

Amy Wallish is the Founder and CEO of Full Circle Employment Solutions. She founded Full Circle in 2010 which has grown to become a leading provider of benefits counseling and employment services for people with disabilities across the country. Prior to starting Full Circle, Amy was a stay at home mom, adult student and owner of two other businesses managing and rehabbing rental properties in Michigan.

Amy is passionate about helping people achieve their dreams and encouraging people to step outside the box to get there. Amy has 20+ years of experience working with people with differing abilities and socio-economic backgrounds. She is a subject matter expert on Social Security work incentives and the Ticket to Work program. She has trained across the country on Social Security benefits, Ticket to Work and asset development. She obtained a B.A. in Psychology from Calvin College in her native Grand Rapids, MI and a MBA from Washington Adventist University in Takoma Park, MD.
