If your checking out ANY company, always go to real credible sources. Be aware that there are companies that extort money from companies, like www.consumerreports.com.

Websites that Extort Money from Other Companies

Consumer Reports - is a “for profit” business, it is not government or state owned at all. This company only shows negative reviews for a company until the company pays a yearly fee, then they list positive reviews. They hold companies hostage to pay a huge fee or not be allowed dispute complaints.

One-off complaints - All companies have complaints, we are the best energy company, but we are not perfect. With 1.7 million customers, we have some complaints. Most are based on customers “forgetting” to renew thier yearly contracts even though they are sent 2 seperate reminders. In full discloser, I found 500 complaints out of 1.7 million customers. This is .00294 of 1%, which is less than 1/3 of 1%. This is why we are the #1 Direct Selling Energy Company in the United States!

Do yourself a favor, Google search complaints on your cell phone company, you will see thousands! You still stay with them, correct? Google your current energy provider, you will see complaints there also, the point is, look at valid reputable sources to see if the company is really solid, or not.

Bottom line is this, Ambit is an amazinly solid company. If people don't want to see it, it's on them. We have all the accolades and market-wide proof that we need!
