as Uranus, the planet of sudden insights (and occasional disruptions) continues to free you from old habits and ways. The full moon on the 17th creates an opportunity to enter a new social circle that promises to expand your horizons.
Lucky Days: 9 - 19
Lucky Numbers: 33 - 44

SAGITTARIUS (NOV 23rd-DEC 21st): The full moon on the 17th has your thinking cap lit up like a Christmas tree. Bring structure to your enthusiasm by setting a schedule or routine that helps you capture the real gems within your newfound treasure chest of ideas.

Lucky Days: 13 - 23
Lucky Numbers: 8 - 23

CAPRICORN (DEC 22nd-JAN 20th): The full moon on the 17th ushers in a breakthrough or ultimatum related to long-term goals. Although what appears to be revelation might be another facet of a familiar mystery. Wait patiently for your destination to find you.
Lucky Days: 7 - 14
Lucky Numbers: 45 - 50

AQUARIUS (JAN 21st-FEB 19th): Time to actually bring into the world what you experience as beautiful. But first you'll need to dispel old attitudes about creativity. Most of us have had that spirit disrupted, via comparison, when we are young. Reclaim your eccentric nature and commit your enthusiasm to creating something tangible. The important thing is to engage with what gives pleasure and make it work for you.
Lucky Days: 10 - 28
Lucky Numbers: 5 - 17

PISCES (FEB 20th-MAR 20th): Nearly half of the solar system is moving through your sign this month, with the full moon on the 17th pushing you directly into the spotlight (or crosshairs) of fate. Do you feel the force and the pressure to show up and take a seat in your throne? Ask yourself: Where am I exactly? And then set about communicating your new locale to the world. Help the rest of us revel in the thrill of discovering new worlds, new ways, new talents. We're waiting.
Lucky Days: 6 - 8
Lucky Numbers: 23 - 41

■ To Your Good Health Fasting for Blood Tests

Dear Dr. Roach,
My daughter is a registered nurse, and tells me that when getting blood tests, it is not necessary to fast eight to 12 hours even though my doctor says to do so. Four hours is enough, she claims. Is this true, or is my daughter trying to be a doctor, if you know what I mean? — L.C.

Dear L.C.,
I probably agree with your daughter the nurse more than I do with your doctor in this case. Most routine blood testing does not require fasting. There is controversy about whether cholesterol testing is best done fasting or not: Most recent evidence suggests that fasting is not necessary. However, many physicians still continue to use fasting levels, as that is what they are used to. Nonfasting numbers may reflect the true state of risk to the arteries more so than fasting levels.

A few seldom-ordered tests, such as insulin levels, may need to be drawn precisely a certain period of time after feeding to be able to interpret them. In most cases, your daughter is probably right that prolonged fasting is unnecessary. I still recommend following your doctor's orders.

Your daughter is providing you with up-to-date medical knowledge. Any nurse or doctor should do the same.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

Q: I've read that pets can keep seniors healthy, through reducing stress, etc. How does that work?
— Joel P., Fort Myers, FL

A: Researchers have found that seniors who own pets have a reduced rate of stress-related ailments, so they've theorized that having an animal companion helps seniors feel less alone and somewhat empowered as they care for a cat, dog, fish or other pet. The unconditional love and affection that pets provide can help their owners feel needed and important, and can help to enhance their quality of life. So, the simple act of caring for a pet can create a longer, happier life for many people.

But there are more benefits to pet ownership. Owners are more likely to interact with other animal lovers. They tend to exercise more than pet-less people — especially dog owners, who must take their pooches for frequent walks.

Of course, if a senior doesn't want a dog or cat, the idea shouldn't be pushed. Owners must be able to care for, walk and feed their pets, and provide training and activities. There also are financial considerations, such as regular veterinary care, food and medicine.

An alternative to owning a pet is to visit one (or have one visit) occasionally. There are organizations across the United States that sponsor pet visits for seniors who love animals but cannot care for one full-time.

If nothing else, take time out to say hello to the neighbor's dog, or spend time with relatives and their pets. They'll love the attention, and you'll love the stress relief that pets can provide.

Bad Pet Breath Can Mean Health Issues

By the age of three, 80% of dogs and 70% of cats show signs of dental disease. If your pet has smelly breath, it could be a warning sign. Pet parents might not know that bad breath is caused by harmful bacteria and can be an indicator of oral disease. Harmful bacteria in the mouth can also work its way under the gum line, cause gum disease and get into the bloodstream. It gets worse. Bacteria in the blood can harm joints, damage organs and lead to chronic disease.

