MURDER, SHE WROTE

By Steve Bakke  August 27, 2019

The 2014 Ferguson, Missouri fatal shooting of Michael Brown will apparently be with us forever. Two 2020 presidential candidates recalled the shooting in recent written comments. Senator Elizabeth Warren wrote "...a man [Michael Brown] was shot, an unarmed man, in the middle of the street, by police officers and left to die...Michael Brown was murdered by a white police officer..." Senator Kamala Harris wrote: "Michael Brown's murder forever changed Ferguson and America." Other candidates joined in with provocative statements.

The Justice Department's report stated "[Officer] Wilson's account was consistent with those results [autopsy, DNA, and ballistics results], and consistent with the accounts of other independent eyewitnesses. Wilson's statements were consistent with each other in all material ways." The report concludes: "There is no credible evidence to refute Wilson's...belief that he was acting in self-defense... [The] perception of threat posed by Brown is corroborated by other credible eyewitness accounts."

Read information from the police report, witness interviews, and Obama's Justice Department investigative report. I did. These women are lying. There's no other conclusion possible. It's time perpetuating this lie be stopped. At least these presidential "wannabees" should be called to task by the media for making these fictitious and inflammatory assertions.
