From Jerry French & the Bible Research Class

I wrote, produced and directed “I Am A Caregiver” in 2015. After two screenings in Los Angeles and Canada, it was shown on yesterday during the Indie Memphis International Film Festival at the Hattiloo Theatre. I am the only black female filmmaker in the line up, so this is a dual honor as a hometown artist. The final showing is tonight at 9pm at the Malco Studio On The Square, 2105 Court Ave. 38104, 725.7151 in the Overton Square District.

I appreciate all your support in making the production of this Documentary possible and your attendance on yesterday and tonight. There are a few tickets available for tonight (must arrive 20 mins before showing). Tickets are required for attendance-($10 as charged by Indie Memphis). You may purchase tickets one of two ways: online via www.indiememphis.com, or at the door PROVIDED seating is available,

Onsite parking is available, but limited. Street parking is available for overflow. Please share this information with friends, family, co-workers and students. Let’s fill the house in support of black films.

Thank you for your continuous support! Kathy Lofton
