

Pittsburgh Mayor William (Bill) Peduto has been recognized as a leader in developing a comprehensive plan to build protected bike lanes in the city of Pittsburgh. This recently developed policy/plan will enable the people of Pittsburgh to bike to work – and elsewhere – in a stress free and safe environment. The Mayor’s office has been proactive in involving the public in the protected bike network in Pittsburgh, PA to ensure its effective implementation. Even though there are significant challenges to implementing this plan in the city of Pittsburgh, the Mayor’s office did not let these challenges stop the development of this innovative physical activity policy. For more information, see: <http://www.peopleforbikes.org/blog/entry/video-how-pittsburgh-became-a-national-model-for-rapid-bikeway-progress>