

A Midsummer Night's Dream (CFTC 2022)
By William Shakespeare

ACT I

5 SCENE I. Athens. The palace of THESEUS.

Enter THESEUS, HIPPOLYTA, PHILOSTRATE, and Attendants

THESEUS

10 Now, fair Hippolyta, our nuptial hour
Draws on apace. Four happy days bring in Another moon--but, O, methinks, how slow
This old moon wanes! she lingers my desires,
15 Like to a step-dame or a dowager
Long withering out a young man's revenue.

HIPPOLYTA

20 Four days will quickly steep themselves in night;
Four nights will quickly dream away the time;
And then the moon, like to a silver bow
New-bent in heaven, shall behold the night
25 Of our solemnities.

THESEUS

Go, Philostrate,
30 Stir up the Athenian youth to merriments.
Awake the pert and nimble spirit of mirth.
Turn melancholy forth to funerals--
The pale companion is not for our pomp.

Exit PHILOSTRATE

35 Hippolyta, I woo'd thee with my sword,
And won thy love, doing thee injuries.
But I will wed thee in another key,
40 With pomp, with triumph and with revelling.

Enter EGEUS, HERMIA, LYSANDER, and DEMETRIUS

EGEUS

45 Happy be Theseus, our renowned duke!

THESEUS

50 Thanks, good Egeus. What's the news with thee?

EGEUS

55 Full of vexation come I, with complaint
Against my child, my daughter Hermia.
Stand forth, Demetrius. My noble lord,
This man hath my consent to marry her.
Stand forth, Lysander. And, my gracious duke,
This man hath bewitch'd the bosom of my child.
Thou, thou, Lysander, thou hast given her rhymes,
60 And interchanged love-tokens with my child.
Thou hast by moonlight at her window sung,

With feigning voice verses of feigning love,
And stolen the impression of her fantasy
With bracelets of thy hair, rings, gawds, conceits,
Knacks, trifles, nosegays, sweetmeats, messengers
5 Of strong prevailment in unhardened youth.
With cunning hast thou filch'd my daughter's heart,
Turn'd her obedience, which is due to me,
To stubborn harshness. And, my gracious duke
10 Be it so she will not here before your grace
Consent to marry with Demetrius,
I beg the ancient privilege of Athens:
As she is mine, I may dispose of her -
Which shall be either to this gentleman
Or to her death, according to our law
15 Immediately provided in that case.

THESEUS

What say you, Hermia? be advised fair maid.
20 To you your father should be as a god,
One that composed your beauties, yea, and one
To whom you are but as a form in wax
By him imprinted and within his power
25 To leave the figure or disfigure it.
Demetrius is a worthy gentleman.

HERMIA

30 So is Lysander.

THESEUS

In himself he is;
35 But in this kind, wanting your father's voice,
The other must be held the worthier.

HERMIA

40 I would my father look'd but with my eyes.

THESEUS

Rather your eyes must with his judgment look.

45 HERMIA

I do entreat your grace to pardon me.
I know not by what power I am made bold,
Nor how it may concern my modesty
50 In such a presence here to plead my thoughts,
But I beseech your grace that I may know
The worst that may befall me in this case,
If I refuse to wed Demetrius.

55 THESEUS

Either to die the death or to abjure
Forever the society of men.
Therefore, fair Hermia, question your desires,
60 Know of your youth, examine well your blood,
Whether, if you yield not to your father's choice,

5        You can endure the livery of a nun,
         For aye to be in shady cloister mew'd,
         To live a barren sister all your life,
         Chanting faint hymns to the cold fruitless moon.
         Thrice-blessed they that master so their blood,
         To undergo such maiden pilgrimage;
         But earthlier happy is the rose distill'd
         Than that which, withering on the virgin thorn,
10        Grows, lives and dies in single blessedness.

HERMIA

15        So will I grow, so live, so die, my lord,
         Ere I will yield my virgin patent up
         Unto his lordship, whose unwished yoke
         My soul consents not to give sovereignty.

THESEUS

20        Take time to pause; and, by the next new moon -
         The sealing-day betwixt my love and me,
         For everlasting bond of fellowship -
         Upon that day either prepare to die
25        For disobedience to your father's will,
         Or else to wed Demetrius, as he would,
         Or on Diana's altar to protest
         For aye austerity and single life.

DEMETRIUS

30        Relent, sweet Hermia; and, Lysander, yield
         Thy crazed title to my certain right.

LYSANDER

35        You have her father's love, Demetrius;
         Let me have Hermia's. Do you marry him.

EGEUS

40        Scornful Lysander, true, he hath my love;
         And what is mine my love shall render him,
         And she is mine, and all my right of her
         I do estate unto Demetrius.

45

LYSANDER

50        I am, my lord, as well derived as he,
         As well possess'd. My love is more than his,
         My fortunes every way as fairly rank'd,
         If not with vantage, as Demetrius';
         And, which is more than all these boasts can be,
         I am beloved of beauteous Hermia.
         Why should not I then prosecute my right?
55        Demetrius, I'll avouch it to his head,
         Made love to Nedar's daughter, Helena,
         And won her soul, and she, sweet lady, dotes,
         Devoutly dotes, dotes in idolatry,
         Upon this spotted and inconstant man.

60

THESEUS

I must confess that I have heard so much,
And with Demetrius thought to have spoke thereof;
But, being over-full of self-affairs,
5 My mind did lose it. But, Demetrius, come,
And come, Egeus. You shall go with me.
I have some private schooling for you both.
For you, fair Hermia, look you arm yourself
To fit your fancies to your father's will,
10 Or else the law of Athens yields you up -
Which by no means we may extenuate -
To death, or to a vow of single life.
Come, my Hippolyta; what cheer, my love?
Demetrius and Egeus, go along.
15 I must employ you in some business
Against our nuptial and confer with you
Of something nearly that concerns yourselves.

20 EGEUS

With duty and desire we follow you.

Exeunt all but LYSANDER and HERMIA

25 LYSANDER

How now, my love! Why is your cheek so pale?
How chance the roses there do fade so fast?

30 HERMIA

Belike for want of rain, which I could well
Beteem them from the tempest of my eyes.

35 LYSANDER

Ay me! for aught that I could ever read,
Could ever hear by tale or history,
40 The course of true love never did run smooth;
But, either it was different in blood--

HERMIA

O cross! Too high to be enthrall'd to low.

45

LYSANDER

Or else misgrafted in respect of years--

50 HERMIA

O spite! Too old to be engaged to young.

LYSANDER

55

Or else it stood upon the choice of friends--

HERMIA

60 O hell! To choose love by another's eyes.

LYSANDER

Or, if there were a sympathy in choice,
War, death, or sickness did lay siege to it,
5 Making it momentary as a sound,
Swift as a shadow, short as any dream,
Brief as the lightning in the collied night,
That, in a spleen, unfolds both heaven and earth,
And ere a man hath power to say 'Behold!',
10 The jaws of darkness do devour it up:
So quick bright things come to confusion.

HERMIA

15 If then true lovers have been ever cross'd,
It stands as an edict in destiny.
Then let us teach our trial patience,
Because it is a customary cross,
As due to love as thoughts and dreams and sighs,
20 Wishes and tears, poor fancy's followers.

LYSANDER

A good persuasion. Therefore, hear me, Hermia.
25 I have a widow aunt, a dowager
Of great revenue, and she hath no child.
From Athens is her house remote seven leagues;
And she respects me as her only son.
There, gentle Hermia, may I marry thee,
30 And to that place the sharp Athenian law
Cannot pursue us. If thou lovest me then,
Steal forth thy father's house to-morrow night,
And in the wood, a league without the town,
Where I did meet thee once with Helena
35 To do observance to a morn of May,
There will I stay for thee.

HERMIA

40 My good Lysander!
I swear to thee, by Cupid's strongest bow,
By his best arrow with the golden head,
By the simplicity of Venus' doves,
By that which knitteth souls and prospers loves,
45 And by that fire which burn'd the Carthage queen,
When the false Trojan under sail was seen,
By all the vows that ever men have broke,
In number more than ever women spoke,
In that same place thou hast appointed me,
50 To-morrow truly will I meet with thee.

LYSANDER

55 Keep promise, love. Look, here comes Helena.

Enter HELENA

HERMIA

60 God speed fair Helena! Whither away?

HELENA

5       Call you me fair? That fair again unsay.
Demetrius loves your fair: O happy fair!
Your eyes are lode-stars, and your tongue's sweet air
More tuneable than lark to shepherd's ear,
When wheat is green, when hawthorn buds appear.
Sickness is catching: O, were favour so,
Yours would I catch, fair Hermia, ere I go;
10      My ear should catch your voice, my eye your eye,
My tongue should catch your tongue's sweet melody.
Were the world mine, Demetrius being bated,
The rest I'd give to be to you translated.
O, teach me how you look, and with what art
15      You sway the motion of Demetrius' heart.

HERMIA

20      I frown upon him, yet he loves me still.

HELENA

O that your frowns would teach my smiles such skill!
25      HERMIA

I give him curses, yet he gives me love.

HELENA

30      O that my prayers could such affection move!

HERMIA

35      The more I hate, the more he follows me.

HELENA

40      The more I love, the more he hateth me.

HERMIA

His folly, Helena, is no fault of mine.

45      HELENA

None, but your beauty: would that fault were mine!

HERMIA

50      Take comfort: he no more shall see my face;
Lysander and myself will fly this place.
Before the time I did Lysander see,
Seem'd Athens as a paradise to me.
55      O, then, what graces in my love do dwell,
That he hath turn'd a heaven unto a hell!

LYSANDER

60      Helen, to you our minds we will unfold:
To-morrow night, when Phoebe doth behold

Her silver visage in the watery glass,
Decking with liquid pearl the bladed grass,
A time that lovers' flights doth still conceal,
Through Athens' gates have we devised to steal.

HERMIA

And in the wood, where often you and I
Upon faint primrose-beds were wont to lie,
Emptying our bosoms of their counsel sweet,
There my Lysander and myself shall meet,
And thence from Athens turn away our eyes,
To seek new friends and stranger companies.
Farewell, sweet playfellow. Pray thou for us,
And good luck grant thee thy Demetrius!
Keep word, Lysander. We must starve our sight
From lovers' food till morrow deep midnight.

LYSANDER

I will, my Hermia.

Exit HERMIA

Helena, adieu.
As you on him, Demetrius dote on you!

Exit

HELENA

How happy some o'er other some can be!
Through Athens I am thought as fair as she.
But what of that? Demetrius thinks not so.
He will not know what all but he do know;
And as he errs, doting on Hermia's eyes,
So I, admiring of his qualities.
Things base and vile, holding no quantity,
Love can transpose to form and dignity.
Love looks not with the eyes, but with the mind,
And therefore is wing'd Cupid painted blind.
Nor hath Love's mind of any judgement taste;
Wings and no eyes figure unheedy haste.
And therefore is Love said to be a child,
Because in choice he is so oft beguiled.
As waggish boys in game themselves forswear,
So the boy Love is perjured every where:
For ere Demetrius look'd on Hermia's eyne,
He hail'd down oaths that he was only mine;
And when this hail some heat from Hermia felt,
So he dissolved, and showers of oaths did melt.
I will go tell him of fair Hermia's flight,
Then to the wood will he to-morrow night
Pursue her; and for this intelligence
If I have thanks, it is a dear expense.
But herein mean I to enrich my pain,
To have his sight thither and back again.

Exit

SCENE II. Athens. QUINCE'S house.