Doctor's Advice

Pets' oral health can be vastly improved with an oral-care probiotic. ProBiora3®, a blend of three beneficial bacteria strains, is all natural and packed with beneficial bacteria. This abundance of "good bacteria" crowds out the "bad bacteria" and does away with the source of bad breath. Simply sprinkle one scoop daily into your pet's food.

The blend also supports gum and tooth health, freshens breath and naturally whitens teeth. It's been called the most comprehensive oral-care probiotics technology currently available in the pet oral healthcare market. The scientific basis for these oral health benefits has been documented in numerous peer-reviewed publications over the last 30 years.

Veterans Post

TeleHealth Visits

The deployment of the new electronic health record at one of the Department Veterans Affairs health systems has been delayed. As of now, so many employees are sick with COVID-19 and unable to work that the rollout has been moved from March 5 to April 30.

That particular system, with multiple VA locations in 15 counties, currently has a COVID positivity rate of over 30% with one county seeing an increase of 150% in the past two weeks.

Think about that, and ask yourself: Can your next appointment at the VA be accomplished via TeleHealth? While the VA was one of the first agencies to mandate that all their employees be vaccinated against COVID, facts and figures show that it's not complete protection.

TeleHealth uses computers, phones and tablets to connect you with your medical team in real-time video or a phone call. Accessing care this way means you don't have physically go in. This can be especially helpful if you are in a rural area far from a VA facility or are disabled, older or very ill. You can even talk to specialists via TeleHealth.

If you're not signed up, start here: telehealth.va.gov. Scroll down to See How It Works. On that same page, click on My HealthVet. From there you can track appointments, get messages from your care team, view or print your medical records or refill your prescriptions.

Don't miss the VA Mobile Apps link. That's where you can get your Video Connect app for iOS, web or Android. Note that AT&T, SafeLink by TracFone, T-Mobile and Verizon will help you avoid data charges when using the VA Video Connect app. You'll also find the 24/7 help desk to get your app going (866) 651-3180 and a test site to try a practice session.

The VA has gone all out in battling COVID-19. Consider doing your part and ask if your next appointment can be accomplished from home via TeleHealth.

To Auto-Daub or Not to Auto-Daub?

Dear Guy,

What are your feelings about Bingo machines? I've been curious to try one, but I also like dabbing on paper Bingo cards and the machines look like they might be boring—they do all the work for you while you sit there twiddling your thumbs waiting for the machine to go beep. — Len C., via e-mail

Dear Len,

The machines are as fun as you make them: You punch in the number and the machines tracks your cards, so you'll never miss a Bingo. Obviously, the big attraction is that they allow a slow player to play more cards. They also give people with disabilities, who might not be physically able to dab paper cards, the opportunity to play along with the best.

I've tried Bingo machines and definitely see their merits. And that's saying something, because I'm not a big fan of most technology. (I find it pushy.) And it definitely cuts down on missed numbers.

But, bottom line—I prefer my good ol' ink dabber and paper. If I didn't have something in front of me to think, I'd get way bored way fast. — Guy

Hey guys! (And gals!) Write to Guy's Turn c/o The Bingo Bugle, P.O. Box 527, Vashon, WA 98070, or e-mail Guy directly at tara@bingobugle.com

Now why am I criticized when I tip? And how do we know how much to tip...if we decide to tip at all? I wish they had a No Tipping policy, and no flack from the attendants when we don't tip what they think we should tip.

Right now I love to play Bingo but will never play Bingo at this hall again. Instead of making me feel how lucky I am, I now feel badly. No one has ever made me feel this way before. Is there anything I should do? Someone should be told how badly they made me feel and that they have lost me as a Bingo player forever. I will not go back there again.

I would appreciate your answer, and tell me what I did wrong. — Upset Bingo Player, via email

Dear Upset,

It really is a shame that you were made to feel badly at Bingo. Winning any jackpot is fun, but winning a big pot truly is heaven. The last thing you want is for someone to come along and spoil the moment.

The fact that there is tipping tells me this is a for-profit hall. As such, this means that it is being operated not by volunteers, but by Bingo professionals. And browbeating a player to me is not being professional.

That said, you have to remember that tipping is an established part of the service profession, and most establishments have an accepted tipping rate. If you go to dinner, you are expected to tip your server 15-20% of the cost of the meal. So, a $100 meal would have a tip of $20. When you have your hair done, you typically tip the stylist at the same rate.

Assuming that tipping at this gaming hall is similar, and you won $800, then a tip of 10% would be $80 and 5% would be $40. You tipped $20, or 2.5%, which might seem pretty low to the attendant.

