Hassle Free Fire Protection Installation

Do you experience:

- Your Fire/Security vendor lacking in full knowledge of codes?
- Undependable, Unreliable installers?
- Under performance and holding up other trades?
- Missed sign-off deadlines?
- Poor Workmanship?

Whether you are a contractor, owner, or tenant, Secure4 can help you with your fire and security needs. If you need a partner and a trusted advisor, Secure4 is the company for you. A consultative approach and an open ear set Secure4 apart from other fire and security vendors. They take the time to make sure you truly understand their tailored plans and ideas about the job by providing the exact reference to back up their recommendations.

Secure4 has been in business since 1992, working with contractors on new installations and retrofits. Full electrical contracting services are provided, and Secure4 will help bridge the relationship with the owner or end user to ensure the future needs of the property are met.

Your job is to bring all the puzzle pieces together in creating a new property, or to make the best improvements to an existing property. You are expected to provide a solution that is easy, fast, and cost effective - for everyone.

Look no further!

Secure4 will provide services to fit your exact needs, whether that includes running conduit, providing electrical services, or consulting on best practices based on current trends and code.

Secure4 is different from all the other vendors out there:

- Secure4 truly cares about what they are providing, and how they are providing it, and will give up services and income, if necessary, to advise a contractor or owner about any pitfalls when it means the property or its occupants will be compromised.
- The goals of Secure4 include long term relationships with contractors and end users. Ideally, the on-going maintenance, testing, monitoring and repair services of the property will be done by Secure4 – and who better to service these systems than the original installer? And, because of this..
- Secure4 gets the job done right the FIRST TIME, leaving minimal change orders, almost non-existent false alarms, and peace of mind.
- You need a vendor that will listen, communicate and partner with you to make sure the entire scope of work is completed on time and under budget. You have found it in Secure4!

“These guys are like family! Doug really knows how to get it done, his guys are professional, they work fast and are available when I need help, even if it’s after-hours or on the weekend! I will definitely refer Secure4 to anyone in this business!”

“I really expected a fly-by-night company, but Doug and Secure4 were there through the process, responded immediately when an urgent situation came up, handled it seamlessly and they are still in the building, working with the tenant, who I know is happy with them as well.”

“I’m a contractor and I need a company to help advise how best to install a fire alarm or security system, and what to avoid. Doug was that guy. I felt like we had the same vision, and that I could count on him like family. Will definitely bring him to my next job!”

“Wow! These guys know how to hide cables! I have run a million wires and I learned something new.”
