Worship next Sunday

Our church buildings are closed for (at least) two weeks, but we are still the Body of Christ, and we will be gathering in spirit and over the phone and internet to worship.

We are not making plans very far into the future, because circumstances are changing quickly, but here's what we're doing this Sunday, March 15:

At 11:15 am, if you have an internet connection, point it to www.cathedral.org and watch the special Cathedral worship service with the Presiding Bishop.

Then, at 8pm, join our Durham Church Compline service, which will be conducted over "Zoom." You can join this service on a plain old telephone (even a land line) or through a browser or phone connection on any internet device (smart phone, laptop, tablet).

To join the "meeting" (our Compline service), you can point your browser to

<https://zoom.us/j/2917406801>

or you can dial 646 558 8656 on your phone and then punch in the "meeting ID" which is 291 740 6801

If you have a Book of Common Prayer handy, you'll be able to follow along for Compline. Otherwise, you may just want to relax and listen. The service will offer an opportunity to share prayer intentions, joys, and concerns with one another.

In addition to our Zoom worship, we will be offering services 'Live' on Facebook in the coming days.