I know how hard it can be to suddenly win a lot of money and have someone there expecting to get a piece of it. But, like dining out, you have to have the mindset that tipping is going to be part of the "winning experience." Look at it as sharing the joy! — Aunt Bingo

Share your views! Write to Aunt Bingo c/o the Bingo Bugle, P.O. Box 527, Vashon, WA 98070, or email her at tara@bingobugle.com. Be sure to include your name and address (you can request that your name not be published), as typically she will not include anonymous letters in her columns.

- If your dog likes a treat of moistened dry food from time to time, use the water from cooking vegetables. It has a bit of flavor and some vitamins, too!

- Do you have a screw loose ... in your eyeglasses? This is an easy fix. Paint the screw with a dab of clear nail polish and quickly re-screw. It works like glue. Dab the top of the screw for a little extra insurance.

- Here's an old tip, but a good one: Before going away on vacation, put a couple of ice cubes in a plastic baggie, and set it at the front of the freezer. When you return, if there is any evidence of melting, you will know you lost power while you were gone. If the bag is one big, flat cube, you lost power long enough to suspect all your refrigerator items of being spoiled.

- Cut your kitchen sponge in half, or even thirds. You can clean just as well with a smaller sponge, and you will extend its life, saving you money. A smaller sponge dries out more quickly, too.

Send your tips to: Now Here's a Tip, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, FL 32803.

Bye-Bye Bingo Hall

Dear Aunt Bingo,

Something happened that I think should NEVER happen again. One of the Bingo attendants made me feel bad because I didn't tip enough ($20).

I had just hit the coverall Bingo for $800. I was in seventh heaven. I play there a lot and have never hit such a large Bingo. I did not even know what I hit; I was just so excited that I had won.

I have spent so much money on Bingo but have only hit once in a while. I am 88 years old, live on Social Security and lost my husband last year, and still owe so much on his debts. I was so excited that I would be able to pay some money on his debts.

"SAVVY SENIOR"
 YOU ASK THE SENIOR QUESTION
 ~ WE FIND THE SAVVY ANSWER

What to Know About Enrolling in Medicare

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you give me a brief rundown of Medicare's enrollment choices along with when and how to sign-up? — Approaching 65

Dear Approaching,

The rules and timetables for Medicare enrollment can be confusing to many new retirees, so it's smart to plan ahead. Here's a simplified rundown of what to know.

First a quick review. Remember that original Medicare has two parts: Part A, which provides hospital coverage and is free for most people, and Part B which covers doctor's visits and other medical services, and costs $170.10 per month for most enrollees in 2021.

When to Enroll

Everyone is eligible for Medicare at age 65, even if your full Social Security retirement age is 66 or later.

You can enroll any time during the "initial enrollment period," which is a seven-month period that includes the three months before, the month of, and the three months after your 65th birthday. It's best to enroll three months before your birth month to ensure your coverage starts when you turn 65.

If you happen to miss the seven-month sign-up window for Medicare Part B, you'll have to wait until the next "general enrollment period" which runs from Jan. 1 to March 31 with benefits beginning the following July 1. You'll also incur a 10 percent penalty for each year you wait beyond your initial enrollment period, which will be tacked on to your monthly Part B premium. You can sign up for premium-free Part A, at any time with no penalty.

Working Exceptions

Special rules apply if you're eligible for Medicare and still on the job. If you have health insurance coverage through your employer or your spouse's employer, and the company has 20 or more employees, you have a "special enrollment period" in which you can sign up. This means that you can delay enrolling in Medicare Part B and are not subject to the 10 percent late-enrollment penalty as long as you sign up within eight months of losing that coverage.

Drug Coverage

Be aware that original Medicare does not cover prescription medications, so if you don't have credible drug coverage from an employer or union, you'll need to buy a Part D drug plan from a private insurance company (see Medicare.gov/plan-compare) during your initial enrollment if you want coverage. If you don't, you'll incur a premium penalty — 1 percent of the average national premium ($33 in 2022) for every month you don't have coverage — if you enroll later.

Supplemental Coverage

If you choose original Medicare, it's also a good idea to get a Medigap (Medicare supplemental) policy within six months after enrolling in Part B to help pay for things that aren't covered by Medicare like copayments, coinsurance and deductibles. See Medicare.gov/medigap-supplemental-insurance-plans to shop and compare policies.

All-In-One Plans

Instead of getting original Medicare, plus a Part D drug plan and a Medigap policy, you could sign up for a Medicare Advantage plan instead (see Medicare.gov/plan-compare) that covers everything in one plan. Nearly half of all new Medicare enrollees are signing up for Advantage plans.

