SAMUEL WASHINGTON

Director- Center for Energy and
Environmental Studies at SUBR

Dr. Samuel Washington has over 32 years of combined experience in higher education and industry. Dr. Washington currently serves as Director for the Center for Energy and Environmental Studies at Southern University, Baton Rouge. Dr. Washington was instrumental in initiating the DoD Mentor-Protégé Program and Student Mentor-Protégé Program at Southern University, which led to the development of contracting work with various federal agencies. The Center for Energy and Environmental Studies is now leading historically Black Colleges and Universities in contracting work with the federal government, with over $25 million dollars in contract awards over the last 15 years. His experience with the Mentor-Protégé and contract programs at Southern allows him to provide oversight, coordination, and guidance to task managers, staff, and faculty who will work on various projects at the Baton Rouge Campus. Prior to his work at Southern, Dr. Washington worked for 20 years in the field of research and development at Dow Chemical, Plaquemines, Louisiana.
