

THE WORLD AWAITS

While stores have begun their commercial thrust toward Christmas, I want personally to wait to “celebrate” Christmas until, well,... it is Christmas. Yet as a church musician, I have nearly completed planning for our congregation’s coming worship travel through Advent toward Christmas Eve.

Although our musicians began rehearsal on October 3, I hope there might still be others who’ll be interested in joining our special preparations for Sunday morning, December 16. We don’t look for a lifetime choir commitment; we’d just like to enable all who might be interested to share with us in presenting this season’s rewarding music.

I will welcome your showing up on a coming Wednesday evening at 6:30 or your contacting me for more information. Come share the joy.
