A historical tradition of high quality coffins and caskets

Quality Craftsmanship Since 1878

Though customs have changed since this business was founded in 1878, one thing has remained constant - a strict adherence to our policy of quality.

To ensure this, men of many years experience in cabinet making and wood finishing, hand build each coffin and casket and bring out the grain, so producing a luxurious finish that bespeaks of high quality.

The beauty of the memory picture is further enhanced by the rich interior materials, in colourings that reflect natural tints. These are harmoniously blended to create a completely satisfying ensemble.

In every detail from the treatment of the fine timbers and the selected fabrics, to the perfection of finish and needlework, the Cartmell & Barlow coffins and caskets truly serve their purpose in providing ultimate beauty and in creating goodwill for the funeral director, by enabling them to supply a coffin or casket that enhances their reputation.

Our exclusive range of coffins and caskets are only available through your chosen funeral director.
