A/V Solutions, LLC, a company based in Adams County, PA, has deep roots in the Audio/ Visual world. On July 13, 1951, William Lerew opened Biglerville Television Co., a TV sales and repair service shop, on Main Street in Biglerville, PA. The store became a family affair, William's son Kenneth Lerew Sr. and even grandson Jamey Lerew helped out in the store.

In the 1960's, William branched out and began doing sound reinforcement for local fire departments as well as public address systems for high school football games. He would provide amplification and speakers to these venues. A/V Solutions still uses some of the same horns when they supply sound for the commemorative Gettysburg Reenactment held every year in July.

In 1986, the TV sales and repair shop was passed on to William's son Kenneth Lerew Sr. who continued with the business until 1994. At that time, TV sales at the store dropped off when big department stores moved in to the area. But, Kenneth's son Jamey continued the legacy with PA systems service. He would provide sound at local events such as the Apple Blossom Festival and the South Mountain Fair held every year in Adams County. Jamey then began to supply sound to the local Apple Harvest Festival held every fall. Jamey continues to provide sound to these events to this day.

In 2000, Jamey realized the need for a local, professional Audio/Visual company. In 2003, with his wife and business manager, Cathleen, by his side, Jamey's vision became a reality and A/V Solutions, LLC was born. A/V Solutions, LLC has reached and surpassed a milestone of over 10 years in business and is going strong. The company has grown to a full team including a business manager, office manager, marketing assistant, and technician team. The company is Christian oriented and family strong. A/V Solutions, LLC, proudly provides professional audio/visual solutions to include, design, installation, and rentals. Just as Jamey started his passion with AV as a child helping out in his grandfather's shop on Main Street, Jamey's kids have followed suit. Although young, with their strong AV heritage, they are poised to take the business into the fourth generation.