QUINCE

5           Is all our company here?

BOTTOM

10          You were best to call them generally, man by man, according to the scrip.

QUINCE

15          Here is the scroll of every man's name, which is thought fit, through all Athens, to play in our interlude before the duke and the duchess, on his wedding-day at night.

20          BOTTOM

            First, good Peter Quince, say what the play treats on, then read the names of the actors, and so grow to a point.

25          QUINCE

            Marry, our play is, "The Most Lamentable Comedy, and Most Cruel Death of Pyramus and Thisby."

30          BOTTOM

            A very good piece of work, I assure you, and a merry. Now, good Peter Quince, call forth your 35          actors by the scroll. Masters, spread yourselves.

QUINCE

40          Answer as I call you. Nick Bottom, the weaver.

BOTTOM

            Ready. Name what part I am for, and proceed.

45          QUINCE

            You, Nick Bottom, are set down for Pyramus.

BOTTOM

50          What is Pyramus? a lover, or a tyrant?

QUINCE

55          A lover, that kills himself most gallant for love.

BOTTOM

60          That will ask some tears in the true performing of it. If I do it, let the audience look to their eyes; I will move storms, I will condole in some measure. To the rest: yet my chief humour is for a tyrant. I could play Ercles rarely, or a part to tear a cat in, to make all split.

5           The raging rocks
           And shivering shocks
           Shall break the locks
           Of prison gates;
           And Phibbus' car
 10           Shall shine from far
           And make and mar
           The foolish Fates.
 This was lofty! Now name the rest of the players.
 This is Ercles' vein, a tyrant's vein. A lover is more condoling.

15           QUINCE

          Francis Flute, the bellows-mender.

20           FLUTE

          Here, Peter Quince.

25           QUINCE

          Flute, you must take Thisby on you.

          FLUTE

30           What is Thisby? A wandering knight?

          QUINCE

          It is the lady that Pyramus must love.

35           FLUTE

          Nay, faith, let me not play a woman. I have a beard coming.

40           QUINCE

          That's all one. You shall play it in a mask, and you may speak as small as you will.

45           BOTTOM

          An I may hide my face, let me play Thisby too, I'll speak in a monstrous little voice: 'Thisne, Thisne!'--'Ah, Pyramus, my lover dear! thy Thisby dear,
 50           and lady dear!'

          QUINCE

          No, no, you must play Pyramus; and, Flute, you Thisby.

55           BOTTOM

          Well, proceed.

60           QUINCE

Robin Starveling, the tailor.

STARVELING

5        Here, Peter Quince.

QUINCE

10       Robin Starveling, you must play Thisby's mother.
Tom Snout, the tinker.

SNOUT

15       Here, Peter Quince.

QUINCE

20       You, Pyramus' father; myself, Thisby's father;
Snug, the joiner, you, the lion's part; and, I hope, here is a play fitted.

SNUG

25       Have you the lion's part written? Pray you, if it be, give it me, for I am slow of study.

QUINCE

30       You may do it extempore, for it is nothing but roaring.

BOTTOM

35       Let me play the lion too. I will roar that I will do any man's heart good to hear me. I will roar, that I will make the duke say 'Let him roar again, let him roar again.'

QUINCE

40       An you should do it too terribly, you would fright the duchess and the ladies, that they would shriek, and that were enough to hang us all.

ALL

45       That would hang us, every mother's son.

BOTTOM

50       I grant you, friends, if that you should fright the ladies out of their wits, they would have no more discretion but to hang us, but I will aggravate my voice so that I will roar you as gently as any 55       sucking dove. I will roar you an 'twere any nightingale.

QUINCE

60       You can play no part but Pyramus; for Pyramus is a sweet-faced man; a proper man, as one shall see in a summer's day; a most lovely gentleman-like man.

Thorough flood, thorough fire,
 I do wander everywhere,
 Swifter than the moon's sphere;
 And I serve the fairy queen,
 To dew her orbs upon the green.
 5     The cowslips tall her pensioners be:
       In their gold coats spots you see;
       Those be rubies, fairy favours,
       In those freckles live their savours.
 10    I must go seek some dewdrops here
       And hang a pearl in every cowslip's ear.
 Farewell, thou lob of spirits; I'll be gone:
 Our queen and all our elves come here anon.

15    PUCK

The king doth keep his revels here to-night:
 Take heed the queen come not within his sight;
 For Oberon is passing fell and wrath,
 20    Because that she as her attendant hath
       A lovely boy, stol'n from an Indian king;
       She never had so sweet a changeling;
       And jealous Oberon would have the child
       Knight of his train, to trace the forests wild;
 25    But she perforce withholds the loved boy,
       Crowns him with flowers and makes him all her joy:
       And now they never meet in grove or green,
       By fountain clear, or spangled starlight sheen,
       But they do square, that all their elves for fear
 30    Creep into acorn-cups and hide them there.

Fairy

Either I mistake your shape and making quite,
 Or else you are that shrewd and knavish sprite Call'd Robin Goodfellow. Are not you he 35    That frights the maidens of the villagery;
       Skim milk, and sometimes labour in the quern
       And bootless make the breathless housewife churn;
 40    And sometime make the drink to bear no barm;
       Mislead night-wanderers, laughing at their harm?
 Those that 'Hobgoblin' call you and 'sweet Puck,'
 You do their work, and they shall have good luck.
 Are not you he?

45    PUCK

                                  Thou speak'st aright;
 I am that merry wanderer of the night.
 50    I jest to Oberon and make him smile
       When I a fat and bean-fed horse beguile,
       Neighing in likeness of a filly foal;
       And sometime lurk I in a gossip's bowl,
       In very likeness of a roasted crab,
 55    And when she drinks, against her lips I bob
       And on her wither'd dewlap pour the ale.
       The wisest aunt, telling the saddest tale,
       Sometime for three-foot stool mistaketh me;
       Then slip I from her bum, down topples she,
 60    And 'tailor' cries, and falls into a cough;
       And then the whole quire hold their hips and laugh,

And waxen in their mirth and neeze and swear
A merrier hour was never wasted there.
But, room, fairy! Here comes Oberon.

5 Fairy

And here my mistress. Would that he were gone!

10 Enter, from one side, OBERON, with his train; from the other,
TITANIA, with hers

OBERON

15 Ill met by moonlight, proud Titania.

TITANIA

20 What, jealous Oberon? Fairies, skip hence:
I have forsworn his bed and company.

OBERON

Tarry, rash wanton. Am not I thy lord?

25 TITANIA

30 Then I must be thy lady; but I know
When thou hast stolen away from fairy land,
And in the shape of Corin sat all day,
Playing on pipes of corn and versing love
To amorous Phillida. Why art thou here,
Come from the farthest steppe of India,
But that, forsooth, the bouncing Amazon,
35 Your buskin'd mistress and your warrior love,
To Theseus must be wedded, and you come
To give their bed joy and prosperity?

OBERON

40 How canst thou thus for shame, Titania,
Glance at my credit with Hippolyta,
Knowing I know thy love to Theseus?
Didst thou not lead him through the glimmering night
From Perigenia, whom he ravished?
45 And make him with fair Aegle break his faith,
With Ariadne and Antiopa?

TITANIA

50 These are the forgeries of jealousy,
And never, since the middle summer's spring,
Met we on hill, in dale, forest or mead,
By paved fountain or by rushy brook,
Or in the beached margent of the sea,
55 To dance our ringlets to the whistling wind,
But with thy brawls thou hast disturb'd our sport.
Therefore the winds, piping to us in vain,
As in revenge, have suck'd up from the sea
Contagious fogs; which falling in the land
60 Have every pelting river made so proud
That they have overborne their continents.

The ox hath therefore stretch'd his yoke in vain,
 The ploughman lost his sweat, and the green corn
 Hath rotted ere his youth attain'd a beard.
 The fold stands empty in the drowned field,
 5 And crows are fatted with the murrion flock;
 The nine men's morris is fill'd up with mud,
 And the quaint mazes in the wanton green
 For lack of tread are undistinguishable.
 The human mortals want their winter here;
 10 No night is now with hymn or carol blest;
 Therefore the moon, the governess of floods,
 Pale in her anger, washes all the air,
 That rheumatic diseases do abound;
 And through this distemperature we see
 15 The seasons alter: hoary-headed frosts
 Far in the fresh lap of the crimson rose,
 And on old Hiems' thin and icy crown
 An odorous chaplet of sweet summer buds
 Is, as in mockery, set. The spring, the summer,
 20 The childing autumn, angry winter, change
 Their wonted liveries, and the mazed world,
 By their increase, now knows not which is which;
 And this same progeny of evils comes
 From our debate, from our dissension;
 25 We are their parents and original.

OBERON

30 Do you amend it then; it lies in you:
 Why should Titania cross her Oberon?
 I do but beg a little changeling boy,
 To be my henchman.

TITANIA

35 Set your heart at rest:
 The fairy land buys not the child of me.
 His mother was a votaress of my order,
 And, in the spiced Indian air, by night,
 40 Full often hath she gossip'd by my side,
 And sat with me on Neptune's yellow sands,
 Marking the embarked traders on the flood,
 When we have laugh'd to see the sails conceive
 And grow big-bellied with the wanton wind;
 45 Which she, with pretty and with swimming gait
 Following,--her womb then rich with my young squire,--
 Would imitate, and sail upon the land,
 To fetch me trifles, and return again,
 As from a voyage, rich with merchandise.
 50 But she, being mortal, of that boy did die;
 And for her sake do I rear up her boy,
 And for her sake I will not part with him.

OBERON

55 How long within this wood intend you stay?

TITANIA

60 Perchance till after Theseus' wedding-day.
 If you will patiently dance in our round

And see our moonlight revels, go with us;
If not, shun me, and I will spare your haunts.

OBERON

5 Give me that boy, and I will go with thee.

TITANIA

10 Not for thy fairy kingdom. Fairies, away!
We shall chide downright, if I longer stay.

Exit TITANIA with her train

15 OBERON

Well, go thy way. Thou shalt not from this grove
Till I torment thee for this injury.
My gentle Puck, come hither. Thou rememberest
20 Since once I sat upon a promontory,
And heard a mermaid on a dolphin's back
Uttering such dulcet and harmonious breath
That the rude sea grew civil at her song
And certain stars shot madly from their spheres,
25 To hear the sea-maid's music.

PUCK

30 I remember.

OBERON

That very time I saw, but thou couldst not,
Flying between the cold moon and the earth,
35 Cupid all arm'd. A certain aim he took
At a fair vestal throned by the west,
And loosed his love-shaft smartly from his bow,
As it should pierce a hundred thousand hearts;
But I might see young Cupid's fiery shaft
40 Quench'd in the chaste beams of the watery moon,
And the imperial votaress passed on,
In maiden meditation, fancy-free.
Yet mark'd I where the bolt of Cupid fell:
It fell upon a little western flower,
45 Before milk-white, now purple with love's wound,
And maidens call it love-in-idleness.
Fetch me that flower; the herb I shew'd thee once.
The juice of it on sleeping eye-lids laid
Will make or man or woman madly dote
50 Upon the next live creature that it sees.
Fetch me this herb, and be thou here again
Ere the leviathan can swim a league.

PUCK

55 I'll put a girdle round about the earth
In forty minutes.

Exit

60 OBERON

5       You do impeach your modesty too much,
To leave the city and commit yourself
Into the hands of one that loves you not;
To trust the opportunity of night
And the ill counsel of a desert place
With the rich worth of your virginity.

