

Great points to becoming an Interfaith Minister at Word of Honor .Org

First look to see that you're valuing the truth beauty and goodness of all People's religions. That value is based on purity in desires and love for all honest standards, good morals, sensible ethics, reasonable and imaginative ideals, good traditional principles, loving tenets, sensible beliefs that reflect the Mind of and Will of our Creator.

Second: Be your self and know that all is not well in all religions yet how can we see through the nonsense, violent ambitions, wayward over controls that are in aberrations or defective lies? Do we perceive the precious elements of true religions? That is your journey, your wisdom based on prayer, love and respect for all life. The ability to see yesterday and to perceive tomorrow so to go forward today!

Third: Are we sincerely seeking on a daily basis to grow into the image and likeness of the full potential of a Child of that Mind that created us?

Fourth: Do we search the living scriptures and live the life of love for our Maker? Do we have spiritual vision to do justice to the thoughts of living a quality life? Do we find a spiritual science to the relationships of love. Is the time we spend daily reflect a reasonable bond with our Creator, with ourselves, with our family and Friends, Associates and new acquaintances?

Fifth: Are we demonstrating the spirit of courage and intuition in our dealings with the troubles of the world? Are we tactful, keen and sensitive about marriage life and social living ? Will we be clear on how to perform ceremonies of all sort?

Sixth: Will we continue to study, ponder and create after we are ordained? Will we always be respectful of others? People that are so different than we are yet are evidently non violent?

Seventh: To boldly go and live as never before, to be humble and unaffected by vainglory or the limelight, to be complex and simple in a harmonious circle that is perfectly balanced and poised.
