

Jamee Wallace

Born and raised in North Carolina, Jamee Wallace is a dedicated professional with over a decade of experience in healthcare IT project management. After earning a B.S. in Accounting from North Carolina A&T State University in 2012, Jamee began her career in finance before transitioning to the healthcare IT sector.

For the past 11 years, she has successfully managed federal electronic health record modernization projects for the Department of Defense and the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Previously based in Kansas City, MO, Jamee relocated to Cary, NC, in 2022, bringing a wealth of expertise in both the healthcare and IT industries. Passionate about making a positive impact, she is an advocate for healthcare continuity and enjoys educating others on its importance. Early childhood intervention and prevention are especially important to Jamee, as she believes that providing children with the right support during their formative years is crucial for long-term health and success. This belief led her to join the Project Enlightenment Foundation Board, where she is committed to supporting early childhood education and promoting programs that provide at-risk children with the resources they need to thrive.

Outside of work, Jamee is a proud mother to her 2-year-old son, Preston, and an active volunteer committed to community involvement and supporting causes that matter. A self-described sports enthusiast, Jamee enjoys playing tennis, cheering for her favorite athletes like Coco Gauff and Aryna Sabalenka, and following a wide range of sports, with a particular passion for football, women's basketball, and tennis. She is also an avid Kansas City Chiefs fan.

Jamee joined the Foundation Board in October 2024.