HELENA

10       Your virtue is my privilege, for that
It is not night when I do see your face.
Therefore I think I am not in the night,
Nor doth this wood lack worlds of company,
15       For you in my respect are all the world.
Then how can it be said I am alone,
When all the world is here to look on me?

DEMETRIUS

20       I'll run from thee and hide me in the brakes,
And leave thee to the mercy of wild beasts.

HELENA

25       The wildest hath not such a heart as you.
Run when you will, the story shall be changed:
Apollo flies, and Daphne holds the chase;
The dove pursues the griffin; the mild hind
30       Makes speed to catch the tiger; bootless speed,
When cowardice pursues and valour flies.

DEMETRIUS

35       I will not stay thy questions; let me go:
Or, if thou follow me, do not believe
But I shall do thee mischief in the wood.

HELENA

40       Ay, in the temple, in the town, the field,
You do me mischief. Fie, Demetrius!
Your wrongs do set a scandal on my sex:
We cannot fight for love, as men may do;
45       We should be woo'd and were not made to woo.

Exit DEMETRIUS

50       I'll follow thee and make a heaven of hell,
To die upon the hand I love so well.

Exit

OBERON

55       Fare thee well, nymph: ere he do leave this grove,
Thou shalt fly him and he shall seek thy love.

Re-enter PUCK

60       Welcome, wanderer. Hast thou the flower there?

PUCK

Ay, there it is.

OBERON

I pray thee, give it me.

I know a bank where the wild thyme blows,
Where oxlips and the nodding violet grows,
Quite over-canopied with luscious woodbine,
With sweet musk-roses and with eglantine.
There sleeps Titania sometime of the night,
Lull'd in these flowers with dances and delight;
And there the snake throws her enamell'd skin,
Weed wide enough to wrap a fairy in:
And with the juice of this I'll streak her eyes,
And make her full of hateful fantasies.
Take thou some of it, and seek through this grove:
A sweet Athenian lady is in love
With a disdainful youth. Anoint his eyes;
But do it when the next thing he espies
May be the lady. Thou shalt know the man
By the Athenian garments he hath on.
Effect it with some care, that he may prove
More fond on her than she upon her love:
And look thou meet me ere the first cock crow.

PUCK

Fear not, my lord, your servant shall do so.

Exeunt

SCENE II. Another part of the wood.

Enter TITANIA, with her train

TITANIA

Come, now a roundel and a fairy song;
Then, for the third part of a minute, hence;
Some to kill cankers in the musk-rose buds,
Some war with rere-mice for their leathern wings,
To make my small elves coats, and some keep back
The clamorous owl that nightly hoots and wonders
At our quaint spirits. Sing me now asleep;
Then to your offices and let me rest.

The Fairies sing

You spotted snakes with double tongue,
Thorny hedgehogs, be not seen;
Newts and blind-worms, do no wrong,
Come not near our fairy queen.
Philomel, with melody
Sing in our sweet lullaby;
Lulla, lulla, lullaby, lulla, lulla, lullaby:
Never harm,
Nor spell nor charm,
Come our lovely lady nigh;

So, good night, with lullaby.
Weaving spiders, come not here;
Hence, you long-legg'd spinners, hence!
Beetles black, approach not near;
5 Worm nor snail, do no offence.
Philomel, with melody, & c.

Fairy

10 Hence, away! now all is well:
One aloof stand sentinel.

Exeunt Fairies. TITANIA sleeps

15 Enter OBERON and squeezes the flower on TITANIA's eyelids

OBERON

20 What thou seest when thou dost wake,
Do it for thy true-love take,
Love and languish for his sake:
Be it ounce, or cat, or bear,
Pard, or boar with bristled hair,
In thy eye that shall appear
25 When thou wakest, it is thy dear:
Wake when some vile thing is near.

Exit

30 Enter LYSANDER and HERMIA

LYSANDER

35 Fair love, you faint with wandering in the wood;
And to speak troth, I have forgot our way.
We'll rest us, Hermia, if you think it good,
And tarry for the comfort of the day.

HERMIA

40 Be it so, Lysander. Find you out a bed,
For I upon this bank will rest my head.

LYSANDER

45 One turf shall serve as pillow for us both:
One heart, one bed, two bosoms and one troth.

HERMIA

50 Nay, good Lysander, for my sake, my dear,
Lie further off yet, do not lie so near.

LYSANDER

55 O, take the sense, sweet, of my innocence!
Love takes the meaning in love's conference.
I mean, that my heart unto yours is knit
So that but one heart we can make of it;
60 Two bosoms interchained with an oath;
So then two bosoms and a single troth.

Then by your side no bed-room me deny;
For lying so, Hermia, I do not lie.

Lysander riddles very prettily:
Now much beshrew my manners and my pride,
If Hermia meant to say Lysander lied.
But, gentle friend, for love and courtesy
10 Lie further off. In human modesty,
Such separation as may well be said
Becomes a virtuous bachelor and a maid,
So far be distant, and, good night, sweet friend.
Thy love ne'er alter till thy sweet life end!

LYSANDER

Amen, amen, to that fair prayer, say I;
And then end life when I end loyalty!
20 Here is my bed: sleep give thee all his rest!

HERMIA

25 With half that wish the wisher's eyes be press'd!

They sleep

Enter PUCK

30 PUCK

Through the forest have I gone.
But Athenian found I none,
On whose eyes I might approve
35 This flower's force in stirring love.
Night and silence.--Who is here?
Weeds of Athens he doth wear:
This is he, my master said,
Despised the Athenian maid;
40 And here the maiden, sleeping sound,
On the dank and dirty ground.
Pretty soul! she durst not lie
Near this lack-love, this kill-courtesy.
Churl, upon thy eyes I throw
45 All the power this charm doth owe.
When thou wakest, let love forbid
Sleep his seat on thy eyelid:
So awake when I am gone;
For I must now to Oberon.

50

Exit

Enter DEMETRIUS and HELENA, running

55 HELENA

Stay, though thou kill me, sweet Demetrius.

60

I charge thee, hence, and do not haunt me thus.

HELENA

O, wilt thou darkling leave me? Do not so.

DEMETRIUS

Stay, on thy peril: I alone will go.

Exit

HELENA

O, I am out of breath in this fond chase!
The more my prayer, the lesser is my grace.
Happy is Hermia, wheresoe'er she lies;
For she hath blessed and attractive eyes.
How came her eyes so bright? Not with salt tears:
If so, my eyes are oftener wash'd than hers.
No, no, I am as ugly as a bear;
For beasts that meet me run away for fear:
Therefore no marvel though Demetrius
Do, as a monster fly my presence thus.
What wicked and dissembling glass of mine
Made me compare with Hermia's sphery eyne?
But who is here? Lysander! on the ground!
Dead? or asleep? I see no blood, no wound.
Lysander if you live, good sir, awake.

LYSANDER

[Awaking] And run through fire I will for thy sweet sake.
Transparent Helena! Nature shows art,
That through thy bosom makes me see thy heart.
Where is Demetrius? O, how fit a word
Is that vile name to perish on my sword!

HELENA

Do not say so, Lysander, say not so.
What though he love your Hermia? Lord, what though?
Yet Hermia still loves you, then be content.

LYSANDER

Content with Hermia! No, I do repent
The tedious minutes I with her have spent.
Not Hermia but Helena I love.
Who will not change a raven for a dove?
The will of man is by his reason sway'd;
And reason says you are the worthier maid.
Things growing are not ripe until their season
So I, being young, till now ripe not to reason;
And touching now the point of human skill,
Reason becomes the marshal to my will
And leads me to your eyes, where I o'erlook
Love's stories written in love's richest book.

HELENA

Wherefore was I to this keen mockery born?

When at your hands did I deserve this scorn?
Is't not enough, is't not enough, young man,
That I did never, no, nor never can,
Deserve a sweet look from Demetrius' eye,
But you must flout my insufficiency?
Good troth, you do me wrong, good sooth, you do,
In such disdainful manner me to woo.
But fare you well. Perforce I must confess
I thought you lord of more true gentleness.
O, that a lady, of one man refused
Should of another therefore be abused!

Exit

LYSANDER

She sees not Hermia. Hermia, sleep thou there:
And never mayst thou come Lysander near!
For as a surfeit of the sweetest things
The deepest loathing to the stomach brings,
Or as tie heresies that men do leave
Are hated most of those they did deceive,
So thou, my surfeit and my heresy,
Of all be hated, but the most of me!
And, all my powers, address your love and might
To honour Helen and to be her knight!

Exit

HERMIA

[Awaking] Help me, Lysander, help me! Do thy best
To pluck this crawling serpent from my breast!
Ay me, for pity! what a dream was here!
Lysander, look how I do quake with fear.
Methought a serpent eat my heart away,
And you sat smiling at his cruel pray.
Lysander! what, removed? Lysander! Lord!
What, out of hearing? Gone? No sound, no word?
Alack, where are you speak, an if you hear,
Speak, of all loves! I swoon almost with fear.
No? Then I well perceive you are not nigh.
Either death or you I'll find immediately.

Exit

ACT III

SCENE I. The wood. TITANIA lying asleep.

BOTTOM

Are we all met?

QUINCE

Pat, pat; and here's a marvellous convenient place for our rehearsal. This green plot shall be our stage, this hawthorn-brake our tiring-house, and we will do it in action as we will do it before the duke.

BOTTOM

5 Peter Quince?

QUINCE

10 What sayest thou, bully Bottom?

BOTTOM

15 There are things in this comedy of Pyramus and Thisby that will never please. First, Pyramus must draw a sword to kill himself, which the ladies cannot abide. How answer you that?

SNOUT

20 By'r lakin, a parlous fear.

STARVELING

25 I believe we must leave the killing out, when all is done.

BOTTOM

30 Not a whit. I have a device to make all well.
Write me a prologue, and let the prologue seem to say, we will do no harm with our swords, and that Pyramus is not killed indeed; and, for the more better assurance, tell them that I, Pyramus, am not Pyramus, but Bottom the weaver; this will put them out of fear.

35 QUINCE

40 Well, we will have such a prologue; and it shall be written in eight and six.

No, make it two more; let it be written in eight and eight.

45 SNOUT

Will not the ladies be afeard of the lion?

STARVELING

50 I fear it, I promise you.

BOTTOM

55 Masters, you ought to consider with yourselves, to bring in--God shield us!--a lion among ladies is a most dreadful thing; for there is not a more fearful wild-fowl than your lion living, and we ought to look to 't.

60 SNOUT

Therefore another prologue must tell he is not a lion.

Nay, you must name his name, and half his face must be seen through the lion's neck, and he himself must speak through, saying thus, or to the same defect:--'Ladies,'--or 'Fair-ladies--I would wish 10 You,'--or 'I would request you,'--or 'I would entreat you,--not to fear, not to tremble, my life for yours. If you think I come hither as a lion, it were pity of my life. No, I am no such thing. I am a man as other men are,'--and there indeed let him name 15 his name, and tell them plainly he is Snug the joiner.

20

Well it shall be so; but there is two hard things:
that is, to bring the moonlight into a chamber, for, you know, Pyramus and Thisby meet by moonlight.

25

Doth the moon shine that night we play our play?

BOTTOM

A calendar, a calendar! Look in the almanac; find out moonshine, find out moonshine.

QUINCE

35

Yes, it doth shine that night.

40

Why, then may you leave a casement of the great chamber window, where we play, open, and the moon may shine in at the casement.

QUINCE

45

Ay, or else one must come in with a bush of thorns and a lanthorn, and say he comes to disfigure, or to present, the person of Moonshine. Then, there is another thing: we must have a wall in the great chamber; for Pyramus and Thisby, says the story, did talk through the chink of a wall.