These plans, which are also sold by insurance companies, are generally available through HMOs and PPOs and often have cheaper premiums, but their deductibles and co-pays are usually higher. Many of these plans also provide coverage for extra services not offered by original Medicare like dental, hearing and vision coverage along with gym/fitness memberships, and most plans include prescription drug coverage too.

How to Enroll

If you're already receiving your Social Security benefits before 65, you will automatically be enrolled in Part A and Part B, and you'll receive your Medicare card about three months before your 65th birthday. It will include instructions to return it if you have work coverage that qualifies you for late enrollment.

If you're not receiving Social Security, you'll need to enroll either online at SSA.gov/medicare or over the phone at 800-772-1213.

Poker Talk

Playing on the Biggest Stage

By Tristan Wade

The World Series of Poker recently wrapped up. I had a decent series with six cashes and numerous deep runs. One of the more exciting achievements was finishing 111th out of 6,650 people in the $10,000 Main Event. Let's talk about a hand I played halfway through Day 5.

With about 200 players remaining and blinds at 20,000/40,000, I raised to 85,000 from UTG (under the gun) at a nine-handed table with 2s-2c. Action folded around to the big blind and they called. This opponent was a very successful poker player who started the hand with roughly 1.3 million chips to my 2.6 million chips.

The flop landed Qh-Qs-8h. The big blind checked and I bet 50,000 into a pot of 230,000. They responded by check-raising to 145,000. I decided to throw out another raise and made it 285,000 to continue. The big blind called.

The turn brought the Kd and the big blind checked. I checked as well.

The Ks landed on the river and the big blind bet 100,000 into a pot of around 800,000. I mulled over my options, eyed their stack, which was nearly a million chips behind, then put in a raise to 275,000. My opponent let out an exasperated sigh and leaned back in his seat. After about thirty seconds, he threw in the remaining chips to call. I showed my bluff, and he tabled Qs-9c for a full house. I think his play is fine, but let's talk about my decision-making.

From first position with my stack size, I could just fold the smallest of pairs preflop. I decided against this in the moment because I was trying to find more hands to play to pressure shorter stacks at the table. When I bet small on this flop, it is somewhat of a standard play with my whole range. Once I faced resistance, I could have just folded on the flop as well.

My opponent was aggressive and creative. I felt like they could raise me with a queen, absolutely nothing, or as a semi-bluff with a lot of draws. Particularly 9T, JT, J9, and various heart flush-draw combinations. For this reason, I put in the third bet on the flop: to pressure those weaker hands and represent a really strong hand myself.

Once I was called and the Kd came on the turn, the jig was up. I did not feel confident to continue to bluff this board, plus I could be ahead of those aforementioned hands above, so I decided to check back. There are a couple strong hands I could play this way, such as Kx of hearts, or KQ. If I had 88 or AQ, I would most likely continue betting the turn.

When the Ks was dealt on the river and my opponent bet 100,000, I really felt like they were weak or scared of future action. This was mostly based on an in-game read and their bet size. My hand is also counterfeited, meaning I am playing the board.

My initial thought was that I needed to go all-in or fold. My hand didn't interact with any of their bluffs, plus I usually won't arrive to the river with many bluffs played this way. What I considered the most was: Will my opponent fold a queen here? The only bet size which specifically pressures that hand is all-in, which is roughly the size of the pot. My opponent would then need to think deeply about if they are calling all-in to chop, or possibly be eliminated by KQ, KK or Kx of hearts, going for maximum value.

If there were a time to apply a ton of pressure with a crazy bluff, this would be it, with 200 people left in the biggest poker tournament on the planet. Unfortunately for me, I believe I went with the worst option on the river. Making a small raise might have won me the hand if they were bluffing, but would they even bet in that situation if that were the case?

Finding spots to play aggressively while selectively putting people to the test is a skill the world's best players have tuned in. But then again, you can always fold.

What's New in Nevada

New Cirque's Show

Cirque du Soleil has a new show set to open at New York-New York on May 26. Mad Apple will be “a cocktail of music, comedy, magic, and mayhem that puts NYC nightlife under the Las Vegas lights. Each act will reflect a different nocturnal side of New York, brought to life by underground stars, high-flying acrobats, street performers, up-and-coming entertainers, and the biggest musical hits to come out of the City.” The show features comedian Brad Williams, marking the first time a standup comic will headline a Cirque production, along with freestyle rapper Chris Turner, musical director and lead vocalist Xharlie Black, and a cast of 39, all “creating an experience that will feel like a giant party from start to finish.”

