

Minnesota Music Hall of Fame Inductee

Monroe Crossing

Inducted in 2007

Named in the honor of Bill Monroe, “The Father of Bluegrass” Monroe Crossing is a upbeat blend of classic and traditional bluegrass.

The group plays more than 125 shows a year and have released seven albums and won the Minnesota Music Academy “Bluegrass Album of the Year” in 2003. The group also took home awards for Best Female Vocalists, Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo at the Minnesota Bluegrass and Old-Time Music Association’s Anniversary banquet.

Although each member comes from a unique musical background, they combine their talents to entertain with a style that leaves audiences asking for more.