SNOUT

You can never bring in a wall. What say you, Bottom?

55

60

Some man or other must present Wall: and let him have some plaster, or some loam, or some rough-cast about him, to signify wall; and let him hold his fingers thus, and through that cranny shall Pyramus and Thisby whisper.

QUINCE

5        'Ninus' tomb,' man. Why, you must not speak that yet; that you answer to Pyramus. You speak all your part at once, cues and all. Pyramus enter: your cue is past; it is, 'never tire.'

FLUTE

10        O,--As true as truest horse, that yet would never tire.

Re-enter PUCK, and BOTTOM with an ass's head

15        BOTTOM

If I were fair, Thisby, I were only thine.

20        QUINCE

O monstrous! O strange! We are haunted. Pray, masters; fly, masters! Help!

25        Exeunt QUINCE, SNUG, FLUTE, SNOUT, and STARVELING

PUCK

30        I'll follow you, I'll lead you about a round,
Through bog, through bush, through brake, through brier.
Sometime a horse I'll be, sometime a hound,
A hog, a headless bear, sometime a fire;
And neigh, and bark, and grunt, and roar, and burn,
35        Like horse, hound, hog, bear, fire, at every turn.

Exit

BOTTOM

40        Why do they run away? This is a knavery of them to make me afeard.

Re-enter SNOUT

45        SNOUT

O Bottom, thou art changed! What do I see on thee?

BOTTOM

50        What do you see? You see an asshead of your own, do you?

Exit SNOUT

55        Re-enter QUINCE

QUINCE

60        Bless thee, Bottom! Bless thee! Thou art translated.

Exit

I see their knavery: this is to make an ass of me, to fright me, if they could. But I will not stir from this place, do what they can. I will walk up and down here, and I will sing, that they shall hear 10 I am not afraid.

[Sings]

15

The ousel cock so black of hue,
With orange-tawny bill,
The throstle with his note so true,
The wren with little quill,--

20

[Awaking] What angel wakes me from my flowery bed?

25

[Sings]

The finch, the sparrow and the lark,
The plain-song cuckoo gray,
Whose note full many a man doth mark,
And dares not answer nay;--
30 for, indeed, who would set his wit to so foolish a bird? who would give a bird the lie, though he cry
'cuckoo' never so?

TITANIA

35

I pray thee, gentle mortal, sing again.
Mine ear is much enamour'd of thy note;
So is mine eye enthralled to thy shape;
And thy fair virtue's force perforce doth move me
40 On the first view to say, to swear, I love thee.

45

Methinks, mistress, you should have little reason for that; and yet, to say the truth, reason and love keep little company together now-a-days. The more the pity that some honest neighbours will not make them friends. Nay, I can glee upon occasion.

TITANIA

Thou art as wise as thou art beautiful.

55

Not so, neither; but if I had wit enough to get out of this wood, I have enough to serve mine own turn.

60

Out of this wood do not desire to go:

Thou shalt remain here, whether thou wilt or no.
I am a spirit of no common rate;
The summer still doth tend upon my state;
And I do love thee: therefore, go with me;
5 I'll give thee fairies to attend on thee,
And they shall fetch thee jewels from the deep,
And sing while thou on pressed flowers dost sleep;
And I will purge thy mortal grossness so
That thou shalt like an airy spirit go.
10 Peaseblossom! Cobweb! Moth! and Mustardseed!

Enter PEASEBLOSSOM, COBWEB, MOTH, and MUSTARDSEED

15 PEASEBLOSSOM
Ready.

COBWEB

20 And I.

MOTH

25 And I.

MUSTARDSEED

And I.

30 ALL

Where shall we go?

35 TITANIA

Be kind and courteous to this gentleman;
Hop in his walks and gambol in his eyes;
Feed him with apricocks and dewberries,
With purple grapes, green figs, and mulberries;
40 The honey-bags steal from the humble-bees,
And for night-tapers crop their waxen thighs
And light them at the fiery glow-worm's eyes,
To have my love to bed and to arise;
And pluck the wings from Painted butterflies
45 To fan the moonbeams from his sleeping eyes:
Nod to him, elves, and do him courtesies.

PEASEBLOSSOM

50 Hail, mortal!

COBWEB

55 Hail!

MOTH

Hail!

60 MUSTARDSEED

Hail!

BOTTOM

5 I cry your worship's mercy, heartily. I beseech your worship's name.

COBWEB

10 Cobweb.

BOTTOM

15 I shall desire you of more acquaintance, good Master Cobweb. If I cut my finger, I shall make bold with you. Your name, honest gentleman?

20 Peaseblossom.

BOTTOM

25 I pray you, commend me to Mistress Squash, your mother, and to Master Peascod, your father. Good Master Peaseblossom, I shall desire you of more acquaintance too. Your name, I beseech you, sir?

MUSTARDSEED

30 Mustardseed.

BOTTOM

35 Good Master Mustardseed, I know your patience well.
That same cowardly, giant-like ox-beef hath devoured many a gentleman of your house. I promise you your kindred had made my eyes water ere now. I 40 desire your more acquaintance, good Master
Mustardseed.

TITANIA

45 Come, wait upon him; lead him to my bower.
The moon methinks looks with a watery eye,
And when she weeps, weeps every little flower,
Lamenting some enforced chastity.
Tie up my love's tongue bring him silently.

50 Exeunt--INTERMISSION

SCENE II. Another part of the wood.

Enter OBERON

55 OBERON

60 I wonder if Titania be awaked,
Then, what it was that next came in her eye,
Which she must dote on in extremity.

Enter PUCK

Here comes my messenger.
How now, mad spirit!
5 What night-rule now about this haunted grove?

PUCK

10 My mistress with a monster is in love.
Near to her close and consecrated bower,
While she was in her dull and sleeping hour,
A crew of patches, rude mechanicals,
That work for bread upon Athenian stalls,
Were met together to rehearse a play
15 Intended for great Theseus' nuptial-day.
The shallowest thick-skin of that barren sort,
Who Pyramus presented, in their sport
Forsook his scene and enter'd in a brake
When I did him at this advantage take,
20 An ass's noll I fixed on his head:
Anon his Thisbe must be answered,
And forth my mimic comes. When they him spy,
As wild geese that the creeping fowler eye,
Or russet-pated choughs, many in sort,
25 Rising and cawing at the gun's report,
Sever themselves and madly sweep the sky,
So, at his sight, away his fellows fly;
And, at our stamp, here o'er and o'er one falls;
He murder cries and help from Athens calls.
30 Their sense thus weak, lost with their fears thus strong,
Made senseless things begin to do them wrong;
For briers and thorns at their apparel snatch;
Some sleeves, some hats, from yielders all
35 things catch.
I led them on in this distracted fear,
And left sweet Pyramus translated there:
When in that moment, so it came to pass,
Titania waked and straightway loved an ass.

OBERON

This falls out better than I could devise.
But hast thou yet latch'd the Athenian's eyes
45 With the love-juice, as I did bid thee do?

PUCK

50 I took him sleeping,--that is finish'd too,--
And the Athenian woman by his side:
That, when he waked, of force she must be eyed.

Enter HERMIA and DEMETRIUS

55 OBERON

Stand close, this is the same Athenian.

PUCK

60 This is the woman, but not this the man.

DEMETRIUS

5 O, why rebuke you him that loves you so?
Lay breath so bitter on your bitter foe.

HERMIA

10 Now I but chide; but I should use thee worse,
For thou, I fear, hast given me cause to curse,
If thou hast slain Lysander in his sleep,
Being o'er shoes in blood, plunge in the deep,
And kill me too.
15 The sun was not so true unto the day
As he to me: would he have stolen away
From sleeping Hermia? I'll believe as soon
This whole earth may be bored and that the moon
May through the centre creep and so displease
Her brother's noontide with Antipodes.
20 It cannot be but thou hast murder'd him;
So should a murderer look, so dead, so grim.

DEMETRIUS

25 So should the murder'd look, and so should I,
Pierced through the heart with your stern cruelty.
Yet you, the murderer, look as bright, as clear,
As yonder Venus in her glimmering sphere.

30 HERMIA

What's this to my Lysander? Where is he?
Ah, good Demetrius, wilt thou give him me?

35 DEMETRIUS

I had rather give his carcass to my hounds.

HERMIA

40 Out, dog! Out, cur! Thou drivest me past the bounds
Of maiden's patience. Hast thou slain him, then?
Henceforth be never number'd among men!
45 O, once tell true, tell true, even for my sake!
Durst thou have look'd upon him being awake,
And hast thou kill'd him sleeping? O brave touch!
Could not a worm, an adder, do so much?
An adder did it, for with doubler tongue
50 Than thine, thou serpent, never adder stung.

DEMETRIUS

You spend your passion on a misprised mood.
I am not guilty of Lysander's blood,
55 Nor is he dead, for aught that I can tell.

HERMIA

60 I pray thee, tell me then that he is well.

DEMETRIUS

An if I could, what should I get therefore?

A privilege never to see me more.
And from thy hated presence part I so:
See me no more, whether he be dead or no.

10

Exit

15

There is no following her in this fierce vein.
Here therefore for a while I will remain.
So sorrow's heaviness doth heavier grow
For debt that bankrupt sleep doth sorrow owe:
Which now in some slight measure it will pay,
If for his tender here I make some stay.

20

Lies down and sleeps

25

What hast thou done? Thou hast mistaken quite
And laid the love-juice on some true-love's sight.
Of thy misprision must perforce ensue
Some true love turn'd and not a false turn'd true.

30

PUCK

Then fate o'er-rules, that, one man holding troth,
A million fail, confounding oath on oath.

35

OBERON

About the wood go swifter than the wind,
And Helena of Athens look thou find.
All fancy-sick she is and pale of cheer,
40 With sighs of love, that costs the fresh blood dear.
By some illusion see thou bring her here;
I'll charm his eyes against she do appear.

45

PUCK

I go, I go, look how I go,
Swifter than arrow from the Tartar's bow.

50

Exit

OBERON

55

Flower of this purple dye,
Hit with Cupid's archery,
Sink in apple of his eye.
When his love he doth espy,
Let her shine as gloriously
As the Venus of the sky.
When thou wakest, if she be by,
60 Beg of her for remedy.

Re-enter PUCK

PUCK

5 Captain of our fairy band,
Helena is here at hand;
And the youth, mistook by me,
Pleading for a lover's fee.
10 Shall we their fond pageant see?
Lord, what fools these mortals be!

OBERON

15 Stand aside: the noise they make
Will cause Demetrius to awake.

PUCK

20 Then will two at once woo one;
That must needs be sport alone;
And those things do best please me
That befall preposterously.

Enter LYSANDER and HELENA

25

LYSANDER

Why should you think that I should woo in scorn?
Scorn and derision never come in tears:
30 Look, when I vow, I weep; and vows so born,
In their nativity all truth appears.
How can these things in me seem scorn to you,
Bearing the badge of faith, to prove them true?

35 HELENA

You do advance your cunning more and more.
When truth kills truth, O devilish-holy fray!
40 These vows are Hermia's: will you give her o'er?
Weigh oath with oath, and you will nothing weigh:
Your vows to her and me, put in two scales,
Will even weigh, and both as light as tales.

LYSANDER

45 I had no judgment when to her I swore.

HELENA

50 Nor none, in my mind, now you give her o'er.

LYSANDER

55 Demetrius loves her, and he loves not you.

DEMETRIUS

60 [Awaking] O Helena, goddess, nymph, perfect, divine!
To what, my love, shall I compare thine eyne?
Crystal is muddy. O, how ripe in show
Thy lips, those kissing cherries, tempting grow!