Lucky Hit at Caesars

A lucky Utah man playing Ultimate Texas Hold 'Em at Caesars Palace wound up with a royal flush in clubs to hit the Mega Progressive Jackpot for $779,148.50. The player said he was a veteran at UTH and will use the winnings to pay off his house.

Vegas Vegan News

Sometime in May or June, the Los Angeles-based vegan restaurant Crossroads Kitchen will open at Resorts World. When it does, it will be the first vegan fine-dining restaurant on the Strip, serving the likes of artichoke oysters topped with kelp caviar, roasted truffle potatoes, beet tartare, stuffed zucchini blossoms, and house-made pasta. A second Resorts World location, CB/Crossroads Burgers, will purvey vegan burgers, sausage, fries, and milkshakes. Crossroads' founder Tal Ronnen is no stranger to Vegas; he worked with the Wynn's culinary team a decade ago to introduce vegan options on all the Wynn's menus. He's also the author of two vegan cookbooks, was Oprah Winfrey's personal chef, and catered Ellen DeGeneres' 2008 wedding.

Vegas Pizza Spots Make Top 100

The online review site, Yelp.com, created a list of the Top Places for Pizza in the U.S., based on the all-time total number and ratings of reviews. The four Las Vegas pizza places that made the list are: #29: Marsigliano's Pizzeria; #40: Lucino's Pizza; #75: Evel Pie (a Las Vegas Advisor favorite); and #92: Old School Pizzeria. Smiling with Hope Pizza in Reno was ranked at number three. Smiling is as popular for its ethics as its New York-style thin-crust pizza; it doesn't work with third-party delivery services (which can compromise quality) and hires and trains people with disabilities.

Looking Back on Coin-Op Slots

Over the years, the endorphin triggering sound of coins hitting a metal tray has disappeared from casino floors across Las Vegas. It won't surprise you that coin dispensing slots, with their million moving parts, require a significant amount of maintenance. In addition to maintenance, backfilling machines with coinage, and the requirement to handle all those coins is burdensome for the casino. Gameplay is also much faster when players use modern Ticket-in Ticket-out (TITO) technology vs. inserting and taking payment with coins and tokens.

As such, most casinos have moved to convert their coin slot machines and video poker to TITO operation because it is easier for the house, and less expensive.

But many of us still crave that metallic ting that has gone quiet on so many gaming floors. For those that do, the following Las Vegas casinos still offer coin-operated slots and video poker.

Circus Circus offers one of the more extensive selections of token slots, about 20 machines, that dispense $1 tokens near the front entry. At this point, Circus Circus is the only casino on the Strip to offer real coin/token slot games.

El Cortez features an impressive collection of coin-operated machines with an assortment of over 200 video poker variants. Those can be found in the back of the casino near Subway. Only one well-marked bank of dollar slots that accept and dispense tokens has survived, however, near Ike's bar.

California, which is steps away from Fremont Street still offers a number of coin video poker games. The small group of quarter video poker games can be found just inside the front entrance on the left-hand side.

The D Casino & Hotel has replaced nearly all of their coin-operated slots with TITO technology. They are, however, the last property in Las Vegas to offer the coin-operated Sigma Derby horse racing game. Make stopping over a priority as Sigma is notoriously challenging to maintain.

Realistically, coin and token-operated machines will continue to ride off into the sunset as parts become scarcer over time.

Have you ever stuffed a sweet potato? I love baked potatoes that are stuffed with bacon and cheese. Do you have a recipe for sweet potatoes with stuffing? — Hadley G. from Indianapolis

Dear Hadley,

I have a very good recipe for stuffed sweet potatoes. I hope you like it, too. Stay safe and healthy. — Annie

STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

- 6 medium sweet potatoes
- vegetable oil
- 3 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
- 1 8.5-ounce can crushed pineapple in its own juice, drained
- 1 6-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Scrub the potatoes and rub well with the oil. Bake until soft; about an hour. Let cool slightly. Slice the potatoes in half lengthwise, scrape out the potato, leaving the skin intact. Mash the potato until smooth. In a large bowl, blend in the butter, crushed pineapple, orange juice concentrate and salt. Stir in the walnuts. Stuff the potato shells with the potato mixture. Refrigerate, covered for several hours or overnight. Heat the oven to 400 degrees. Bake uncovered for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with the marshmallows. Continue baking until the marshmallows are melted; about 5 to 7 minutes. This makes 12 servings,
