

YOU ARE INVITED

University of Colorado Denver

 CU IN THE CITY

You are invited...to take the lead.

The University of Colorado seal features a torch and a Greek phrase that reads “Let Your Light Shine.” Inspired by these words and all that the university stands for, we are inviting select members of the CU Denver community to join an influential group of leadership donors.

We invite you to join the Torchbearers and let your CU Denver light shine.

<<NAME>>, you are invited...to change lives.

Torchbearers lead by supporting big ideas at CU Denver—ideas that transform lives.

These visionaries of CU Denver let the true light of their generosity shine by making the future brighter for Colorado, for the world, and for generations of CU Denver students to come. Torchbearers demonstrate their commitment to the university’s founding ideals by making gifts of $1,000 or more every year.

We invite you to join this select group with an annual gift of $ <ASK AMT>>.

<<NAME>>, the CU Denver family is counting on you. Your increased gift shows that you believe that every hard-working student who wants to earn a CU Denver degree can afford to do so.

Three of every four students receive financial aid to offset the cost of tuition, fees, materials and living expenses. Your increased gift will let them concentrate on their education, their careers, and giving back to the Denver community.

Thank you for changing lives.

You are a powerful person, once you realize it. I will use the knowledge I gain to help others.”

Aimerance Kwihangana '19
Double major in International Business and Finance
Scholarship recipient

Genocide forced Aimerance and her family to flee their native home in Rwanda. Thirteen years in a Tanzanian refugee camp only sparked her determination to be a catalyst for change. Today, she is establishing a non-profit called “Burundi’s Youth of Tomorrow,” to provide educational resources to schools in one of the world’s poorest countries.

“When you first move out on your own, it’s great to have someone say ‘I believe in you.’”

Ricky Lippincott '21
Biology major
Scholarship recipient

Ricky graduated high school as an EMT, planning to work to help pay for his family’s mounting medical expenses. Because of CU Denver and scholarship support from donors like you, he’s a pre-med student, planning to become a cardiothoracic surgeon.

You are invited... to increase your impact.

As a leadership donor, you may choose to give to whatever school, college, or program is most meaningful to you. You might designate your gift towards the university's greatest needs, like scholarships for students such as Aimerance and Ricky, or help fund a program that shows promise and inspires you. No matter how you choose to support CU Denver, your gift will have a lasting impact — throughout Colorado and the world.

Thank you for increasing your impact.

If you have any questions, please contact:

Dan Gould

Executive Director of Alumni Relations and Annual Giving

303-315-0038

dan.gould@ucdenver.edu

giving.cu.edu/denvertorchbearers

University of Colorado Denver

 CU IN THE CITY