That pure congealed white, high Taurus snow,
Fann'd with the eastern wind, turns to a crow
When thou hold'st up thy hand: O, let me kiss
This princess of pure white, this seal of bliss!

HELENA

O spite! O hell! I see you all are bent
To set against me for your merriment.
If you were civil and knew courtesy,
You would not do me thus much injury.
Can you not hate me, as I know you do,
But you must join in souls to mock me too?
If you were men, as men you are in show,
You would not use a gentle lady so:
To vow, and swear, and super praise my parts,
When I am sure you hate me with your hearts.
You both are rivals, and love Hermia,
And now both rivals, to mock Helena.
A trim exploit, a manly enterprise,
To conjure tears up in a poor maid's eyes
With your derision! none of noble sort
Would so offend a virgin, and extort
A poor soul's patience, all to make you sport.

20

25

LYSANDER

You are unkind, Demetrius. Be not so,
For you love Hermia; this you know I know;
And here, with all good will, with all my heart,
In Hermia's love I yield you up my part;
And yours of Helena to me bequeath,
Whom I do love and will do till my death.

30

35

HELENA

Never did mockers waste more idle breath.

DEMETRIUS

Lysander, keep thy Hermia; I will none.
If e'er I loved her, all that love is gone.
My heart to her but as guest-wise sojourn'd,
And now to Helen is it home return'd,
There to remain.

40

45

LYSANDER

Helen, it is not so.

50

DEMETRIUS

Disparage not the faith thou dost not know,
Lest, to thy peril, thou aby it dear.
Look, where thy love comes; yonder is thy dear.

55

Re-enter HERMIA

HERMIA

Dark night, that from the eye his function takes,

60

The ear more quick of apprehension makes;
Wherein it doth impair the seeing sense,
It pays the hearing double recompense.
5 Thou art not by mine eye, Lysander, found;
Mine ear, I thank it, brought me to thy sound
But why unkindly didst thou leave me so?

LYSANDER

10 Why should he stay, whom love doth press to go?

HERMIA

15 What love could press Lysander from my side?

LYSANDER

20 Lysander's love, that would not let him bide:
Fair Helena, who more engilds the night
Than all you fiery O's and eyes of light.
Why seek'st thou me? could not this make thee know,
The hate I bear thee made me leave thee so?

HERMIA

25 You speak not as you think: it cannot be.

HELENA

30 Lo, she is one of this confederacy!
Now I perceive they have conjoin'd all three
To fashion this false sport, in spite of me.
Injurious Hermia! most ungrateful maid!
Have you conspired, have you with these contrived
35 To bait me with this foul derision?
Is all the counsel that we two have shared,
The sisters' vows, the hours that we have spent,
When we have chid the hasty-footed time
For parting us,--O, is it all forgot?
40 All school-days' friendship, childhood innocence?
We, Hermia, like two artificial gods,
Have with our needles created both one flower,
Both on one sampler, sitting on one cushion,
Both warbling of one song, both in one key,
45 As if our hands, our sides, voices and minds,
Had been incorporate. So we grow together,
Like to a double cherry, seeming parted,
But yet an union in partition;
Two lovely berries moulded on one stem;
50 So, with two seeming bodies, but one heart;
Two of the first, like coats in heraldry,
Due but to one and crowned with one crest.
And will you rent our ancient love asunder,
To join with men in scorning your poor friend?
55 It is not friendly, 'tis not maidenly.
Our sex, as well as I, may chide you for it,
Though I alone do feel the injury.

HERMIA

60 I am amazed at your passionate words.

I scorn you not; it seems that you scorn me.

HELENA

5 Have you not set Lysander, as in scorn,
To follow me and praise my eyes and face?
And made your other love, Demetrius,
Who even but now did spurn me with his foot,
10 To call me goddess, nymph, divine and rare,
Precious, celestial? Wherefore speaks he this
To her he hates? and wherefore doth Lysander
Deny your love, so rich within his soul,
And tender me, forsooth, affection,
15 But by your setting on, by your consent?
What thought I be not so in grace as you,
So hung upon with love, so fortunate,
But miserable most, to love unloved?
This you should pity rather than despise.

20 HERNIA

I understand not what you mean by this.

HELENA

25 Ay, do, persevere, counterfeit sad looks,
Make mouths upon me when I turn my back,
Wink each at other, hold the sweet jest up:
This sport, well carried, shall be chronicled.
30 If you have any pity, grace, or manners,
You would not make me such an argument.
But fare ye well. 'Tis partly my own fault,
Which death or absence soon shall remedy.

35 LYSANDER

Stay, gentle Helena, hear my excuse,
My love, my life my soul, fair Helena!

40 HELENA

O excellent!

HERMIA

45 Sweet, do not scorn her so.

DEMETRIUS

50 If she cannot entreat, I can compel.

LYSANDER

55 Thou canst compel no more than she entreat.
Thy threats have no more strength than her weak prayers.
Helen, I love thee; by my life, I do.
I swear by that which I will lose for thee,
To prove him false that says I love thee not.

60 DEMETRIUS

I say I love thee more than he can do.

LYSANDER

5 If thou say so, withdraw, and prove it too.

DEMETRIUS

Quick, come!

10

HERMIA

Lysander, whereto tends all this?

15

LYSANDER

Away, you Ethiopie!

20

No, no; he'll
Seem to break loose, take on as you would follow,
But yet come not. You are a tame man, go!

25

LYSANDER

Hang off, thou cat, thou burr! Vile thing, let loose,
Or I will shake thee from me like a serpent!

30

HERMIA

Why are you grown so rude? What change is this?
Sweet love,--

35

LYSANDER

Thy love? Out, tawny Tartar, out!
Out, loath'd medicine! O, hated potion, hence!

40

HERMIA

Do you not jest?

HELENA

45

Yes, sooth, and so do you.

LYSANDER

50

Demetrius, I will keep my word with thee.

DEMETRIUS

55

I would I had your bond, for I perceive
A weak bond holds you; I'll not trust your word.

60

What, should I hurt her, strike her, kill her dead?
Although I hate her, I'll not harm her so.

HERMIA

5       What, can you do me greater harm than hate?
Hate me! wherefore? O me! What news, my love!
Am not I Hermia? Are not you Lysander?
I am as fair now as I was erewhile.
Since night you loved me, yet since night you left me
10       Why, then you left me--O, the gods forbid!--
In earnest, shall I say?

LYSANDER

15       Ay, by my life;
And never did desire to see thee more.
Therefore be out of hope, of question, of doubt;
Be certain, nothing truer: 'tis no jest
That I do hate thee and love Helena.

20       HERMIA

25       O me! you juggler! you canker-blossom!
You thief of love! what, have you come by night
And stolen my love's heart from him?

HELENA

Fine, i'faith!

30       Have you no modesty, no maiden shame,
No touch of bashfulness? What, will you tear
Impatient answers from my gentle tongue?
Fie, fie! you counterfeit, you puppet, you!

HERMIA

35       Puppet? Why so? Ay, that way goes the game.
Now I perceive that she hath made compare
Between our statures; she hath urged her height,
And with her personage, her tall personage,
40       Her height, forsooth, she hath prevail'd with him.
And are you grown so high in his esteem;
Because I am so dwarfish and so low?
How low am I, thou painted maypole? Speak,
How low am I? I am not yet so low
45       But that my nails can reach unto thine eyes.

HELENA

50       I pray you, though you mock me, gentlemen,
Let her not hurt me. I was never curst,
I have no gift at all in shrewishness.
I am a right maid for my cowardice.
Let her not strike me. You perhaps may think,
Because she is something lower than myself,
55       That I can match her.

HERMIA

60       Lower! Hark, again.

HELENA

Good Hermia, do not be so bitter with me.
 I evermore did love you, Hermia,
 Did ever keep your counsels, never wrong'd you;
 5 Save that, in love unto Demetrius,
 I told him of your stealth unto this wood.
 He follow'd you, for love I follow'd him;
 But he hath chid me hence and threaten'd me
 To strike me, spurn me, nay, to kill me too.
 10 And now, so you will let me quiet go,
 To Athens will I bear my folly back
 And follow you no further. Let me go.
 You see how simple and how fond I am.

15 HERMIA
 Why, get you gone. Who is't that hinders you?

20 HELENA
 A foolish heart, that I leave here behind.

HERMIA
 25 What, with Lysander?

HELENA
 With Demetrius.

30 LYSANDER
 Be not afraid. She shall not harm thee, Helena.

35 DEMETRIUS
 No, sir, she shall not, though you take her part.

40 HELENA
 O, when she's angry, she is keen and shrewd!
 She was a vixen when she went to school,
 And though she be but little, she is fierce.

45 HERMIA
 'Little' again! nothing but 'low' and 'little'!
 Why will you suffer her to flout me thus?
 Let me come to her.

50 LYSANDER
 Get you gone, you dwarf,
 You minimus, of hindering knot-grass made,
 55 You bead, you acorn.

DEMETRIUS
 You are too officious
 60 In her behalf that scorns your services.
Let her alone. Speak not of Helena.

Take not her part for, if thou dost intend
Never so little show of love to her,
Thou shalt aby it.

5    LYSANDER

                                    Now she holds me not;
Now follow, if thou darest, to try whose right,
Of thine or mine, is most in Helena.

10

DEMETRIUS

Follow! nay, I'll go with thee, cheek by joule.

15

Exeunt LYSANDER and DEMETRIUS

HERMIA

You, mistress, all this coil is 'long of you:
Nay, go not back.

20

HELENA

                                    I will not trust you, I,
Nor longer stay in your curst company.
Your hands than mine are quicker for a fray,
My legs are longer though, to run away.

25

Exit

30

HERMIA

I am amazed, and know not what to say.

35

Exit

OBERON

This is thy negligence. Still thou mistakest,
Or else committ'st thy knaveries wilfully.

40

PUCK

Believe me, king of shadows, I mistook.
Did not you tell me I should know the man
By the Athenian garment he had on?
And so far blameless proves my enterprise,
That I have 'nointed an Athenian's eyes;
And so far am I glad it so did sort
As this their jangling I esteem a sport.

45

50

OBERON

Thou see'st these lovers seek a place to fight.
Hie therefore, Robin, overcast the night;
The starry welkin cover thou anon
With drooping fog as black as Acheron,
And lead these testy rivals so astray
As one come not within another's way.
Like to Lysander sometime frame thy tongue,
Then stir Demetrius up with bitter wrong;

55

60

And sometime rail thou like Demetrius;
And from each other look thou lead them thus,
Till o'er their brows death-counterfeiting sleep
With leaden legs and batty wings doth creep:
5 Then crush this herb into Lysander's eye;
Whose liquor hath this virtuous property,
To take from thence all error with his might,
And make his eyeballs roll with wonted sight.
When they next wake, all this derision
10 Shall seem a dream and fruitless vision,
And back to Athens shall the lovers wend,
With league whose date till death shall never end.
Whiles I in this affair do thee employ,
I'll to my queen and beg her Indian boy;
15 And then I will her charmed eye release
From monster's view, and all things shall be peace.

PUCK

20 My fairy lord, this must be done with haste,
For night's swift dragons cut the clouds full fast,
And yonder shines Aurora's harbinger;
At whose approach, ghosts, wandering here and there,
Troop home to churchyards: damned spirits all,
25 That in crossways and floods have burial,
Already to their wormy beds are gone;
For fear lest day should look their shames upon,
They willfully themselves exile from light
And must for aye consort with black-brow'd night.

