Attorney Howell Offers Advice to Law Studies

Posted on 21 November 2014.

Corporate bankruptcy attorney Evan Howell addressed students in Law Studies II (Free Enterprise) about ethics. The cases he deals with, said Howell, result from corporate people placing greed, power, and pride over doing things the right way. He encouraged students to do well at whatever they do, to find a career that suits their personality and talents, and always to act in an ethical manner. Mr. Howell was presented with a thank-you gift from Rummel to commemorate the friendly rivalry he had as a Blue Jay basketball player in the late 1970's and 1980, competing against Archbishop Rummel's state-championship team.