OBERON

But we are spirits of another sort:
I with the morning's love have oft made sport,
35 And, like a forester, the groves may tread,
Even till the eastern gate, all fiery-red,
Opening on Neptune with fair blessed beams,
Turns into yellow gold his salt green streams.
But, notwithstanding, haste; make no delay:
40 We may effect this business yet ere day.

Exit

PUCK

45 Up and down, up and down,
I will lead them up and down:
I am fear'd in field and town:
Goblin, lead them up and down.
50 Here comes one.

Re-enter LYSANDER

LYSANDER

55 Where art thou, proud Demetrius? speak thou now.

PUCK

60 Here, villain; drawn and ready. Where art thou?

LYSANDER

I will be with thee straight.

5 PUCK

Follow me, then,
To plainer ground.

10 Exit LYSANDER, as following the voice

Re-enter DEMETRIUS

15

Lysander! speak again.
Thou runaway, thou coward, art thou fled?
Speak! In some bush? Where dost thou hide thy head?

20 PUCK

Thou coward, art thou bragging to the stars,
Telling the bushes that thou look'st for wars,
And wilt not come? Come, recreant, come, thou child.
25 I'll whip thee with a rod. He is defiled
That draws a sword on thee.

DEMETRIUS

30 Yea, art thou there?

PUCK

Follow my voice. We'll try no manhood here.

35

Exeunt

Re-enter LYSANDER

40 LYSANDER

He goes before me and still dares me on.
When I come where he calls, then he is gone.
The villain is much lighter-heel'd than I;
45 I follow'd fast, but faster he did fly,
That fallen am I in dark uneven way,
And here will rest me.

Lies down

50

Come, thou gentle day!
For if but once thou show me thy grey light,
I'll find Demetrius and revenge this spite.

55

Sleeps

60

Ho, ho, ho! Coward, why comest thou not?

DEMETRIUS

5        Abide me, if thou darest; for well I wot
         Thou runn'st before me, shifting every place,
         And darest not stand, nor look me in the face.
         Where art thou now?

PUCK

10        Come hithe. I am here.

DEMETRIUS

15        Nay, then, thou mock'st me. Thou shalt buy this dear,
         If ever I thy face by daylight see.
         Now, go thy way. Faintness constraineth me
         To measure out my length on this cold bed.
20        By day's approach look to be visited.

Lies down and sleeps

Re-enter HELENA

25        HELENA

         O weary night, O long and tedious night,
         Abate thy hour! Shine comforts from the east,
         That I may back to Athens by daylight,
30        From these that my poor company detest;
         And sleep, that sometimes shuts up sorrow's eye,
         Steal me awhile from mine own company.

Lies down and sleeps

35        PUCK

         Yet but three? Come one more;
         Two of both kinds make up four.
40        Here she comes, curst and sad.
         Cupid is a knavish lad,
         Thus to make poor females mad.

Re-enter HERMIA

45        HERMIA

         Never so weary, never so in woe,
         Bedabbled with the dew and torn with briers,
50        I can no further crawl, no further go.
         My legs can keep no pace with my desires.
         Here will I rest me till the break of day.
         Heavens shield Lysander, if they mean a fray!

55        Lies down and sleeps

PUCK

60        On the ground
         Sleep sound.
         I'll apply

To your eye,
Gentle lover, remedy.

Squeezing the juice on LYSANDER's eyes

When thou wakest,
Thou takest
True delight
In the sight
10 Of thy former lady's eye,
And the country proverb known,
That every man should take his own,
In your waking shall be shown.
Jack shall have Jill,
15 Nought shall go ill,
The man shall have his mare again, and all shall be well.

Exit

20 ACT IV

SCENE I. The same. LYSANDER, DEMETRIUS, HELENA, and HERMIA lying asleep.

25 Enter TITANIA and BOTTOM; PEASEBLOSSOM, COBWEB, MOTH, MUSTARDSEED, and other Fairies attending; OBERON behind unseen

TITANIA

30 Come, sit thee down upon this flowery bed,
While I thy amiable cheeks do coy,
And stick musk-roses in thy sleek smooth head,
And kiss thy fair large ears, my gentle joy.

35 BOTTOM

Where's Peaseblossom?

PEASEBLOSSOM

40 Ready.

BOTTOM

45 Scratch my head Peaseblossom. Where's Mounsieur Cobweb?

COBWEB

Ready.

50 BOTTOM

Mounsieur Cobweb, good mounsieur, get you your 55 weapons in your hand, and kill me a red-hipped humble-bee on the top of a thistle; and, good mounsieur, bring me the honey-bag. Do not fret yourself too much in the action, mounsieur, and,
good mounsieur, have a care the honey-bag break not.
I would be loath to have you overflown with a 60 honey-bag, signior. Where's Mounsieur Mustardseed?

MUSTARDSEED

Ready.

5 BOTTOM

Give me your neaf, Mounsieur Mustardseed. Pray you, leave your courtesy, good mounsieur.

10 MUSTARDSEED

What's your Will?

15 BOTTOM

Nothing, good mounsieur, but to help Cavalery Cobweb to scratch. I must to the barber's, monsieur, for methinks I am marvellous hairy about the face; and I am such a tender ass, if my hair do but tickle me,
I must scratch.

TITANIA

What, wilt thou hear some music, my sweet love?

25

I have a reasonable good ear in music. Let's have the tongs and the bones.

30

TITANIA

Or say, sweet love, what thou desirest to eat.

35 BOTTOM

Truly, a peck of provender: I could munch your good dry oats. Methinks I have a great desire to a bottle of hay. Good hay, sweet hay, hath no fellow.

40

TITANIA

I have a venturous fairy that shall seek
The squirrel's hoard, and fetch thee new nuts.

45

BOTTOM

I had rather have a handful or two of dried peas.
But, I pray you, let none of your people stir me. I have an exposition of sleep come upon me.

TITANIA

Sleep thou, and I will wind thee in my arms.
Fairies, begone, and be all ways away.

55

Exeunt fairies

So doth the woodbine the sweet honeysuckle
Gently entwist; the female ivy so
Enrings the barky fingers of the elm.

60

O, how I love thee! how I dote on thee!

They sleep

5        Enter PUCK

OBERON

10        [Advancing] Welcome, good Robin.
See'st thou this sweet sight?
Her dotage now I do begin to pity,
For meeting her of late behind the wood,
Seeking sweet favours from this hateful fool,
15        I did upbraid her and fall out with her,
For she his hairy temples then had rounded
With a coronet of fresh and fragrant flowers;
And that same dew, which sometime on the buds
Was wont to swell like round and orient pearls,
20        Stood now within the pretty flowerets' eyes
Like tears that did their own disgrace bewail.
When I had at my pleasure taunted her
And she in mild terms begg'd my patience,
I then did ask of her her changeling child,
25        Which straight she gave me, and her fairy sent
To bear him to my bower in fairy land.
And now I have the boy, I will undo
This hateful imperfection of her eyes;
And, gentle Puck, take this transformed scalp
30        From off the head of this Athenian swain,
That, he awaking when the other do,
May all to Athens back again repair
And think no more of this night's accidents
But as the fierce vexation of a dream.
But first I will release the fairy queen.
35        Be as thou wast wont to be,
See as thou wast wont to see,
Dian's bud o'er Cupid's flower
Hath such force and blessed power.
Now, my Titania, wake you, my sweet queen.

40        TITANIA

My Oberon! What visions have I seen!
Methought I was enamour'd of an ass.

45        OBERON

There lies your love.

50        TITANIA

How came these things to pass?
O, how mine eyes do loathe his visage now!

55        OBERON

Silence awhile. Robin, take off this head.
Titania, music call, and strike more dead
Than common sleep of all these five the sense.

60        TITANIA

Music, ho! Music, such as charmeth sleep!

Music, still

PUCK

Now, when thou wakest, with thine own fool's eyes peep.

10 OBERON

Sound, music! Come, my queen, take hands with me,
And rock the ground whereon these sleepers be.
Now thou and I are new in amity,
And will to-morrow midnight solemnly
Dance in Duke Theseus' house triumphantly,
And bless it to all fair prosperity.
There shall the pairs of faithful lovers be Wedded, with Theseus, all in jollity.

PUCK

Fairy king, attend, and mark;
I do hear the morning lark.

25

OBERON

Then, my queen, in silence sad,
Trip we after the night's shade.
We the globe can compass soon,
Swifter than the wandering moon.

30

TITANIA

Come, my lord, and in our flight
Tell me how it came this night
That I sleeping here was found
With these mortals on the ground.

35

40

Exeunt

Horns winded within

Enter THESEUS, HIPPOLYTA, EGEUS, and train (Calling the lovers' names)

45

THESEUS

Go, one of you, find out the forester,
For now our observation is perform'd;
And since we have the vanguard of the day,
My love shall hear the music of my hounds.
Uncouple in the western valley; let them go:
Dispatch, I say, and find the forester.

50

55

Exit an Attendant

We will, fair queen, up to the mountain's top,
And mark the musical confusion
Of hounds and echo in conjunction.

60

HIPPOLYTA

I was with Hercules and Cadmus once,
When in a wood of Crete they bay'd the bear
With hounds of Sparta. Never did I hear
5 Such gallant chiding; for, besides the groves,
The skies, the fountains, every region near Seem'd all one mutual cry. I never heard
So musical a discord, such sweet thunder.

10 THESEUS

My hounds are bred out of the Spartan kind,
So flew'd, so sanded, and their heads are hung
With ears that sweep away the morning dew;
15 Crook-knee'd, and dew-lapp'd like Thessalian bulls;
Slow in pursuit, but match'd in mouth like bells,
Each under each. A cry more tuneable
Was never holla'd to, nor cheer'd with horn,
In Crete, in Sparta, nor in Thessaly.
20 Judge when you hear. But, soft! what nymphs are these?

EGEUS

My lord, this is my daughter here asleep,
25 And this, Lysander; this Demetrius is;
This Helena, old Nedar's Helena.
I wonder of their being here together.

THESEUS

30 No doubt they rose up early to observe
The rite of May, and hearing our intent,
Came here in grace of our solemnity.
But speak, Egeus; is not this the day
35 That Hermia should give answer of her choice?

EGEUS

40 It is, my lord.

THESEUS

Go, bid the huntsmen wake them with their horns.

45 Horns and shout within. LYSANDER, DEMETRIUS, HELENA, and HERMIA wake and start up

Good morrow, friends. Saint Valentine is past:
50 Begin these wood-birds but to couple now?

LYSANDER

Pardon, my lord.

55 THESEUS

I pray you all, stand up.
I know you two are rival enemies.
How comes this gentle concord in the world,
60 That hatred is so far from jealousy,
To sleep by hate, and fear no enmity?

LYSANDER

5 My lord, I shall reply amazedly,
Half sleep, half waking; but as yet, I swear,
I cannot truly say how I came here;
But, as I think,--for truly would I speak,
And now do I bethink me, so it is,--
10 I came with Hermia hither. Our intent
Was to be gone from Athens, where we might,
Without the peril of the Athenian law.

EGEUS

15 Enough, enough, my lord; you have enough.
I beg the law, the law, upon his head.
They would have stolen away; they would, Demetrius,
Thereby to have defeated you and me,
20 You of your wife and me of my consent,
Of my consent that she should be your wife.

DEMETRIUS

25 My lord, fair Helen told me of their stealth,
Of this their purpose hither to this wood;
And I in fury hither follow'd them,
Fair Helena in fancy following me.
But, my good lord, I wot not by what power,--
30 But by some power it is,--my love to Hermia,
Melted as the snow, seems to me now
As the remembrance of an idle gaud
Which in my childhood I did dote upon;
And all the faith, the virtue of my heart,
The object and the pleasure of mine eye,
35 Is only Helena. To her, my lord,
Was I betroth'd ere I saw Hermia.
But, like in sickness, did I loathe this food;
But, as in health, come to my natural taste.
Now I do wish it, love it, long for it,
40 And will for evermore be true to it.

THESEUS

45 Fair lovers, you are fortunately met.
Of this discourse we more will hear anon.
Egeus, I will overbear your will,
For in the temple by and by with us
These couples shall eternally be knit;
50 And, for the morning now is something worn,
Our purposed hunting shall be set aside.
Away with us to Athens; three and three,
We'll hold a feast in great solemnity.
Come, Hippolyta.

55 Exeunt THESEUS, HIPPOLYTA, EGEUS, and train

DEMETRIUS

60 These things seem small and undistinguishable,

HERMIA

Methinks I see these things with parted eye,
When every thing seems double.

5 HELENA

So methinks,
And I have found Demetrius like a jewel,
Mine own, and not mine own.

10

DEMETRIUS

Are you sure
That we are awake? It seems to me
That yet we sleep, we dream. Do not you think
The duke was here, and bid us follow him?

15

20

Yea, and my father.

HELENA

And Hippolyta.

25

LYSANDER

And he did bid us follow to the temple.

30

DEMETRIUS

Why, then, we are awake. Let's follow him
And by the way let us recount our dreams.

35

Exeunt

40

[Awaking] When my cue comes, call me, and I will answer. My next is, 'Most fair Pyramus.' Heigh-ho!
Peter Quince! Flute, the bellows-mender! Snout, the tinker! Starveling! God's my life, stolen hence, and left me asleep! I have had a most rare vision. I have had a dream, past the wit of man to say what dream it was. Man is but an ass, if he go about to expound this dream. Methought I was--there is no man can tell what. Methought I was,--and methought I had,--but man is but a patched fool, if he will offer to say what methought I had. The eye of man hath not heard, the ear of man hath not seen, man's hand is not able to taste, his tongue to conceive, nor his heart to report, what my dream was. I will get Peter Quince to write a ballad of this dream. It shall be called Bottom's Dream, because it hath no bottom; and I will sing it in the latter end of a play, before the duke; peradventure, to make it the more gracious, I shall sing it at her death.

45

50

55

60

Exit

SCENE II. Athens. QUINCE'S house.

Enter QUINCE, FLUTE, SNOUT, and STARVELING

5 QUINCE

Have you sent to Bottom's house? Is he come home yet?

10 STARVELING

He cannot be heard of. Out of doubt he is transported.

15 FLUTE

If he come not, then the play is marred. It goes not forward, doth it?

20 QUINCE

It is not possible. You have not a man in all Athens able to discharge Pyramus but he.

25 FLUTE

No, he hath simply the best wit of any handicraft man in Athens.

30 QUINCE

Yea and the best person too; and he is a very paramour for a sweet voice.

35 FLUTE

You must say 'paragon.' A paramour is, God bless us, a thing of naught.

40 Enter SNUG

SNUG

45 Masters, the duke is coming from the temple, and there is two or three lords and ladies more married. If our sport had gone forward, we had all been made men.

FLUTE

50 O sweet bully Bottom! Thus hath he lost sixpence a day during his life. He could not have 'scaped sixpence a day. An the duke had not given him sixpence a day for playing Pyramus, I'll be hanged. He would have deserved it. Sixpence a day in Pyramus, or nothing.

55

Enter BOTTOM

60 BOTTOM

Where are these lads? Where are these hearts?

QUINCE

Bottom! O most courageous day! O most happy hour!

BOTTOM

Masters, I am to discourse wonders; but ask me not what, for if I tell you, I am no true Athenian. I will tell you every thing, right as it fell out.

QUINCE

Let us hear, sweet Bottom.

BOTTOM

Not a word of me. All that I will tell you is, that the duke hath dined. Get your apparel together, good strings to your beards, new ribbons to your pumps. Meet presently at the palace. Every man look o'er his part, for the short and the long is, our play is preferred. In any case, let Thisby have clean linen, and let not him that plays the lion pair his nails, for they shall hang out for the lion's claws. And, most dear actors, eat no onions nor garlic, for we are to utter sweet breath; and I do not doubt but to hear them say, it is a sweet comedy. No more words. Away! Go, away!

Exeunt

ACT V

SCENE I. Athens. The palace of THESEUS.

Enter THESEUS, HIPPOLYTA, PHILOSTRATE, Lords and Attendants

HIPPOLYTA

'Tis strange my Theseus, that these lovers speak of.

THESEUS

More strange than true. I never may believe These antique fables, nor these fairy toys. Lovers and madmen have such seething brains, Such shaping fantasies, that apprehend More than cool reason ever comprehends. The lunatic, the lover and the poet Are of imagination all compact: One sees more devils than vast hell can hold, That is, the madman: the lover, all as frantic, Sees Helen's beauty in a brow of Egypt: The poet's eye, in fine frenzy rolling, Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven; And as imagination bodies forth The forms of things unknown, the poet's pen Turns them to shapes and gives to airy nothing A local habitation and a name. Such tricks hath strong imagination,

That if it would but apprehend some joy,
It comprehends some bringer of that joy;
Or in the night, imagining some fear,
How easy is a bush supposed a bear!

10
But all the story of the night told over,
And all their minds transfigured so together,
More witnesseth than fancy's images
And grows to something of great constancy;
But, howsoever, strange and admirable.

15
THESEUS

Here come the lovers, full of joy and mirth.

Enter LYSANDER, DEMETRIUS, HERMIA, and HELENA

20
Joy, gentle friends! joy and fresh days of love
Accompany your hearts!

25
Wait in your royal walks, your board, your bed!
More than to us

THESEUS

30
Come now; what masques, what dances shall we have,
To wear away this long age of three hours
Between our after-supper and bed-time?
Where is our usual manager of mirth?
35
What revels are in hand? Is there no play,
To ease the anguish of a torturing hour?
Call Philostrate.

PHILOSTRATE

40
Here, mighty Theseus.

THESEUS

45
Say, what abridgement have you for this evening?
What masque? what music? How shall we beguile
The lazy time, if not with some delight?

PHILOSTRATE

50
There is a brief how many sports are ripe:
Make choice of which your highness will see first.

Giving a paper

55

60
[Reads] 'The battle with the Centaurs, to be sung
By an Athenian eunuch to the harp.'
We'll none of that: that have I told my love,
In glory of my kinsman Hercules.

Reads

5 'The riot of the tipsy Bacchanals,
Tearing the Thracian singer in their rage.'
That is an old device; and it was play'd
When I from Thebes came last a conqueror.

Reads

10 'The thrice three Muses mourning for the death
Of Learning, late deceased in beggary.'
That is some satire, keen and critical,
Not sorting with a nuptial ceremony.

15 Reads

'A tedious brief scene of young Pyramus
And his love Thisbe; very tragical mirth.'
Merry and tragical! Tedious and brief!
20 That is, hot ice and wondrous strange snow.
How shall we find the concord of this discord?

PHILOSTRATE

25 A play there is, my lord, some ten words long,
Which is as brief as I have known a play;
But by ten words, my lord, it is too long,
Which makes it tedious; for in all the play
There is not one word apt, one player fitted.
30 And tragical, my noble lord, it is,
For Pyramus therein doth kill himself.
Which, when I saw rehearsed, I must confess,
Made mine eyes water, but more merry tears
The passion of loud laughter never shed.

35
THESEUS

What are they that do play it?

40 PHILOSTRATE

Hard-handed men that work in Athens here,
Which never labour'd in their minds till now,
45 And now have toil'd their unbreathed memories
With this same play, against your nuptial.

THESEUS

50 And we will hear it.

PHILOSTRATE

No, my noble lord;
It is not for you: I have heard it over,
55 And it is nothing, nothing in the world;
Unless you can find sport in their intents,
Extremely stretch'd and conn'd with cruel pain,
To do you service.

60 THESEUS

I will hear that play;
For never anything can be amiss,
When simpleness and duty tender it.
Go, bring them in; and take your places, ladies.

Exit PHILOSTRATE

HIPPOLYTA

10 I love not to see wretchedness o'er charged
And duty in his service perishing.

THESEUS

15 Why, gentle sweet, you shall see no such thing.

HIPPOLYTA

20 He says they can do nothing in this kind.

THESEUS

25 The kinder we, to give them thanks for nothing.
Our sport shall be to take what they mistake:
And what poor duty cannot do, noble respect
Takes it in might, not merit.
Where I have come, great clerks have purposed
To greet me with premeditated welcomes;
30 Where I have seen them shiver and look pale,
Make periods in the midst of sentences,
Throttle their practised accent in their fears
And in conclusion dumbly have broke off,
Not paying me a welcome. Trust me, sweet,
35 Out of this silence yet I pick'd a welcome;
And in the modesty of fearful duty
I read as much as from the rattling tongue
Of saucy and audacious eloquence.
Love, therefore, and tongue-tied simplicity
40 In least speak most, to my capacity.

Re-enter PHILOSTRATE

PHILOSTRATE

45 So please your grace, the Prologue is address'd.

THESEUS

50 Let him approach.

Flourish of trumpets

Enter QUINCE for the Prologue

55 Prologue

If we offend, it is with our good will.
That you should think, we come not to offend,
But with good will. To show our simple skill,
60 That is the true beginning of our end.
Consider then we come but in despite.

We do not come as minding to contest you,
Our true intent is. All for your delight
We are not here. That you should here repent you,
The actors are at hand and by their show
You shall know all that you are like to know.

THESEUS

This fellow doth not stand upon points.

LYSANDER

He hath rid his prologue like a rough colt; he knows not the stop. A good moral, my lord: it is not enough to speak, but to speak true.

HIPPOLYTA

Indeed he hath played on his prologue like a child on a recorder; a sound, but not in government.

THESEUS

His speech, was like a tangled chain; nothing impaired, but all disordered. Who is next?

Enter Pyramus and Thisbe, Wall, Moonshine, and Lion

Prologue

Gentles, perchance you wonder at this show;
But wonder on, till truth make all things plain.
This man is Pyramus, if you would know.
This beauteous lady Thisby is certain.
This man, with lime and rough-cast, doth present
Wall, that vile Wall which did these lovers sunder;
And through Wall's chink, poor souls, they are content
To whisper. At the which let no man wonder.
This man, with lanthorn, dog, and bush of thorn,
Presenteth Moonshine, for, if you will know,
By moonshine did these lovers think no scorn
To meet at Ninus' tomb, there, there to woo.
This grisly beast, which Lion hight by name,
The trusty Thisby, coming first by night,
Did scare away, or rather did affright;
And, as she fled, her mantle she did fall,
Which Lion vile with bloody mouth did stain.
Anon comes Pyramus, sweet youth and tall,
And finds his trusty Thisby's mantle slain,
Whereat, with blade, with bloody blameful blade,
He bravely broach'd his boiling bloody breast;
And Thisby, tarrying in mulberry shade,
His dagger drew, and died. For all the rest,
Let Lion, Moonshine, Wall, and lovers twain
At large discourse, while here they do remain.

Exeunt Prologue, Thisbe, Lion, and Moonshine

THESEUS

I wonder if the lion be to speak.

DEMETRIUS

5       No wonder, my lord: one lion may, when many asses do.
Wall

10       In this same interlude it doth befall
That I, one Snout by name, present a wall;
And such a wall, as I would have you think,
That had in it a crannied hole or chink,
Through which the lovers, Pyramus and Thisby,
Did whisper often very secretly.
15       This loam, this rough-cast and this stone doth show
That I am that same wall; the truth is so.
And this the cranny is, right and sinister,
Through which the fearful lovers are to whisper.

THESEUS

20       Would you desire lime and hair to speak better?

DEMETRIUS

25       It is the wittiest partition that ever I heard discourse, my lord.

Enter Pyramus

30       THESEUS

Pyramus draws near the wall. Silence!

Pyramus

35       O grim-look'd night! O night with hue so black!
O night, which ever art when day is not!
O night, O night! Alack, alack, alack,
I fear my Thisby's promise is forgot!
40       And thou, O wall, O sweet, O lovely wall,
That stand'st between her father's ground and mine!
Thou wall, O wall, O sweet and lovely wall,
Show me thy chink, to blink through with mine eyne!

45       Wall holds up his fingers

Thanks, courteous wall. Jove shield thee well for this!
But what see I? No Thisby do I see.
O wicked wall, through whom I see no bliss!
50       Cursed be thy stones for thus deceiving me!

THESEUS

55       The wall, methinks, being sensible, should curse again.
Pyramus

60       No, in truth, sir, he should not. 'Deceiving me' is Thisby's cue. She is to enter now, and I am to spy her through the wall. You shall see, it will fall pat as I told you. Yonder she comes.

Enter Thisbe

Thisbe

O wall, full often hast thou heard my moans,
For parting my fair Pyramus and me!
My cherry lips have often kiss'd thy stones,
Thy stones with lime and hair knit up in thee.

10

Pyramus

I see a voice. Now will I to the chink,
To spy an I can hear my Thisby's face. Thisby!

15

Thisbe

My love thou art, my love I think.

20

Pyramus

Think what thou wilt, I am thy lover's grace.
And, like Limander, am I trusty still.

Thisbe

And I like Helen, till the Fates me kill.

30

Pyramus

Not Shafalus to Procrus was so true.

Thisbe

35

As Shafalus to Procrus, I to you.

Pyramus

40

O kiss me through the hole of this vile wall!

Thisbe

I kiss the wall's hole, not your lips at all.

45

Pyramus

Wilt thou at Ninny's tomb meet me straightway?

Thisbe

50

'Tide life, 'tide death, I come without delay.

Exeunt Pyramus and Thisbe

55

Wall

Thus have I, Wall, my part discharged so;
And, being done, thus Wall away doth go.

60

Exit

THESEUS

Now is the mural down between the two neighbours.

5 DEMETRIUS

No remedy, my lord, when walls are so wilful to hear without warning.

10 HIPPOLYTA

This is the silliest stuff that ever I heard.

15

The best in this kind are but shadows, and the worst are no worse, if imagination amend them.

20

It must be your imagination then, and not theirs.

25

If we imagine no worse of them than they of themselves, they may pass for excellent men. Here come two noble beasts in, a man and a lion.

Enter Lion and Moonshine

30

Lion

35

You, ladies, you, whose gentle hearts do fear
The smallest monstrous mouse that creeps on floor,
May now perchance both quake and tremble here,
When lion rough in wildest rage doth roar.
Then know that I, one Snug the joiner, am
A lion-fell, nor else no lion's dam;
For, if I should as lion come in strife
40 Into this place, 'twere pity on my life.

THESEUS

45

A very gentle beast, of a good conscience.

DEMETRIUS

The very best at a beast, my lord, that e'er I saw.

50

LYSANDER

This lion is a very fox for his valour.

THESEUS

55

True, and a goose for his discretion.

DEMETRIUS

60

Not so, my lord, for his valour cannot carry his Discretion, and the fox carries the goose.

THESEUS

5        His discretion, I am sure, cannot carry his valour; for the goose carries not the fox. It is well.
      leave it to his discretion, and let us listen to the moon.

Moonshine

10        This lanthorn doth the horned moon present;--

DEMETRIUS

15        He should have worn the horns on his head.

THESEUS

20        He is no crescent, and his horns are invisible within the circumference.

Moonshine

25        This lanthorn doth the horned moon present;
      Myself the man i' the moon do seem to be.

THESEUS

30        This is the greatest error of all the rest: the man should be put into the lanthorn. How is it else the man i' the moon?

DEMETRIUS

35        He dares not come there for the candle. for, you see, it is already in snuff.

HIPPOLYTA

40        I am aweary of this moon. Would he would change!

THESEUS

45        It appears, by his small light of discretion, that he is in the wane; but yet, in courtesy, in all reason, we must stay the time.

LYSANDER

50        Proceed, Moon.

Moonshine

55        All that I have to say, is, to tell you that the lanthorn is the moon, I, the man in the moon, this thorn-bush, my thorn-bush, and this dog, my dog.

DEMETRIUS

60        Why, all these should be in the lanthorn, for all these are in the moon. But silence! Here comes Thisbe.

Enter Thisbe

Thisbe

5        This is old Ninny's tomb. Where is my love?

Lion

10        [Roaring] Oh--

Thisbe runs off

DEMETRIUS

15        Well roared, Lion.

THESEUS

20        Well run, Thisbe.

HIPPOLYTA

25        Well shone, Moon. Truly, the moon shines with a good grace.

The Lion shakes Thisbe's mantle, and exits

THESEUS

30        Well moused, Lion.

LYSANDER

35        And so the lion vanished.

DEMETRIUS

And then came Pyramus.

40        Enter Pyramus

Pyramus

45        Sweet Moon, I thank thee for thy sunny beams.
         I thank thee, Moon, for shining now so bright;
         For, by thy gracious, golden, glittering gleams,
         I trust to take of truest Thisby sight.
         But stay, O spite!
         But mark, poor knight,
50        What dreadful dole is here!
         Eyes, do you see?
         How can it be?
         O dainty duck! O dear!
         Thy mantle good,
55        What, stain'd with blood!
         Approach, ye Furies fell!
         O Fates, come, come,
         Cut thread and thrum;
         Quail, crush, conclude, and quell!

60        THESEUS

This passion, and the death of a dear friend, would go near to make a man look sad.

5 HIPPOLYTA

Beshrew my heart, but I pity the man.

Pyramus

10

O wherefore, Nature, didst thou lions frame,
Since lion vile hath here deflower'd my dear?
Which is--no, no--which was the fairest dame
That lived, that loved, that liked, that look'd 15 with cheer.

Come, tears, confound;
Out, sword, and wound
The pap of Pyramus.
Ay, that left pap,
20 Where heart doth hop.

Stabs himself

25

Thus die I, thus, thus, thus.
Now am I dead,
Now am I fled,
My soul is in the sky.
Tongue, lose thy light;
Moon take thy flight.

30

Exit Moonshine

Now die, die, die, die, die.

35

Dies

DEMETRIUS

40

No die, but an ace, for him; for he is but one.

LYSANDER

Less than an ace, man; for he is dead; he is nothing.

45

THESEUS

With the help of a surgeon he might yet recover, and prove an ass.

50

HIPPOLYTA

How chance Moonshine is gone before Thisbe comes back and finds her lover?

55

THESEUS

She will find him by starlight. Here she comes, and her passion ends the play.

60

Re-enter Thisbe

HIPPOLYTA

Methinks she should not use a long one for such a Pyramus. I hope she will be brief.

DEMETRIUS

A mote will turn the balance, which Pyramus, which Thisbe, is the better; he for a man, God warrant us;
she for a woman, God bless us.

LYSANDER

She hath spied him already with those sweet eyes.

DEMETRIUS

And thus she means, videlicet:--

Thisbe

Asleep, my love?
What, dead, my dove?
O Pyramus, arise!
Speak, speak. Quite dumb?
Dead, dead? A tomb
Must cover thy sweet eyes.
These My lips,
This cherry nose,
These yellow cowslip cheeks,
Are gone, are gone.
Lovers, make moan.
His eyes were green as leeks.
O Sisters Three,
Come, come to me,
With hands as pale as milk;
Lay them in gore,
Since you have shore
With shears his thread of silk.
Tongue, not a word.
Come, trusty sword,
Come, blade, my breast imbrue.

Stabs herself

And, farewell, friends,
Thus Thisby ends.
Adieu, adieu, adieu.

Dies

Moonshine and Lion are left to bury the dead.

DEMETRIUS

Ay, and Wall too.

BOTTOM

[Starting up] No assure you; the wall is down that parted their fathers. Will it please you to see the epilogue, or to hear a Bergomask dance between two of our company?

THESEUS

No epilogue, I pray you, for your play needs no excuse. Never excuse, for when the players are all dead, there needs none to be blamed. Marry, if he that writ it had played Pyramus and hanged himself in Thisbe's garter, it would have been a fine tragedy. And so it is, truly, and very notably discharged. But come, your Bergomask. Let your epilogue alone.

A dance

The iron tongue of midnight hath told twelve:
Lovers, to bed; 'tis almost fairy time.
I fear we shall out-sleep the coming morn
As much as we this night have overwatch'd.
This palpable-gross play hath well beguiled
The heavy gait of night. Sweet friends, to bed.
A fortnight hold we this solemnity,
In nightly revels and new jollity.

Exeunt

Enter PUCK

PUCK

Now the hungry lion roars,
And the wolf behowls the moon;
Whilst the heavy ploughman snores,
All with weary task fordone.
Now the wasted brands do glow,
Whilst the screech-owl, screeching loud,
Puts the wretch that lies in woe
In remembrance of a shroud.
Now it is the time of night
That the graves all gaping wide,
Every one lets forth his sprite,
In the church-way paths to glide;
And we fairies, that do run
By the triple Hecate's team,
From the presence of the sun,
Following darkness like a dream,
Now are frolic. Not a mouse
Shall disturb this hallow'd house.
I am sent with broom before,
To sweep the dust behind the door.

Enter OBERON and TITANIA with their train

OBERON

Through the house give gathering light.
By the dead and drowsy fire
Every elf and fairy sprite

Hop as light as bird from brier;
And this ditty, after me,
Sing, and dance it trippingly.

5 TITANIA

First, rehearse your song by rote
To each word a warbling note.
Hand in hand, with fairy grace,
10 Will we sing, and bless this place.

Oberon, Titania, and the Fairies sing and dance (?)

OBERON

15 Now, until the break of day,
Through this house each fairy stray.
To the best bride-bed will we,
Which by us shall blessed be;
20 And the issue there create
Ever shall be fortunate.
So shall all the couples three Ever true in loving be;
And the blots of Nature's hand
25 Shall not in their issue stand;
Never mole, hare lip, nor scar,
Nor mark prodigious, such as are Despised in nativity,
Shall upon their children be.
30 With this field-dew consecrate,
Every fairy take his gait;
And each several chamber bless,
Through this palace, with sweet peace;
And the owner of it blest
35 Ever shall in safety rest.
Trip away; make no stay;
Meet me all by break of day.

Exeunt OBERON, TITANIA, and train

40

PUCK

If we shadows have offended,
Think but this, and all is mended,
45 That you have but slumber'd here
While these visions did appear.
And this weak and idle theme,
No more yielding but a dream,
Gentles, do not reprehend:
50 if you pardon, we will mend:
And, as I am an honest Puck,
If we have unearned luck
Now to 'scape the serpent's tongue,
We will make amends ere long;
55 Else the Puck a liar call;
So, good night unto you all.
Give me your hands, if we be friends,
And Robin shall restore amends.
